If you are a housewife you cannot reasonably hope to be healthy or beautiful by washing dishes, sweeping and doing housework all day, and crawling into bed dead tired at night. You must get out into the open air and sunlight. If you do this every day and keep your stomach and bowels in good order by taking Chamberlain's Tablets when needed, you should become both healthy and beautiful.
For sale by all dealers.

Play The Game

Just play the game, and play it on the square: Some men may break the rules—so your despair.
But let them do it—any fool can beat Who plays with honest men and stoops to cheat.
It takes a HEAD to win when playing fair.
Dare all the risks your nerve will let you dare; He fails the worst who plays with too much care.
But whether tasting glory or defeat,
Just play the game!
Don't hog the chances; no, but take your share; Don't cater to the grandstand folks who clap.
Keep on the job, be braced for what you meet, All time is called the game is not complete!
And here's your motto—always, every where—
Just play the game!

Moist tobacco is one of the best cures imaginable for the bite of any poisonous insect. Ordinary leaf tobacco, well soaked, and tied over the bitten spot, takes the pain away rapidly and brings down the inflammation.

Miss Margaret Porter, who has successfully taught in our public school for the past year, has resigned and left Wednesday evening

Miss Porter made many warm loving manner and her departure is deeply regretted by her host of friends.

Wash and boil a couple of fair sized beets until they are tender, then remove the skins and cut them in slices. Dissolve half an ounce of butter, mix with it a dessertspoonful of flour and stir in a large tea-cupful of thin stock or water, adding a little vinegar and pepper and salt. Boil first, then lay in the slices and salt, root, cover the stewpan closely and stew gently for an hour. Pour carefully into a dish and serve at once.

The having in this neighborhood is about all done. Some fields were very heavy, some light, but taking it all in all there will be a good hay crop on the clay belt along the lake shore. Up north the grasshoppers have eaten the most of it. In some quarters where the hay crop was so scanty to satisfy them, they turned into onion patches and then trailed their heavy breath over potatoe patches and blighted them. Really some of the farmers in the sandy tracts will see hard times before the end of the year.

Any flies that comes into your house may have come straight from a person who is sick with some contagious disease and possibly cause the death of yourself or some member of your family. Kill every fly you see in your house. Get a screen door. Keep all food covered up.
Boil all the water you drink. Keep your privies screened. Don't allow the manure to accumulate about the barns. Manure is the principal breeding place for flies. Flies do not travel great distances. Most of their life is spent close to where they are hatched and where they get their food. Keep the garbage can closed. Screen the doors and the windows of the farmhouse. Do not pour slop, Skim milk or other hog feed on the ground. Filth and flies have no place in modern standards of living.

turning to the north.

The sun is shining on Haldimand county. But as is the case elsewhere, there is danger of the sun's caresses having deadly effect on the crops on which the county depends so much. Since the storm of a few weeks ago not a drop of rain has fallen here, and while the ground was earlier well saturated with moisture, with the recent extremely hot weather it is becoming parched with the heat. Unless rain falls soon the results will be serious. If rain does come the outlook for nearly everything that grows is fairly bright.

The July Canadian Home Journal contains an interesting article, "Two Historic Towns", by Katherine Hale; the report and analysis of the recent convention in London, Ont., of the National Council of Women; Jennie Allen Moore's letters; Women's Institute and other women's organizations. A new romance, "The Red Seal" starts this month, a story of the time of the religious wars. "The Third Man", "The Butterfly" and "David Kendall's Holiday" are good short stories. The Fashions department seems unusually extensive this time of the year, probably the cold weather has greatly delayed completion of the summer wardrobe.
There is something good in the household department—recipes, menus, discoveries. We are glad to see the continued improvement in the Journal.

The following which we take from the Simcoe Reformer last week would also apply to the crowd that gathered at Pt. Dover on Monday.
There was a usual spectacle at the station of a number ten crowd trying to cork itself up in a number four accommodation. Two trains took off the struggling, perspiring mass from the under side of the station verandah. The first one being the favorite, was loaded to the muzzle in an especially informal way, by ambitious people who clung to the aspiring travelers who in turn maintained a death grip on an inner circle of sweating mortals who were in actual, feverish contact with some part of the car, either a seat or a window ledge or a ventilator or a truss rod or a parcel rack,—and thus they achieved their annual glad getaway.

which the idle will never know.

The man who is most wanted for positions of trust is the one who does not work for mere selfish gain, but for the love of the task. If he does his work for the love of it, and not out of consideration alone for the result, he will serve his own interests best, for he will do his work well and thereby make himself indispensible to his employer; and when the time comes to choose a man for a higher position, the choice will likely fall upon him who has done his work well.

With the oppressive heat of July upon us might it not be well to suggest to ourselves careful treatment of horses? Is it not an infrequent thing to see boys, and even men driving jaded horses at top speed, whipping them severely when they lag.

