PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.—Prior to leaving for Rotasville, Penn., Mrs. M. Deal was presented with a gold and pearl mounted umbrella by some of her friends. The following address, which was signed by twenty names, was forwarded to her.

TO MRS. M. DEAL

Dear Friend.—Our relation as neighbors having terminated for the present, we wish to express our sorrow and regret at parting with you. We will miss your kindly help and pleasant words. We ask you to accept this umbrella as a token of our love and esteem for you, both as a friend and neighbor. We trust it will prove a friend to you, both in rain and sunshine, emblematic of your life among us. We assure it will always give us pleasure to think of the many happy associations of the past and hope that you may be equally successful in winning the love and respect of your future associates. But we ask that you reserve for us a little corner of your heart upon which new friends will have no right to trespass. We trust that your life may be long, happy and useful and that we may have the unspeakable happiness of meeting where parting is unknown

A Profitable Investment.

An investment that guarantees good returns is a year's subscription to The Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal. The family Herald and Weekly Star for a whole year and the beautiful picture "Home Again" all for one dollar is the very best dollar's worth that can be had. The picture "Home Again" is certainly a beauty. Such value has never before been offered in Canada. The Family Herald and Weekly Star is a most wonderful combination. It appeals to all classes, all ages, and brings pleasure and profit to every home it reaches.

Daddy's Girl.

Are you one of the hundreds who have written to The Globe for a copy of "Daddy's Girl"? This is probably, without a single exception, the most popular picture ever published in Canada.

A few years ago The Christmas Globe published a limited number of them. The demand was so great that every copy was ordered before it was put on the market.

A sample copy of this picture, which is from a photograph of a child with the sweetest and most expressive face that can be imagined, may be seen at this office.

To see it is to want it.

This beautiful picture will be given free with each new subscription or renewal sent in for the Weekly Globe and Canada Farmer before December 31, 1911.

Remember the edition of this picture is limited, and the first come the first served.

The Weekly Globe and Canada Farmer has been enlarged, the staff of writers increased, and many new features have been added. These improvements are in keeping with the progressive management that has made The Daily Globe one of the first half-dozen newspapers on the continent. The Weekly Globe and Canada Farmer, with its Illustrated Magazine Section, has always held a foremost place among the metropolitan weeklies in Canada. It will now be classed with the best on the continent. When the Illustrated Magazine Section, with its story or fifty pictures of current events every month, is added it is assured, in its entirety, a list of subscribers to be given for no other periodical.

At the meeting of the village Council [illegible] By-law [illegible] last week, [illegible] to that meeting, which [illegible] ning Tuesday in [illegible]

TO VOTE

In the first place, the Council might submit the by-law without any petition whatever. However, a petition was circulated and signed by over 25 per cent. of those qualified to vote on the question the non-residents not being solicited as they have no vote on Local Option according to the amendments of the Liquor License Act at the last session of the Legislature. The petition was placed in the hands of the clerk on November 1st. In case the Council should require twenty-five per cent. of the whole list (Pts. I. and II. of the voters' list) including non-residents, a second part of the petition was prepared with the signatures of a number of non-residents and one resident who was absent when the first part of the petition was circulated. This brought the number of petitioners to twenty-five per cent. of the whole list and this part was duly presented at the next council meeting when the question of Local Option was discussed for the first time. After a secret consultation on the part of members of the Council we were told that they had decided to adjourn till the next evening and in the meantime to secure legal advice. And why the expense and delay concerning legal advice? To ascertain, I presume, if they might refuse the request of the petitioners and still be within the limits of the law. After the representative, appointed to secure legal advice, had returned from Cayuga it became "street-talk" the same afternoon that the petition lacked a number of names—not taking into consideration the second part of the petition at all, I judge. When the council met that evening we were not favored with some such statement as this: "Such has been the nature of our legal advice, what have you to say?" By no means. Another secret conference, and after the decision to refuse the request of the petitioners had been arrived at, we were favored with a statement concerning the result of their deliberations. They were to take advantage of some legal loop-hole which they believed to exhist—possibly the fact that the second part of the petition, instead of being in the hands of the clerk on Nov. 1st, was presented at the first meeting of the Council after that date? Now that sort of thing may be within the pale of lawful acts, but I question whether it will commend itself to fair-minded people regardless of their attitude toward the hotel bar. Those who believe that the bar-rooms of Jarvis are an economic advantage and a moral and uplifting influence, have a perfect right to their opinion and the members of the present Council would have every right to vote as they wished in case the by-lay were submitted, but when we think that the majority of those qualified to vote upon the question are in favor of having hotel accommodation without the bar, and ask the council to allow the people to express their mind upon the question, willing as we are to cheerfully abide by that decision, I do not think our request is an unreasonable one. When a similar petition was presented to the Council of the City of Brantford there was difference of opinion regarding the list of names. The Council, though not too friendly toward Local Option itself, were at least desirous of "fair play" and gave the petitioners a week to remedy any defects that seemed to be present. Whether their action or that of our council was characterized by the more commendable spirit is for the people to judge.

A clergyman of Bishop's Mills, near Brockville, shot a partridge and in dressing it made the peculiar find of a live green snake in the intestines. The mouth of the reptile was near the stomach, and was apparently substained by absorbing a share of the bird's daily food. The partridge was fat and in good condition, although the snake measured over two feet in length.
