A very shocking case of criminal assault upon two little girls by Christopher Burger, a boy of fifteen years of age was tried before C. E. Bourne, J. P., who committed the boy to goal at Cayuga. On Saturday afternoon, Mr. William Montgomery, aged 70 years, a bachelor, was found lying dead in a field near Nixon, underneath a mower which he had been driving. The body was mangled. The Bishop of Niagara at St. Paul's Church

The first visit of the Newly-Consecrated Bishop of Niagara to Jarvis was made on Sunday last. He and Mrs. Clark arrived on Saturday evening and were entertained at the rectory where a reception was given them. The members of the Congregation were very glad to meet their new Diocesan who, on his part, rejoiced at the opportunity of becoming acquainted with his people. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social evening spent. Towards the close of the reception Dr. Lewis, on behalf of the Congregation, read the following address to his lordship:

To the Rt. Rev'd. William Reid, by Divine permission, Bishop of Niagara.

Rt. Rev'd. Father in God.

On the occasion of this your first visit to this parish as Bishop, we, the members of St. Paul's church Jarvis, desire to welcome you and Mrs. Clark.

We pray that God's richest blessing may rest upon your labours in the vineyard of this Diocese, and that many years of health and strength may be given you for His service.

Assuring your lordship of our deep respect for person and office, and of our loyalty to the church, we beg you to believe that our highest desire is to be found faithful servants under your lordship's leadership, in the Earthly Kingdom of our Lord and Master. Signed on behalf of the Congregation

T. H. Lewis A. J. Belt, M. A. William Sowster Rector Warden.

On Sunday morning Bishop Clark administered the Rite of Confirmation to a class of 7 adults who were presented by Canon Belt. The Bishop's address was very appropriate and was much enjoyed. He urged the twofold aspect of Confirmation in Manward towards God in the renewal of the Baptismal vows and the open Confession of Christ and Godward towards man in the strengthening gifts of the Holy Spirit, the Hand of the Almighty held out to help.

In the evening, owing to the excessive heat, the service was held on the church lawn to which the organ and furniture of the Sunday School had been removed. This was a pleasant innovation. His lordship preached an able and instructive sermon on P.S. 122, 1. "I was glad when they said unto me, we will go into the House of the Lord." The general theme was the gladness and joy of God's service which is especially realized on a return from wandering or unbelief, and also in sickness and affliction. The Bishop also emphasized strongly the duty of worship, and the proper observance of the Lords' Day. His lordship and Mrs. Clark returned to Hamilton by the Monday morning train.

R. F. Miller was Nominated

Cayuga, July 5.—A liberal convention was held here to-day to select a candidate to contest Haldimand in the coming election. Nominations were handed in for Mr. R. F. Miller, two for Jacob Kohler, M. P. P., and one for Lieut-Col Thompson. Mr. Kohler and Lieut-Col Thompson withdrew. Mr. Miller was made the unanimous nominee of the convention by a standing vote, and was given two weeks to consider his answer. His nomination was received with rousing cheers. Motions of confidence in the Liberal Government on reciprocity and a vote of thanks to Hon McKenzie King for his magnificent address were moved and after cheers had been given for the other gentlemen proposed as candidates the meeting closed with rousing cheers for the King.

Hon. McKenzie King addressed the electors of Haldimand on reciprocity at the Court House this afternoon. He spoke for an hour, and held the meeting without interruption, save for the sustained applause. The crowd was large, despite the heat, and keen to hear the speaker. The meeting was presided over by Er. Harrison of Selkirk, a companion and intimate friend of William L. Mackenzie, grandfather of the speaker.

In beginning his speech Mr. King said it gave him unbounded pleasure and an esteemed it an honor to be on the platform with a friend of his grandfather, and one who had assisted in the political battles of sixty years ago in Haldimand. Mr. King first pointed out the gas tax, Canada's from reciprocity in business. The pockets of all out a new effort for the better, and there would be also national gain in freedom of action and self government in commercial matters. He said the bill was being opposed by those who were raising the tariff wall for their own selfish ends, and whose cry was disloyalty to Britain. While he held that the friendly relations with the motherland would be cemented by tearing down that wall, he pointed out two views of the question, the national and local, one depending on the other, and showed how prosperity was produced by the application of labor to the natural resources.

He said there were at the present day too much party politics and too little national politics. The question, he held was momentous. Some years ago the United States stood where Canada did to-day. Now their resources were depleted and their needs increased. They now desire the removal of the tariff. If Sir Wilfrid Laurier had refused to have met have met his refusal, and Conservatives would have seized reciprocity as their standard in five minutes, and if an election is forced on this issue, as the Liberal party do not deem it necessary, he felt the people should view the question in the light of the greatest benefit to the community at large. Common sense and logic both decreed that Canadians must consider one another. The question was vital to the nation's welfare, and if not seized now might not be repeated, but would pass on to other countries. If the United States could not get the wall removed they could get better from Denmark and open their doors to the Argentine republic and other countries.

One of the gravest questions Canada had to face was to-day was the combines and mergers, where insidiously gaining ground, to hold down the welfare of the consumers. There policy was to keep down the producer and keep up the price to the consumer. The only other party he would care to touch, he said, was the annexation cry, but he would leave it for the meeting at Selkirk in the evening.

Amid cries of "go on", he said the present fight was the greatest since Confederation and as Haldimand county always rang true, he felt the time had come to redeem the constituency for the Liberal party.

Mr. R. F. Miller, Rainham Centre, spoke briefly, emphasizing the point that the time had come to win back Haldimand to the Liberal party.

Lieut.-Col Thompson delivered a short but able address, and Jacob Kohler, M. P. P., also made a few remarks.
