The German Emperor, the King of the Belgians, the King of Saxony, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent of Austria-Hungary, and a number of princes, representing the royal houses of Europe, followed the coffin in the procession, which passed through streets crowded with silent mourners. At the time the procession was on the way to the church, and also during the service, salute guns were fired and the church bells throughout the city were tolled.

The heart of the dead regent was embalmed separately, and interred with those of many preceding Bavarian rulers, at the village of Alt-Oetting, where it reposes in a silver case beside the famous shrine of the Virgin Mary.

LORD'S DAY ANNUAL

Sunday Observance Body Met in Toronto.

Toronto report: The annual meeting of the Lord's Day Alliance, which was held yesterday, marked as the outstanding feature of the year the fact of potential control of business on the Lord's day, as assured by the Lord's Day Act, which has been extended to all the provinces of the Dominion, the Quebec observance act having been declared invalid.

The control of restaurants, ice cream parlors and tobacco stands suggested by the Middleton decision has in every part of the Dominion been welcomed and has proved efficacious.

The attitude taken by the alliance with regard to the opening of casuals was that the rule of the department should prevent this year as in other years until it was clear that the process of traffic dominated the opening. With regard to the International Railway, the alliance merely stated that it was in that part of the country against such Sunday service.

Appreciation was expressed with the beneficial results, according to the enforcement of the order of the Postoffice Department closing to the public on the Lord's day all postoffices in cities and towns in the west.

Great activity was reported from Winnipeg in the enforcement of the law, Sunday dance halls being closed and courtesans being recorded in connection with Sunday labor and Sunday entertainments.

The financial report presented by the treasurer was most encouraging. The contributions this year amounted to about four thousand dollars more than the previous year. The general secretary, Rev. W. M. Rochester, was appointed a delegate to the World's Congress at Portland.

He afterwards flew to Trapani, which was reached at 4.30. In landing he damaged the petrol tank.

Garros will continue his flight towards Rome tomorrow morning. Special arrangements were made for the flight. Five Italian torpedo boats cruised along the route. The aeroplane was fitted up with floats and buoys, which lighted up automatically on coming in contact with the water.

Dr. Friedmann still refuses to give out any of his serum, saying that a tiny drop of it is a bacteriological could propagate enough of the bacilli to supply the world.

Dr. Friedmann's small quarters were swamped by patients, physicians and scientists. The physicians numbered more than fifty.

Dr. Friedmann told all the patients and their physicians that results from his serum begin to show in most cases within five weeks.

OFFICIALS BLAMED

For Misuse of Union Funds In Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Dec. 23.—"Walking delegates and officials who do not work, but who use the funds of labor unions to enhance their own power even if they must resort to crime" was the Government's description in its argument to the jury at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial to-day of the forty men charged with complicity in the McNamara dynamite plots.

Olof A. Tveitmo, San Francisco, was charged with helping to spend $330,000 "collected from honest working men" in connection with the strike at Los Angeles, which culminated in the wrecking of The Los Angeles Times building, and all of the defendants were declared to have used the funds of the Ironworkers' International Union in violation of the by-laws of the union to pay dynamiters to blow up non-union jobs.

The prisoner was only 22 years old.

DO AWAY WITH SPOILS SYSTEM

Feature of Report On Civil Service Reform.

MINISTERS' POWERS Should Be Enlarged, Says British Expert.

Ottawa despatch: A report on the organization of the public service of Canada, made by Sir George Murray, at the request of the Dominion Government, was laid on the table of the House to-day by the Prime Minister. The report is a lengthy one, containing some 30 printed pages.

The report is divided into four parts. These are:—
* First: Methods employed in transaction of public business. Second: Control of appropriations and expenditures. Third: The administrative methods and operations of the chief spending departments, and Fourth: Miscellaneous suggestions.

Sir George states that he was most impressed by the enormous amount of work the Ministers have to do under the present system in force in Canada. They both have too much to do and do too much.

The number of orders-in-council passed a year is between 3,000 and 4,000. This is too many. They deal with everything from a foreign treaty to the appointment of an excise man. Moreover, in theory at any rate, almost every decision of a Minister, however trivial, goes before his colleagues for approval. With the growth of Canada this system will break down by its own weight.

Sir George recommends a greater devolution of authority, that is much that is now done by order-in-council should be done by the individual Ministers. That is further, that the Ministers should be given greater authority without submission to the Cabinet. Legislation would be necessary to effect such changes.

ABOLISH TREASURY BOARD.
A committee of Ministers should be appointed to deal with this matter and to recommend such duties as may be left to the individual Ministers. No harm would be done, says the report, if the Treasury Board were abolished and the duties performed by the several departments concerned.

The report also considers the relief of individual Ministers by the transfer of some of their duties to their deputies and to others. This matter is gone into in detail. The present system of oral consideration of estimates in council is declared a poor one. The matter should be dealt with in writing with the Finance Department, and thus the whole matter preserved in the form of correspondence.