Farmers in this section are undoubtedly prospering, judging by the fine houses and buildings to be seen. Not only that but some of them have indulged in the luxury of automobiles. The farmer is becoming a business man and is conducting his farm on business lines.
Where formerly he would pay his bills in cash, which he would keep in the house, he now sits down and writes his creditor a check on a bank in town. Rural telephone lines extend all over the country.

Do-Nothing days may be the busiest ones. They are the days in which we absorb: while on the domum days we try to make others absorb from us whatever we have in overplus: ribbons, wisdom or chase. If we oftener eased the strain on our eyes and minds, we should be enriched by impressions, that in our usual attitude and mastering attitude we refuse to heed.
Canadians ought to have a wholesome laziness preached to them, after three centuries of urging to gain and work, and several patriotic citizens make examples of themselves, for the public benefit, by refraining from toil.

Orange Service At Garnet

Garnet Methodist church was taxed to its utmost capacity on Sunday, July 7, the service being under the auspices of Garnet Orange Lodge, No. 741. A large number of Orangemen from Hagersville, Jarvis and other parts of the county were present to march with their brethren of the local lodge. Copies of the Orange Service bearing the print of William of Orange mounted upon his famous white-charger, were distributed to members of the Order and others in the congregation.
The sermon was preached by the pastor of the church, Rev. Arthur Clare Eddy, B. D., his text being "Fight the Good Fight of Faith." The choir which richly deserves its splendid reputation, rendered music appropriate for the occasion. R. J.
Catherwood, W. M., Thomas Jepson, Co-Master, and the officers and members of the Order generally, are to be congratulated upon the success of the anniversary service.

Methodist Church

Topic for this evening's service, "The Hidden Treasure and Pearl of Great Price." Mrs. N. Pond will lead the discussion. In the pastors absence Miss Johnson will have charge of the meeting.
Everyone invited.

Rev. Geo. E. Shields of New Credit will preach morning and evening next Sabbath. His many friends will be pleased to hear him again.

The Sunday school and church are likely to be well represented at the Sunday School picnic on Tuesday 16th.

Mr. Hicks Entertained

A Selkirk correspondent writes—F. J.
Hicks, who has successfully conducted our school, left for his home on Monday.
He has served his connection with the school here and will be seen at Jarvis when the next term opens. He takes with him the highest esteem of all in this section and we hope that unlimited success will attend him in a bright future. Mr.
Hicks was entertained on Friday evening with about twenty-five of his ex-pupils at the home of Dr. Fry. The evening was spent with games, music and speeches by the young people, who all testified to the esteem in which their former teacher was held, and the regret that he was leaving their midst. Toasts were made proposing the health and future success of the guest of honor, who responded in a fitting manner by expressing the pleasure he had experienced in his work here and his assurance that the friendship formed would be permanent ones. The company broke up by the singing of Auld Lang Syne. On Saturday evening, 29th June, they gathered at the home of O. Grindall and presented Mr. Hicks with an address, accompanied with a framed picture of the picture and a magnificent quartered-easy chair, upholstered in solid leather.
Mr. Hicks made a suitable reply, thanking the donors for their thoughtfulness and many kindnesses while his pupils and wished them bright and happy careers.
His departure is looked upon as a decided loss to this community, he having proved to be an efficient teacher and a first-class citizen.

Crops In This Vicinity

Fall wheat is not likely to be better than two-thirds of a crop this year owing to the severe winter and the backward spring, when much of it was killed. The acreage is about up to the average, and the fields are only now beginning to turn color. Oats and barley promise fairly well, although many had difficulty in getting the seed in the ground owing to wet weather. Peas are just setting and promise well, but they need rain more than the other crops. Several fields were seen by your correspondent where patches of peas were badly scorched by the sun.
Some peas for canning are ready for picking, and the canning factories expect to commence operating in a few days.
Contracts have been made for peas by the canning factories at a higher price than in several years. Corn is coming up well, and with favorable weather will be a good crop. The apple crop promises well, and from present appearances, will be approximately 25 per cent ahead of last year.
Cherries are a good crop and are being gathered. Strawberries are suffering from the dry weather, which has severely curtailed the crop. One farmer is instantly expected to get one hundred crates of berries off his land but on account of the dry weather he has been able to ship only 38 crates. A good rain now would be an immense benefit to the crop.
Last year a number of farmers tried the experiment of growing peaches with parent great success, as peaches were produced which were equal to any grown in the Province. With last winter, however, came the crucial test, and the trees could not stand the rigorous weather.
Many of the trees were killed, and this year there will be hardly a peach produced in the country. A large amount of potatoes has been planted this year and from present appearances they will be plentiful. The make of butter so far has been up to last year, but in the last week it has been becoming more scarce. Pastures, which have been quite luxuriant, are drying up for want of rain, and the production of milk is affected accordingly.
Eggs are also becoming scarce. Poultry is hard to obtain at this season, but the outlook for the autumn is that it will be plentiful, as the hatching of the chickens has been good.
