THE BANGOR ELMS. Over eighty magnificent eim srees were sacrificed in the recent Bangor fire. Only such trees as were entirely girdled by the fire and of which there can be no possible hope of saving are being taken down. Others where the trees have budded or there is enough bark left to allow the circulation of the sap are to remain until it is definitely known whether or not they will survive the damages of the flames.

The loss to the city in its splendid shade trees cannot be estimated in money, and it will be years before some of them are replaced. The park commissioners plan to set out trees to replace the loss whenever an appropriation is available for such purposes. Some of the wood from the trees is being sold and the money devoted to the use of the park commission in carrying on its work.—Lewiston Journal.

WONDERFUL HENS.

An American, spending his holidays in County Roscommon, Ireland, fell into conversation with a native, who was feeding his hens.

"I guess, Pat, you haven't as good hens here as we have in the States." "Perhaps not," said Pat.

"I'll teil you," said the Yankee, "about s hen my mother had. She went out one day and ate a feed of corn, and returned and laid twelve eggs. She went out the next day and ate a feed of corn, and laid twelve more eggs. She went out the third day and returned and laid twelve more eggs. She went out on the fourth day and hatched seventy-two chicks out of thirty-six eggs. Now, that is the kind of hen we have in the States." "Well," said Pat, "I'll tell you about a half blind hen my mother had. She ate a feed of sawdust, thinking it was oatmeal. She went to her nest and laid a plank twelve feet long. She ate more sawdust the next day, and again laid a plank twelve feet long. Again, on the third day, she ate more sawdust, and laid another twelve-foot plank. She sat on the three planks and hatched three kitchen chairs, a sofa, one table, and a mahogany chest of drawers. Now," said Pas, with a twinkle in his eye, "that is the kind of hens we have in Brockville, Ont. Roseommon."

A LINK WITH BURNS.

The death has occurred in Dumfries a granddaughter of the poet, Robert Burns, Mr. Brown, who was in his eighty-ninth year, was for many years associated with the tweed trade. For twenty years thereafter he was church officer of Greyfriars Parish Church, and for several years was custodian of the house in Burns street, Dumfries, where the poet died.

Mr. Brown married Jane Emma Burns, daughter of the eldest son of the national bard, and his daughter, Miss Jeannie Armour Burns Brown, presents a strong resemblance to the Nasmyth portrait of the poet.-London Globe.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W., 8, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child; the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

WINDOW DRESSING

A Visitor Observes and Comm the Displays of Small Stores. "In no city in the country are store windows dressed so tastefully as in this town," said the visitor. "The large stores go in for it on a magnificent scale, and undoubtedly employ high-priced window dressers, but owners of the smaller stores take great pains to decorate their window space in becoming fashion.

"I saw an instanct of this the other day. It was in a downtown street after business hours. A new dress was being fitted to the window of a sporting goods

"The man who was doing the job had strung a line of golf bags across the window. In order that there should be no deviation in the distance between the bags he used a foot rule to measure the distance between them. Of course that made proper alignment.

SIZE OF THE FEET.

Paris just now is having a wave of in terest in human feet. Two scientists, Marie and MavAuliffe, recently advanced the observation that the sanest type of men had the biggest feet, while the sanest type of women had the smallest feet. Which has started the boulevard iers to scanning the feet of pedestrians.

Out of 100 normal men these scientists have asserted that only 18 have small feet, while of 100 insane men only 24 have large feet. These proportions for women are almost exactly the reverse. Out of 100 sane women only 23 have large feet, while of 100 insane women 18 have small feet. On the male side of the proposition the American-long having looked upon Lincoln as one of the sanest. sagest of American statesmen-probably will agree with the French scientists .-From the Chicago Tribune.

MARRIAGE LAWS.

