When buying a cough medicine for children bear in mind that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is most effective for colds, croup and whooping cough and that it contains no harmful drugs. For sale by all dealers.

Have you ever used Artum. It is an artificial rubber. It contains no acid or other chemical which can in any way injure the skin or fabric. It can be used for cleaning soiled gloves, hats, white kid, tan or canvas shoes, wall paper, or removing grease or other stains from dress goods. It is indispensable in the house, if the dirt has hardened, it may be necessary to scratch it with a finger nail, in order to loosen it. Do not wet the dirty spot or the Artum. Only use a cake at the Record office.

EDITOR:
No wonder had James Marr fallen on the slippery sidewalk than the knocking he got in their days and place the blame where it did not belong. The fact that he is in front of Dr. Howell's office long before he was treated to a dose of salt and, unfortunately for the knockers,
the salt fell before he came to Dr.
Howell's office, about five feet up from the ground, on which place, contrary to the usual belief, the salt had away from the ground, had better go and kick the salt and snow off the walk along the front of the church, the Allen lot across the corner, the Shannon property up town and down town, for if he is caught striking the ground he is apt to get into trouble if he is a good big, heavy strong man.
I am feeling fine and will continue to do so.
E. S. Newell.

The Miller, MacFarlane Co., who have been conducting a general store in town for the past three years have made a change, the partnership hitherto existing has been dissolved, Lloyd MacFarlane having disposed of his interest in the Miller Brothers. During Mr. MacFarlane's business career here he has won the honor and respect of the entire town and country, by his strict integrity and straightforwardness in dealing with the public. The Miller Brothers, being energetic, popular and trustworthy, have also gained the good will of the entire community and we predict continued success and we trust the same patronage will be bestowed upon them as was accorded the firm of the past three years. We are not aware of Mr. MacFarlane's future plans but we trust that they will not necessitate the removal of himself and estimable family from our midst.

When you want a good job of printing done just take your copy to a printer and tell him to do you a job, and he will. If you think you know more about the business than he does, select your paper, instruct him what kind of type to use and all the little details, you will get a botch job. A printer working under instructions from one who knows nothing about the business, no matter if he is an expert, cannot get out a neat job.

It makes us very tired, indeed, to have merchants insist on us to urge the people to trade at home and not send away to mail order houses or big city stores for their goods, and when we go around to settle our accounts have presented to us a bill head printed away from home or receive copy for an ad written on a letter head which never "trade at home." Yes, we believe in it, but those who cry out so loud and persistently should certainly be first to set the example.

But few of our readers, we imagine, ever give a thought to the value of this paper to the community. The home paper has an influence for good it is hard to overestimate. It moulds public opinion; it does well its part in protecting and preserving the government. It takes the place of a standing army in guarding the liberties of the people; it teaches your children morality, truth and power; it brings many rich blessings to the homes it visits with but little financial reward for its labors, and in too many instances not any. The home paper is the mirror in which those at a distance see us. It is the plain duty of all who are interested in our town to take personal interest in the town's paper and assist in every way possible in making it a true representative of our intelligent and hospitable people as well as our enterprising and rapidly developing little town. Send the paper to your friends, bring us the news and do your duty by your home paper and it will meet you more than halfway. When you help your home paper you help your town and indirectly help yourself, for we are all equally interested in our town and community.

It is said that the best way to preserve apples in winter is to wrap them in newspapers so as to exclude the air. The exception is made, however, that the newspaper must be one on which the subscription has been paid, else the dampness resulting from what is "dew" may result in spoiling the fruit.

The Record is in receipt of a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Brownlow Hyde, who had arrived safe at Thornton, Eng. They enjoyed a most delightful trip across the ocean, it being ideal weather all the way. They also speak of the Old Land as being beautiful as our spring, everything looking so green and fresh.

Our compliments are extended to one of Jarvis' old boys, in the person of J. O. McCarty, who captured a seat on the Board of Control in Toronto on his first attempt. Step by step J. O. is steadily reaching the heights of municipal honors and he has earned his seat by business-like and progressive views. May continued popularity and success ever attend him is the sentiment of his numerous friends in Jarvis and the entire township of Walpole.

