If you are a housewife you cannot reasonably hope to be healthy or beautiful by washing dishes, sweeping and doing housework all day, and crawling into bed dead tired at night. You must get out into the open air and sunlight. If you do this every day and keep your stomach and bowels in good order by taking Chamberlain's Tablets when needed, you should become both healthy and beautiful. For sale by all dealers.

The successful men are those who have worked while their neighbors' minds were vacant, or occupied with passing trivialities; who have been acting while others have been wrestling with indecision. They are the men who have tried to read all that has been written about their craft; who have learned from the masters and fellow craftsman of experience, and profited thereby; who have gone about with their eyes open noting good points of other men's work, and considered how they might do it better. Thus they have risen above mediocrity, and in striving towards perfection have educated themselves in the truest manner.

Local and Personal.

The "Ad" Killer

The man who stops his little "ad" is not so very wise, he said! Because his advertisements tell the public what he has to sell. And if his "ad" is not on deck, the people pass him up, by heck! And none of them will hesitate to trade with merchants up-to-date. To stop your "ad" we would remark is just like winking in the dark. You may know what it means, but see. Nobody else can ever see. So do not for a moment think that when you cut out printer's ink you're saving money on the side. 'Tis merely business suicide.

What liar at once and slave invented the idea and name of "sour old maids"? They are amongst the most charming, the most sympathetic and the wittiest of women. Watching or reading of so many domestic brabbings and battlings some folks may cynically assert that perhaps these attaching unattached are also among the wisest.

We wish to draw the attention of our readers to the page ad of the H. S. Falls Co., in this week's issue. Vacating the Old Store Prices. Everyone who avails themselves of this opportunity of visiting this store during this period will find the prices to suit their pocket book. They are perfectly astounding. Don't miss reading one item.

The Toronto Mail and Empire puts in a word for the imposition of a special penalty on any person who while under the influence of liquor operates a motor boat. The suggestion is timely. Railway engineers who run a train while intoxicated, and drunken chauffeurs who operate machines are liable to a heavy fine. Then why not motor boat men? If there is not a law to meet their case there should be one.

Some of the dealers and farmers in this locality are now reaping the results of their folly in holding back on the potato supply during the winter. The report was published in the Record several times that the high price of potatoes was due to fact that none were to be had. This statement was made by us in good faith, as our information came from a usually reliable source. The price rose to $2.25 per bag, and even then the market was not flooded. Now that new potatoes are coming in, and old ones are sprouting and spoiling from being held too long for high figures, they are on the market and sellers are glad to get rid of them at 90c—quite a come down from $2.25.

A widower residing in a small town in Ontario decided that a second marriage would be a wise proceeding on his part, and, having won the consent of the lady, who had captured his mature affections, he undertook to inform his small son aged ten of the approaching wedding. The latter listened to the account of the charms of the new mamma, and after his father had concluded his "explanation," the youngster remarked with complacency: "Well, after all, father, I guess it's the best thing we can do."

To have carried out some one purpose or design during twenty or thirty years, to have contributed sensibly to the happiness of others, or to have kept a family together; to have obtained a fair share of this world's goods; to have added something real, if not very great, to the stock of human knowledge; to have been a good teacher, to have succeeded in a profession and yet to have risen above it; whoever seeks or obtains any of these aims cannot be said to have lived in vain; as the world goes, he may fairly claim to be called a successful man.

What might have proved a very serious accident happened to three young ladies of town on Tuesday afternoon when Miss Lenora Allen, Ann Allen and Jessie Smith were driving to A. Falls. When opposite Jas. Williamson, the horse became frightened at some object along the roadside and without any warning made a dash across the road throwing all three out of the buggy, damaging it and destroying the harness. Fortunately the young ladies, with the exception of Miss Lenora Allen who had a few bruises on her head, escaped with only a shaking up.

