It Pays

When the dimpled baby's hungry, What does the baby do? It doesn't lie serenely. And merely sweetly coo; The hungry baby bellows. With all its little might Till some one gives it something To curb its appetite. The infant with the bottle Which stills its fretful cries A lesson plainly teaches: It pays to advertise.

The lamb lost on the hillside Stands not in silence trembling. And waiting to be found; Its plaintive bleating echoes Across the vales and meads Until the shepherd hears it. And, hearing, kindly bends And when its fears are ended, As on his breast it lies, The lamb has made this patent: It pays to advertise.

The fair and gentle maiden Who loves the bashful boy Assumes when in his presence A manner that is coy; She blushes and she trembles Till he perceives at last, And clasps her closely to him And gladly holds her fast, And as he bends to kiss her And as she serenely sighs, This fact is demonstrated: It pays to advertise.

A central-man found it advisable to put on a ragged suit of clothes in order to repair some machinery. After he had finished he went home to dinner. He met a tramp coming out of his front gate as he went in. The tramp mistook him for a knight of the road. He held up a warning hand. "Duck it—retreat," cautioned the tramp. "I've just tried her and she's a regular bear-cat."

Now is the time to put up horse-radish for winter use. Dig up the roots, scrape them, and put them through the meat chopper. Pack loosely into pickle bottles and cover with white wine vinegar. If packed too tightly or not entirely covered with vinegar, it will discolor. In preparing the horse-radish for the table—and a most beef dinner is hardly complete without it—half fill a little vinegar, some good cream, a teaspoonful of sugar, and half a one of salt. Those who have never cared for horse-radish will relish it when prepared like this. It is nice eating with bread and butter.

A very easy method of calculating the rate of travel on a train is to count the number of rails passed over in 20 seconds. This number is the miles per hour the train is travelling, the calculation being based on the fact that a standard rail is 30 feet long. For instance, if 60 of the standard rails are passed over in 20 seconds, it is easily figured out that the train is travelling about 60 miles an hour.
Inspector Smith, of the Dominion immigration staff, on the border between the United States and Canada, reports that counterfeit $4 bills are being circulated in border cities, presumably by a gang working from the American side. The fake bills are copies of the old style note and pretty clever ones. The new issue, so far as known, has not been counterfeited. One of the bogus bills was passed on the inspector at Niagara Falls, Ont.

As the years go by it is pleasing to note that more farmers write letters on printed letterheads and have their cards on their envelopes. It was once thought no one could do this unless he was engaged in the production of some specialty or breeding some pure-bred farm stock. No one believes that now. Let the farm be named, and then give that with the name of the owner and his post office address and the business is done. The cost of printing is trifling in comparison with its benefits. Ask the Record what neatly printed paper and envelopes will cost.
The sad news was received over the wires on Tuesday, that John Hoshal had passed away at Cayuga. "An editor works 365 days in a year to get out fifty-two issues of a paper. That's labor. Once in a while a subscriber pays a year in advance. That's capital. And once in a while some son of a sea cook of a deadbeat takes the paper for two or three years, then skips out with out paying for it. That's anarchy."
And very frequently editors change from ready print to home print. That's common sense.

The daily papers of to day refers to the death of a former well known resident of Jarvis. Deceased was a brother-in-law of Joseph Johnston of town. He will be better remembered by the older residents of Jarvis. The Empire contains the following: "J. Benson, who had been in business in the city as a milk dealer for 28 years, died suddenly yesterday morning at his home 290 Bathurst Street. Mr. Benson was about 63 years of age, and entered the milk business upon his arrival in the city. He was known by many people as a friend and as a conscientious business man. He was a member of the Avenue Lodge, A. O. U. W., and of Occident Lodge, A. F. and A. M. He leaves a widow, three sons and two daughters."

A marriage took place at Antigonish, Nova Scotia, when an old Jarvis school boy, Charles K. A. Bourne, late agent of the Bank of Commerce, was married to Miss Muriel Macdonald, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Macdonald, on Oct. 11th, 1911. The happy couple, who have been visiting friends and travelling in New York, and are expected in Galt on Friday next at the residence of the groom's father, Rev. H. T. Bourne. Mr. C. E. Bourne and Miss Bourne of Jarvis are invited to assist at their reception in Galt.

CHURCH NOTES.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

The church, which was reopened on Sunday, after being closed for two weeks under the decorator's hand, is much brightened and improved. The walls are somewhat lighter than they were and are still "pointed" in squares as before. Round the walls below the wainscoting stencil patterns are run in a dark terra cotta red, while the mouldings of the windows are colored to match. The reredos and chancel furniture has all been re-oiled. The work reflects great credit upon Wm. Griffer, our Jarvis decorator, who showed taste in his work and took great pains with it.

Next Sunday there will be Sunday School at 10 a.m. and services at 8 1/2 a.m. and 7 p.m. The morning service will have special features on account of the General Thanksgiving.

Lyman Cotton of Toronto addressed the congregation in the evening in the interest of the Dominion Temperance Alliance.

The Woman's Auxiliary met yesterday at Mrs. Chambers. Meetings will be held regularly every week after this. The immediate work will be the Bazaar which is to be held on Thursday, November 30th.

There will be Holy Communion on Thanksgiving Day at 10 a.m. and on Wednesday next All Saints' Day at the same hour.

The A.Y.F.A. will meet next Tuesday evening to begin their winter's work. The yearly Conference of the Society is being held in London this week. A large number of Antigonish young people are in session and no doubt good results will follow the discussions and plans.

The Mission Band will give a pumpkin pie social in the school room on Friday evening, November 10th. Particulars later.

The Story You Hear

If you hear an unpleasant story about an acquaintance, perhaps you will not feel like keeping it to yourself, even though you are not at all sure that it is true. The chances are that you will pass it along, imagining that you have freed yourself of all responsibility if you explain this is only what you were told, and that personally you know nothing about the matter. Have you ever noticed how soon all these little qualifications are dropped out of the story? Every "perhaps" and "maybe" is lost by the second telling. "I thought" soon becomes "I saw," and somebody's careless guess is accepted as the word of a careless man. Since this is true, you cannot escape any responsibility by saying that you heard a certain report, but are not positive as to its truth. The result of repeating it are likely to be just as bad as if you pledged your honor for its correctness in every point.

When you hear a doubtful story which attacks somebody's character, set your lips together and resolve that no word of this shall pass your lips. If true it will be verified only by time. If false you will have the satisfaction of knowing that you have not helped to harm a brother or sister by lending the weight of your influence to a lie.
