THE GHOST OF THE PAST

It Rose Up to Taunt and Threat the Fear-Human Duolet.

One by one they went. Chuck snuggled and Soma marches sang merrily through the hall.

"Opera—grand opera," he muttered hastily.

The familiar whirr of the gramophone began again, and then a voice from the atmosphere horn announced, "Song from 'I Pagliacci'."

What do you call him?

"Pompey Carlyle."

"Heaven, it was his own song he heard!"—London Tit-Bits.

TOBACCO CHEFS

Experts That Make Success For Flavoring the Different Brands.

"I am a tobacco chef," said the salaried man.

"This is dark, sweet, juicy plug of 'navy brown,' as popular among the more prosperous type of teamsters.

"Here is a mild, cool pipe tobacco that college boys favor.

"But it is when you come to the high grade Havana cigar, the cigar that sells for 40 or 50 cents, that you see the tobacco chef at his best.

"Yes, the tobacco chef of the highest type, the one who ferments Havana tobacco, handles the various brands of bacteria as an ordinary chef handles pepper and salt, mustard and cloves and mace."—Buffalo Express.

Punishment After Death.

A negro, already under sentence of life imprisonment, was convicted of two charges of assault to murder.

The statesman who had been prime minister and had left an indelible mark on the history of his country was actually envious of an open dancer.—London Globe.

Right Back at Her.

"Does your husband allow you to have things charged at the stores?"

"Oh, I think he would, but—"

"But the stores wouldn't. In that what were you going to add?"

"Oh, no. I was going to say that he gives me plenty of money with which to pay cash. Does your?"—Buffalo Express.

An Unbiased Champion.

"Quar world, isn't it? Has that chap over there, the one who is putting up the big boiler for individual drinking cups for public use?"

"Yes."

"He hasn't drunk a drop of water for seven years."—Canadian Press.

The Very Same.