Political deputies of Ministers, the report suggests, should be appointed to relieve them of much of the time now spent in interviewing members and conducting negotiations of a political character.

LA PATRIE NOT SOLD

Owners Issue Denial of Recent Report.

Montreal, Dec. 23.—Mr. L. J. Tarte, president of La Patrie Publishing Co., has published the following statement:

There is not one word of truth in the despatch that La Patrie has been sold to the Conservatives. You may please accept my word of honor that there has been no negotiations going on for that purpose. Several weeks ago we were approached, an offer was made but refused. To be more positive, we are not now even discussing the matter of selling La Patrie, as we intend not to part with it, believing that it is a good proposition for others and is equally good for us.

There is not a word of truth either in the rumor that Mr. Beauchamp would become editor-in-chief of La Patrie. Mr. Robillard is, since the death of Hon. J. I. Tarte, and will remain editor-in-chief. You can be assured that should my brother and myself part with our interests in La Patrie, which we do not intend to do, we will announce it to our readers, as we would not care to be connected with the paper and allow it to be published under our responsibilities if we did not own it.

ACTRESS' CHARGE

Woman Cannot Go Straight and Get on Stage.

London, Dec. 23.—Miss Kitty Marion, an actress, was sentenced to-day in the Bow street court to a month's imprisonment or a fine of $100 for giving a false alarm of fire. The Magistrate made the sentence exceptionally severe owing to the large number of such outrages recently perpetrated by snuff-graters.

Miss Marion made a statement in court throwing a curious light on the working of the suffragette mind. Three years ago, she said, she appeared in Bow street charged with breaking a window. She did that in order to attract public attention to the conditions of the stage, which made it almost impossible for a woman to earn an honest living.

It was an unwritten law that the woman who wanted to go straight could not get on the stage. She challenged the Actors' Association to deny the truth of her statements. Since then she was practically boycotted out of the profession, and had to turn to other employment. "All went well till my employer asked for my insurance card. I told her I refused to pay any insurance tax. Then it happened the Irish women were betrayed in the Home Rule Bill. I intended to make a much stronger protest, but my friends of the Women's Social and Political Union begged me not to do so. Therefore, I contented myself metaphorically with turning the hose on the Government to turn them out."

PEACE CELEBRATION PLANS.
London, Dec. 23.—Early Grey was the principal speaker at a meeting to arrange celebrations of the century of peace between the English-speaking peoples. Earl Grey was heartily applauded in his remark that, although the boundaries of Canada and the United States were side by side for four thousand miles, not a sentinel, fort or gun was placed along them. He recalled the visit to Ottawa of Elihu Root and the impression created by his emphatic declaration that peace between the two countries would remain unbroken.

The sum mentioned as indispensable for an adequate celebration is $250,000.

TO CEDE FORBIDDEN CITY
Peking, Dec. 23.—The Dowager Empress of the Manchus has offered to hand over to the Chinese reformers the halls of the erstwhile Forbidden City, which for hundreds of years harbored the Manchus dynasty, and at the same time to transfer the imperial family to the summer palace. She was impelled to this act by the desire to provide suitable accommodation for the Chinese Government.

The Government apparently intends to accept this drastic offer when funds are available to carry out the necessary repairs.

The primary elections up to the present indicate a large progressive majority.

HICKEY DEFENCE INSANITY.
Buffalo, Dec. 23.—Evidence introduced by the prosecution to-day to prove that J. Frank Hickey was the murderer of Joseph Josephus, the 7-year-old Lackawanna boy, went unchallenged by the prisoners' counsel. But when any testimony was given tending to show Hickey's dissolute habits, his attorney, Daniel V. Murphy, promptly seized upon it for lengthy cross-examination, evidently to impress the jury with the idea that Hickey's manner of living had resulted in insanity, which he has repeatedly said would be the sole defence.

NO MINES PORTFOLIO.
Ottawa, Dec. 23.—No new portfolio of mines will be created this session. This department, which has hitherto been under the supervision and control of the minister of the interior, was to-day transferred to that of the secretary of state, and hereafter Hon. Louis Coderre will be minister of Mines in addition to secretary of state.

LASH FOR GALT BOY.

"The girls of Galt must be protected, and this will be a warning," commented his worship.

CUT IN TWO, TALKED

New York Youth's Marvelous Vitality

With His Body Severed At the Abdomen.

New York, Dec. 23.—With his body cut in two by a railroad train, according to a half dozen witnesses who saw him, Robin Greenberg, eighteen years old and normally strong and healthy, lived long enough to hold conversation with those who found him on the Erie rails at the main station in Passaic, N. J., last night.

He was on the train which arrived at Passaic at fifteen minutes before 9 o'clock last night, but was asleep until the train started out of the station. Then he leaped from his seat and ran to the platform, where he fell between two cars in his haste to get off.

