The weekly market reports and doings of Farm Conventions are two things that every farmer should, in his own interest, read carefully. The Weekly Sun, Toronto, the farmer's business paper, is away in the lead of all others when it comes to looking after the farmer's interests. To the farmer it is worth many times the subscription price.

A conductor on an electric railway operating out of Hamilton told a group of passengers the other day that he had worked seven days a week ever since last spring, and often late into the night. A motor-man on a New York State electric line has complained that he has not had a holiday, Sunday or Monday, for several years. Under the pressure of modern life the one day's rest in seven has slipped away from tens of thousands and the danger is that it will be lost altogether to ever increasing numbers of toilers.
The Sabbath day's cessation from labor is the most valuable institution of our civilization. Without it life is scarcely worth the living to hard working men and women. For the sake of the million every effort should be put forth to save it from selfish employers, selfish corporations and other vandals.

Ain't it Fine To-day

Sure, this world is full of trouble—I ain't said it ain't, Lord! I've had enough, an' double Reason for complaint.
Rain an' storm have come to fret me, Skies were often gray;
Thorns and brambles have beset me
On the road—but say,
Ain't it fine to-day?

What's the use of always weepin', Makin' trouble last?
What's the use of always keepin' Thinkin' of the past?
Each must have his tribulation, Water with his wine,
Life, it ain't no celebration, Trouble! I've had mine—But to-day is fine!

It's to-day that I am livin', Not a month ago;
Havin' losin' takin' givin', As time wills it so.
Yesterday a cloud of sorrow Fell across the way,
It may rain again to-morrow,
It may rain, but say,
Ain't it fine to-day?

DIED—In Woodhouse, on Wednesday, Nov. 6, 1912, Elizabeth Wallace Kirkwood, beloved wife of Wellington Hocking, in the 25th year wood, Lynn Valley, at 2 p. m., to Oakwood Cemetery.

A gentleman stepped in the office a few days ago and wrote out a local, which was nothing short of an advertisement. When told there was a charge, he replied "Why I take your paper." We wonder if he were to purchase a barrel of apples or a crock of butter from the same gentleman would he give us half a barrel of apples or two or three pounds of butter gratis, were we to ask him? NIT. Just because a man is a subscriber to the paper it does not entitle him to use the columns for free advertising.

When we rendered our accounts a few weeks ago we knew that mostly all of them would be paid. But isn't it funny: those whom we thought would be the most likely to respond to the appeal were the very ones that ignored it, while those whom we did not expect a ready response were the first ones to come to our aid. We sincerely thank those who have paid their back subscription and also renewed for another year. Our list will be changed next week and we would like to see the date after each name marked to "14. Friend do your part and we will do ours.

"It pays to advertise," said Mark Twain. When I was editing the Virginia City Enterprise, writing copy one day and mining the next, I tried to force this truth in many ways. "A superstitious subscriber once wrote and said he had found a spider on his paper. Was this good or bad luck? I replied to him in our Answers to Correspondents' column as follows: "Old Subscriber: The finding of a spider your copy of the Enterprise was neither good luck or bad. The spider was merely looking over the pages to find out what merchant was not advertising, so that it could spin its web across door and lead a free and undisturbed existence forever after."

In a country town, the newspaper reporters have two rules: When a bachelor goes into a barber shop and orders a shampoo in addition to a shave, he is about to be married; and when a woman orders extra cream of the milkman, the reporter expect a party.

Celery appears to be a good crop this season. As there is always a good market for this excellent vegetable it is rather surprising that more of it is not grown especially for winter use. It is not difficult to grow and does not take up much room besides the demand for it is more or less constant at least half the year.

Canadians are taking up the idea of using the schoolhouses as community centres. The schoolhouses, it is needless to say, are owned by the people, and if they can be used for any purpose whatever they will give the people recreation of education, than they should be so used.
Lectures, concerts, debating clubs, classes for adults—all these the school house could be used for to great advantage, especially in the rural districts, where they have no concert halls or opera houses.

The horses are safe in the barn or pasturage after dark. So are the cows. Even the fowls are safely housed and locked in. But where are the children of the home after dark? Are they safely housed.
Do their parents know just where they are? If asked, many a father and many a mother would say, "We don't know! They may be at a neighbor's, they may be at church, they may be at a picture show, or they may be on the street, but the parents do not know. They may be learning something of what true manhood and true womanhood is, or they may be taking lessons in youthful depravity from precocious but all too capable teachers, but the parents do not know. If anyone on earth is responsible for the welfare of those children, it is the father and mother. And if damage comes to those children because of thoughtlessness or carelessness those parents will stand condemned in the sight of man.