(Montreal Gazette.)
Mr. Justice Riddell, speaking at Toronto on the marriage question as recent events have brought it to the fore, pointed out that no church has any right to say that a marriage celebrated according to the law is not valid; no church can change the law; a marriage is valid or invalid, not because the church says so, but because the law says so. Keeping thiz in memory should prevent some errors by those who discuss the issue. A marriage was recently annuled in this Province because the law of Quebec says that marriages contracted in defiance of church regulations shall be null. The Legislature made the law that recognized exclaimatical impediments to marriage; and the Legislature can change it. (Montreal Gazette.)

BIBLE FOR CHINESE EMPERCH The Chinese Christians, about a dozen years ago presented the Dowager Empress with a magnificent copy of the Scriptures translated into Chinese. It was a fine example of modern penmanship, the writing being on silk, and the covers of the Bible being of silver. The gift was graciously received and her Majesty read the book. This excited the Emperor's curiosity and he ordered one of the eunuchs to obtain for him a copy of the New Testament. The books formed a part of the loot of the Forbidden city in 1900. The Emperor was a close student of the Testament, which was freely annotated by him. The Bible was found in the Empress's chamber, and the Testament in the Emperor's study. The future ruler has been presented with another and less pretentious copy, but this has cost £800. The regent, in accepting the gift at the hands of the American Minister promised his Excellency than as soon as the Emperor has mastered his rudiments he shall study the sacred writings .- London Globe.

BILL'S IN TROUBLE.

The following poem is a good type of the anonymous verse which appears from time to time in the newspapers, and then is half-forgotten, harf-remembered, forever afterwards by yevery one who reads it. A new weeks ago a correspondent who remembered the last lines of the poem wrote to the newspapersasking if there was any one who recalled it in its entirety. By return mail came, evidence that it had been garnered in more than one time-honored yellowed acrap-book.

acrap-book.

There is many a family with a "Bill" in it, and, as often as not, unhappily, the cause of anxious thought.

I've got a letter, parson, from my son away out west.

An' my ol' heart is heavy as an anvil in my breast.

To think the boy whose future I had once so proudly planned. Should wander from the path of right an' come to sich an' end! I told him when he left us only three short years ago, He'd find himself a ployin' in a mighty crooked row— But he said th' farm was hateful, an' he guessed he'd have to go.

I know thar's big temptation for a Poungster in the west, But I believed our Billy had the courage to resist.

An' when he left I warned him o' the everwaitin' snares.

That you find like hidden sarpint in life's pathway everywheres.

But Bill he promised faithful to be keerful, an' allowed

He'd bulld a reputation that'd make us mighty proud.

But it seems as how my counsel sort e' faded from his mind,

His letters came so seldom that I somehow sort o' knowed
That Bill was a trampin' on a mighty rocky road.

But once imagined he would bow bow my head in shame.

An' in the lust'd waller hs ol' daddy's honored name.

He writes from out in Denver, an' the story's mighty short; I just can't tell his mother; it'll crush her poor of heart;
An' so I reckon, Parson, you might break the news to her—
Bill's in the Legislatur, but he doesn't say what fur.

An' now the boy's in trouble o' the very wuttest kind.

ADVICE TO GIRLS. (Toronto Mail and Empire.)

The boating fatality is distressing be-wond description. That a holiday should thus terminate is deeply to be deplored. It is not desirable, and it would not be fair, to comment upon the seamanship of those in charge of the little dingey that upset. Yet the lesson of the incident cannot be overlooked. It is to be feared that too many people are inclined to tempt the waves, aithough their knowledge of navigation is small. Their idea is that they have merely to manipulate the oars or to put up the sails, and the delight of motion upon the lake is enjoyed without danger. This is a mistake. Managing a skiff is not child's play, and for sailboats a good deal of skill, and where there are passengers on board who are unused to the boat a good deal of presence of mind, is required. No man ought to undertake to sail a boat containing a number of people, unless he is an expert. No girl ought to trust herself in a boat unless she is assured that her companien knows how to conduct himself under any and all circumstances on the water.