No cultivated berry ever had the flavor of the wild ones—not the small wild berries which grow in the sun, but those which grow red and sweet and big as one's thumb in the high grass of Apple orchards. Bass will bite, trout will rise to flies, and the rivers of the north country will still run cold and clear for the canoes of sportsmen. Not all the joys of life depend on the possession of any considerable wealth.

If you have a dog, and if your dog has fleas beyond a reasonable amount, do not muss yourself and dog all up with flea powders and other dope. Take your vacuum cleaner if you have one, to your dog—otherwise, take the dog to the cleaner and go over him well with the suction end of the cleaner.

If his hair is not too long and curly the fleas will be removed to the bag of the vacuum cleaner, much to their surprise and much to the dog's relief.

Do not be so busy in the summer time as to miss its beauty. Some women are so industrious during July and August that they remember the summer with a weary sigh and the reflection: "It was so painfully hot and I had so much to do."

If there is any time of the year when the simple life is a duty, it is in these days when the mercury is mourning in a merciless fashion. A busy housewife may here remark: "It's all very well to say that; the work must be done." However it is just as well to consider how much of the work is foolish and unnecessary—such as could be dispensed with.

What do you men know of women's work?" fiercely queried the lady orator. "Is there a man here," she continued, folding her arms, "that has day after day got up in the morning, gone quietly downstairs, made the fire, cooked his breakfast, sewed the missing buttons on the children's clothes, cleaned the pots and kettles, and swept the kitchen? If there is such a man in this audience, let him rise up; I should like to see him." In the rear of the hall a mild-looking man in spectacles, in obedience to the summons, timidly arose. He was the husband of the eloquent speaker. It was the first time he had ever had a chance to assert himself.

The awfully sudden death of a prominent and wealthy broker at Toronto when his motor car was ditched at a speed admitted to be more than twenty miles an hour, is one of a class of accidents all too frequent. Rural roads in Ontario are not fit for high speeding, and so long as car owners and their chauffeurs take such risks there will be every now and then a tragedy to record. The Toronto man was thrown forty feet and was instantly killed; since his death, in a similar accident near Lindsay, another car owner escaped loss of life by the good luck that he was thrown only twelve feet. Such accidents seem to have little effect in checking the "scorchers."

Newspaper Laws

1.—A postmaster is required to give notice by letter, returning the paper does not answer the law when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office and state the reason for its not being taken. Any neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.

2.—If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.

3.—Any person who takes a paper out of the Post Office, whether directed to his name or not, or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the payment.

4.—If a subscriber orders his paper stopped and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it out of the Post Office. This proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5.—The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the Post Office or removing leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

Raspberry Social

The weather man acted in a very unkind manner toward the Methodist people on Wednesday last. The rain fell in torrents all day, but toward evening it cleared off and although not as large a crowd as would have otherwise turned out had the weather been more favorable, a goodly number were in attendance. The tables were laden with abundance of good things and everyone did ample justice to the delicacies provided both at the tables and the booths. An interesting and varied program was rendered. The addresses were quite instructive and much appreciated. The Henderson orchestra of Simcoe rendered excellent music. The readings by Miss Gertrude Werner of Chesapeake Wm. Harrop and Thomas Butcher; also the singing by John Long were well delivered and brought forth much applause. Miss Shirley Inez Rodgers held the entire assemblage throughout her entire renditions. She has the voice and sings with a range and a power, which is marvelously sweet and delicate, also with sympathy or intensity as occasion requires until one grants her all the merit that has been awarded her in public esteem. With her beautiful voice a high price is bound to be hers in the world of music. Miss Ethel Snyder captivated the entire audience with her singing and unaffected manner. She is possessed of a sweet, yet penetrating soprano voice, wonderful expression and perfect enunciation. We predict a brilliant future for Miss Snyder. The duet by Misses Snyder and Rodgers "Oh, that we two were maying" was highly appreciated and made a great impression on their hearers. Taken as a whole the tea and program was a success, the proceeds amounting to $124.—Com.