Christmas has been here and is gone, and New Year's is around again and the old year is among the has-beens. We won't speak of it. It's of the future we speak. It is, of course, all before you, and it will be exactly what you make it. The coming year will be for you a year of advancement, morally, physically, mentally and industrially, if you will it and make it, or it will see you at its close a heedless, careless, unambitious youth, without any fixed purpose in life or stability of character to keep you from degenerating. It's for you to make the choice. Your future is very much in your own hands. There are two roads—the high road and the low road. In the former you will find health, uplifting, respectable company and self respect. In the latter you will meet with low companions, debasing attractions and immoral tendencies. Both roads run through Jarvis and you must walk in one of them. You cannot stand still. If you take the right road our wish that you may have A Happy New Year will be fulfilled.

Constipation is the cause of many ailments and disorders that make life miserable. Take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, keep your bowels regular and you will avoid these diseases. For sale by all dealers.

The things you expect to do are of little benefit to anybody until you do them. Air ship inventors expect to make their machines as safe as bicycles, but the public is not going to go wild over them as a pleasure craft until they are safe. See the point?

Do not complain that opportunity never knocks at your door. Probably she has knocked a great many times and failed to find you at home attending to your business; or, perhaps, you were asleep, or maybe you were talking so loudly about hard luck that you could not hear her.

The world owes no man any more than he willingly tries to get into it. The man who sees the light out of life than he is in it, his life will fall gloriously. It may seem to smile upon the shirked times, but on the day of final reckoning he will come out short in his accounts.—Better think about it.

Get busy! To-day, not to-morrow is the accepted time. If you would be a success, be one. No one is stopping you. Your hands and feet are not tied. You need not wait till some one drives up in a 40-horsepower automobile and invites you to ride with him to fame and glory. Hard work and a little common sense will do the trick. Get busy.

Lift a man, give him life, let him work eight hours a day, give him beautiful things to see and good books to read and you will starve out the lower appetites. Give a man a chance to earn a good living and you may save his life. Give a hundred men in this country good wages and eight hour's work and ninety-nine will disdain to steal.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Hamlin of Indian Head arrived in town Tuesday of last week and will spend some time visiting relatives and friends. We congratulate Mrs. Hamlin that Father Time has dealt so kindly with her, for the years since her departure from our town, does not make its appearance with her and she now looks as young as when a resident among us.

This story was told at a church banquet in Atchison: A boarder complained to the proprietor of the hotel that he had found hair in the ice-cream, hair in the honey and hair in the apple-sauce. "That is queer," said the proprietor. "The hair in the ice-cream must have come from shaving the ice; the hair in the honey must have come from the comb; but I can't understand how the hair got in the apple-sauce, for I picked the apples myself and they were all Baldwins."

Every event that checkers our lives, every experience that we pass through, may be treated in these two ways. Either we may receive it passively, as something to be accepted and remembered only for its self and its transient effect on our happiness, or we may enter into its real meaning, learn its offered lessons, and pass on with an accumulated power of life. The difference is something like that which we see in two workmen, one of whom has learned a certain method of working, to which he is bound, and beyond which he cares not to look; the other has mastered the principles of his occupation, appreciates its value, knows the points to be attained, and applies his thought and energy to compass them in the best way, using whatever method he finds most efficacious.

The first public meeting of the Union Literary Society held on Friday evening of last week in the school room of the Methodist church proved to be a great success, a large number being present to show their interest in the proposed series of meetings throughout the winter months. In the debate "Resolved that Capital Punishment should be abolished" the affirmative was taken by Mr. Williamson and Dr. Jacques the latter taking the place of G. L. Miller who was not present. The negative side of the question was sustained by Dr. Howell and C. H. Nelson. All the speakers acquitted themselves well. The judges, Miss Agnes Johnson, J. A. Campbell and Chas. Stallwood gave the decision in favor of the affirmative by a small margin. Miss Shirley Rodgers delighted the audience with a solo. The chair was occupied by Mr. Eddy who also contributed some readings. John Meehan was appointed treasurer and arrangements were made to hold the next public meeting in the basement of the Presbyterian Church on Friday evening, Jan. 12.
