The incentive to thrift that a savings account gives you is even more valuable than the actual interest that accumulates upon the deposit. The habit of saving—assuring comfort in old age—is as easily acquired as the habit of spending.

Banking service in the Savings Department of the Bank of Hamilton is as sincerely offered to the man who deposits a few dollars a month as to those who deposit thousands.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.
Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me no operation was my only hope. I dreaded it. I tried several specialists but soon found out I was wanted was my money. I commenced to look up on all doctors. I felt better than I did. One day my legs ached so much I was unable to walk. I was told to go to Dr. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and ethical. I wrote them and got the New Method Treatment. My veins were somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $15 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $25 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."
HENRY C. LOCUST.

Pointers on Killing a Town

Buy from peddlers as much and as often as possible.
Denounce your merchants because they make a profit on their goods.
Glory in the downfall of a man who has done much to build up your town.
Make your town out a bad place and stab it every chance you get.
Refuse to unite in any scheme for the betterment of the material interests of the people.
Tell your merchants that you can buy goods a great deal cheaper in some other town and charge them with extortion. If a stranger comes to your town tell him everything is overdone, and predict a general crash in the near future.

Patronize outside newspapers to the exclusion of your own, and then denounce yours for not being as large and as cheap as the city papers.
If you are a merchant, don't advertise in the home paper, but compel the editor to go elsewhere for advertisements and howl like a sore head because he does so. Buy a rubber stamp and use it. It may save you a few dimes and make your letterheads and wrappers look as though you were doing business in a one-horse town.
If you are a farmer, curse the place where you trade as the meanest on earth. Talk this over to your neighbors and tell them the men are robbers and thieves. It will make your property less valuable; but you don't care.

Who Owns A Letter

Not so long ago it came before the United States Postoffice authorities to settle the question of whether a letter once mailed is still the property of the sender, or belongs to the person to whom it is addressed. The authorities ruled that the sender was the owner and that a letter does not belong to the addressee until delivered to him. Therefore, the writer has a right to reclaim and regain possession of any mail matter, providing he can prove, of course, that he was the writer of it. Even after the letter has arrived at the office which is its destination and before the mail is delivered to the addressee, it may be recalled by the writer by telegraph through the mailing office. The Postoffice regulations require of course, that the strictest care be taken by the postmaster at the office of mailing to ascertain that the person who desires to withdraw the letter is really the one who is entitled to do so, and the postmaster is responsible for his error if he delivers the letter to an impostor or to an unauthorized person. It is a very rare case, though where a sender has been able to secure his letter when it is mailed to a person in the same city in which it is posted. At the present day the system of handling the mail is such a rapid nature that it spends very little time in the postoffice, before it is in the hands of a letter carrier on its way to final delivery. If this is the case, one's chance of recovering a piece of mail, is slim.

The Growth of Home.

At this season comes the acute epidemic of the bargain sale—the whole, a pleasurable disease, and regrettable only because, if you are a victim, you inevitably accumulate a mass of needless purchases. The smaller things that you can buy do not matter so much; you can board them, give them away, save them for future exigencies of present making; but the big things that you buy—the rugs and the furniture, the objects that go to make up a part of your daily background are likely to be fatal mistakes. You should choose your furnishings with the care with which you choose your friends; both should wear well and neither should be undesirable or disturbing. Bargain heat is not a safe temperature at which to select either friends or furniture. The day of the woman with the moderate income has arrived. Any one who commands a fortune can summon a decorator and create not a home, but a house full of the ample magnificence of a first-class hotel. The housewife, however, is not content with heat; it is decoration at its easiest. The woman with moderate means should make the harmony of a room her end, choose patiently, and never buy, merely because it is a bargain, a chair, a table or rug that she will later long to throw away. She should make haste slowly, and to that end should buy those things only that long consideration has taught her are necessary and beautiful. One of the compensations for her narrow means is that she must think twice, and she has the better way of thinking wisely. She should remember that to enjoy a home grown in beauty is hardly less enjoyable than to see children grow in perfection. The growth of each is a slow process, but in both cases, if successful, is one of the deeper satisfactions of the heart.

Do you Know Your Color

The girl who believes in good luck charms or likes to think that she does will want to know about her particular color. The girl who was born in January should wear green. All shades of pink would be the February girl's choice, while those of March will feel most comfortable in purple. The April daughter can wear red and especially rose red. The special color for May is blue, and she born in this month, should choose jewelry and clothes of light tints of blue. This girl is supposed to be sensitive. Bronze green is for the June girl, which is apt to make her a little melancholy. Light red is the color for July, and deep blue for the girl born in August. Yellow is for the girl born in September. If you were born in October you will take the greatest comfort in wearing brown, while in November in your month you may choose a light grey. Instead of the gray holiday colors the girl who is born in December should wear mauve.

Tillsburg Boy Scout Gets Medal

Duke of Connaught Recommends Victor Garnham, Among Five Other Scouts, for Life-Saving

The Duke of Connaught, Chief Scout of the Boy Scouts of Canada, has approved the recognition of six Ontario Boy Scouts for gallantry in life saving. Appropriate medals have been forwarded to Toronto for distribution.

The boys honored are: Victor Granham, Tillsburg; Harold Whitcomb of Smiths Falls; Gordon Scott of Niagara Falls; G. Bowman of Wingham; Chas. Heintzman of Toronto and Alvin Gray of Milbrook. It will be remembered that on the occasion of the drowning of William Melvin in the waterworks pond last summer, Victor Garnham, after persistent diving, located the body in the deep water and brought it to the surface. His many friends will be glad to learn of the honor that has been deservedly conferred upon him.

A man can lie to people without ever realizing they are doing it to him.