Governor Wilson received about six and a half million votes, Colonel Roosevelt over four million, and Mr. Taft nearly three million. Woman suffrage carried in four States —Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Arizona—thus making ten States where the equal franchise exists.
Only one State, Wisconsin, rejected woman suffrage. Of the States where the question was voted on three were for Wilson, and five out of six of the States where women had the vote went against Roosevelt.

What we bring under the category of locals that should be paid for are notices of events about to happen at which a charge for admission is imposed. Of course if the said event is advertised in our col-among the local paragraphs free.

We want all the news you can send us, and please send it in to this office as soon after the occurrence as possible. We can't do all the work on the day of publication.

We love the man with the rose on the tongue; the man who sees the boy's dirty face, but mentions his bright eyes; who notices your shabby coat, but praises your studious habits; the man who sees all faults, but who is quick to praise and slow to blame. We like to meet a man whose smile will brighten up deadness; whose voice is full of the music of the birds; whose hand-shake is an inspiration. He makes us forget our troubles as the raven's croak is forgotten when the woodthrush sings. God bless the man here and we need no increase of it.

This year as last and as in years

The death took place on Sunday morning last of Alice Ann Roulston, of Hagersville, widow of John Roulston. The funeral took place on Tuesday at 1.30 o'clock and proceeded to the Hagersville cemetery for interment.

The frequent chronicling of sudden deaths lends some to infer that such cases are startlingly on the increase. Far more likely, however, that it is but an indication of the ever-increasing facility in the dissimulation of news.

You "wait for your change" after Wouldn't be a thrifty habit not to thrif on a par with not waiting for Statistics supply a very satisfactory bill of health in Ontario for October. More than anything else it denotes the successful fight being waged against tuberculosis.

Loss of life through diphtheria and other communicable diseases is also commendably less.

Because a flock of wild geese flew over a northern Ontario town the hed safe betting material.

interesting and helpful. At the morning service also Wm. Macbell referred briefly to the provincial S. S. convention, held recently in Hamilton.

Topic for to-night service, "The claims of British India and its Debt to the Missionary." John Hunwick will have interesting features to be presented will

Death of Charles Lawery

"In the midst of life we are in death."

This old proverb has again been verified in the death of a respected resident of town in the person of Charles Lawery.
It came with startling suddenness to the people of Jarvis as deceased was in his usual health and was out on the streets Friday. On Saturday he was taken with severe peritonitis and although very ill appeared to be holding his own. It was thought advisable to remove him to the hospital at Hamilton. He was all ready with the exception of his coat and hat and was reclining on the bed. When these were brought it was found that death had intervened, the immediate cause being heart failure, the sad event occurring about five o'clock Monday evening, at the home of Wm. Ashbaugh, where he made his home since coming to Jarvis eight years ago. Mr. Lawery was a native of Hamilton, being born there on Feb. 20th, 1850, and for many years was engaged in the pork packing business. He is survived by one brother, H. J. Lawery of Hamilton, and four sisters, Mrs. Hotchkiss, and Mrs. McLelland, Hamilton; Mrs.
Geo. Marshall, Glanville; Mrs. Cryderman of Bowmanville, who attended the funeral on Wednesday, the remains being laid to rest in the English church cemetery, Rev. J. H. Ross officiating. Our sympathy goes out to the sorrowing ones.

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the organized Adult Bible Class of the Methodist Sunday School, was held on Monday evening in the S.S. room. After the devotional exercises an interesting program was presented, the Vice-Pres., Henry Johnson, occupying the chair. Readings were given by Miss Hind, Mr. Hicks, Chas. Walter and Miss Marion Davidson. Ainsley Jackson contributed an instrumental and Mr.
Robertson a vocal solo and the following gave addresses: Messrs. J. J. Parsons, Andrew Rodgers, Joseph Ivey and Wm.
Macbell, Superintendent of the school.
An interesting feature of the address was the reminiscences of Sunday School work given by Mr. Rodgers and Mr. Ivey.
Mr. Rodgers spoke of attending the first Sunday School in Jarvis in 1850 as a little child, when the nearest minister (Anglican) was at York. The late John Mencke was superintendent of the school and would come on foot, a distance of six miles through the bush, with powder horn and rifle, in time for Sunday School service at 9 a.m. In 1870 a Methodist Sunday School was established with the late Squire Heasman as Superintendent. The late John Gowman was referred to by Mr. Ivey as another of the Sunday school workers of the early days whose influence for good is still felt. The pastor, Mr.
Eddy, and the teacher of the class, Miss Johnson, also spoke briefly. Following the program tempting refreshments were liberally served, after which the election of officers for the new year was held, the result being as follows: President, Mr.
Hicks; Vice-Pres., Henry Johnson; Sec'y, Mrs. A. Porter; Treas., Chas. Walter.
Chairman of Committee: Membership, H.
Tunstale; Devotional, W. Banbury; Social, Mrs. W.