Randolph Rowe was wheeling a truck of Christmas packages near the rails when he heard a cry for help.

Taking a lantern, Lowe soon found Greenberg, his head and most of his body lying outside of the rails and his hips and legs between the rails. He said the wheels had run over the lower part of his abdomen and that the hips, pelvic bones and legs were completely severed from the upper part of the trunk.

"Say, help me off the rails, won't you?" he said Greenberg called to him, in a perfectly clear but weak voice. "I did not answer," said Lowe, "but ran for Policeman Radcliffe, and he went back with me." Both Lowe and Radcliffe said that then the following conversation was held with Greenberg after Radcliffe had lifted his head to his knees:

"Oh, officer, take me off the track, please," said Greenberg.

"Right away. What is your name?" "Greenberg. I guess I'm pretty badly hurt."

"Do you live in Passaic?" "Yes, at No. 41 Van Buren street. Please take me off before another train comes."

Other men appeared and the policeman and Lowe lifted Greenberg's head and the upper part of his body from the ground. The wheels had severed the body and the lower part of the abdomen and the legs remained on the ground.

Greenberg was alive when carried into the station, but he died without saying anything more and before a physician arrived.

DRAPER NOT GUILTY

Caledonia Arson Case Falls Very Flat.

Caledonia despatch: William Draper, of Caledonia, was acquitted at the close of the assizes this afternoon by a jury on three charges of arson, two of attempted arson, and one of conspiring to commit arson. The various charges for which Draper was tried occurred during the month of July, when a number of attempts were made to burn the O'Rourke block of that village, which consisted of a hotel, a general store, and other buildings.

It was alleged by the Crown that there had been ill-feeling for some time between the accused and Earny O'Rourke, the owner of the block. This, it was claimed, was the result of O'Rourke refusing to give a contract to Draper for the erection of a building. The fires were all confined to a stable adjoining the block, and were extinguished before much damage was done. Evidence was also submitted to show that kerosene had been sprinkled on the walls of the stable at various other times.

The chief witness for the prosecution was a private detective, who swore that he had heard Draper make threats against O'Rourke, and a small when Draper was arrested and found in bottle of kerosene had been found in his pocket. Draper stated that the threats he had made against O'Rourke were to the effect that he would assist the local option movement in the village, and stating that he had purchased it for his wife. His evidence was corroborated by other witnesses.

In charging the jury Mr. Justice Leitch instructed them to find the accused not guilty, as he did not think that there was evidence to convict. The jury reached a verdict in ten minutes.

WILL AID PELEE ISLANDERS.

Toledo, Dec. 23.—To prevent a Christmas famine at Pelee Island in Canadian waters, Lake Erie, the Canadian Government has granted special permission for the American ice-carrying steamer Olcutt to touch at Canadian port. The Canadian steamer Clark, upon which the islanders depended, was put out of commission in a gale last week. Since then the islanders have been cut off short of provisions. The Olcutt will make her first trip tomorrow between Pelee Island and Kingsville and Leamington on the north shore.

The fire was caused by the explosion of a gas engine in a soda water factory on the ground floor of the studio building.

WATER

International In Start

Toronto, Dec. 23.—Work commenced in the near future on a year-long investigation into the boundary waters from the reference to the head of the Great Lakes. Conflicting expectations practically no opposition to the proposed investigation. Representatives of the States of New York, Pennsylvania, Ontario, Michigan joined with those from Ontario and Quebec in approving of the scheme.

The work of examining the waters of the Ontario side will be carried on by the staff of the Provincial Laboratory, and the cost will be shouldered by the commission.

A FRIENDLY PEER

Embassy Man Would Aid U. S. Boy Scouts.

Washington, Dec. 23.—Directors of the Boy Scouts of the District of Columbia are puzzled to-day just how to reply to Lord Eustace Percy, Third Secretary of the British Embassy, who has offered his services to the local juvenile brigade. It is believed to be the first time that a British peer has sought actively to join in the semi-military training of the youth of another country.

Lord Percy contends, however, that the spirit of militarism should prevail in the organization, but that the movement should be for the physical and moral and mental training of the boys of every country. In Great Britain, where the movement originated, the Boy Scouts are semi-military.

It is altogether likely that the British diplomat will be appointed a "scout master" in the local organization.

WOODROW WILSON'S GOOD MOVE.

Princeton, N. J., Dec. 23.—The days of public receptions in the big east room of the White House are numbered, and in the next Administration people will not be received at the Executive Mansion merely for the purpose of shaking hands or gazing in curiosity at the President of the United States.

Mr. Wilson said that his open door policy would be preserved at the White House, so far as it was physically possible, and that he intended to have the doors of the Executive Offices thrown wide open, so that the President would be accessible at all times, but only to those "who have business to transact."
