In Advertising

If you took your little tooter and then lay down for a short time, there's no doubt but that you would be a great success. The man who gets the business has a strong and steady pull. He keeps his trade and paper from year to year quite full. He plans his advertisement in a thoughtful and honest way. And keeps for it until he makes it pay.

Sunday last was Michaelmas Day, September 29, the feast of St. Michael and All Angels, which festival was first appointed by Pope Felix III. in 408 A. D. The traditional Michaelmas goose has been traced back as far as the time of Edward IV. There is an old British proverb which says, "If you eat goose on Michaelmas Day you will never want money all the year round."

Nottingham goose fair, which is in past years one of the most cele-often wondered why it was so many people always had so much ready cash. We are also curious to know who ate goose last Sunday as it may have a tendency to swell our subscription list—financially.]

An enterprising publisher in China is about to start the first evening paper in Peking. It will be printed in red, which is supposed to be symbolic of happiness. The color is a decided novelty, but it may be remembered that China has done many curious things in the newspaper line. The China Times of Peking, for instance, began the new century by issuing its paper in seven languages—English, French, German, Italian, Russian, Chinese and Japanese. But it has never done so well as a certain Madrid editor, who—so the story goes—sought popularity by printing his paper on linen, with an ink that easily washed out, so that the reader, after perusing the journal, might apply soap and water, and convert the "rag" into a handkerchief.

Tell Your Friends

Who are not taking THE RECORD, that we will send it to them from now until Jan. 1st, 1913 for 25 cents, or from now to Jan. 1st, 1914 for $1.00. This is the best offer we ever have made to new subscribers, nearly a year and a half for a dollar. That is cheaper than either borrowing it, or going without it. This would be a good time to start sending it to that son or daughter of yours who has left home. You couldn't spend a dollar on them in any other way, that would give them as much pleasure. It is almost as cheap as paying the postage each week, where you send your own copy trouble. Remember $1.00 buys THE RECORD from now to Jan. 1st, 1914, to any new subscriber in Canada.

A New Postmaster

A. M. Williamson, postmaster in Jarvis for the past two years has resigned and his resignation has been accepted.
E. F. Jones, who carried on a general merchandise business here for a number of years but who recently disposed of same to J. F. Smith, has been selected to fill the vacancy. The transfer of the of-

Obituary

Sad indeed were the news that flashed over the wires on Tuesday to the effect that a bright young life had been brought to a close and rarely ever has the death of a child so deeply touched the hearts of the whole community as did that of Allen Cox, young son of Geo. Cox. The little fellow was suddenly taken ill just one short week ago, but the promptest and most careful measures that medical skill could suggest were unremittingly applied.
On the advice of the physician it was deemed advisable that he be removed to the General Hospital, Hamilton, to which place he was taken on Wednesday of last week. Thursday an operation for acute osteomyelitis was performed which was successful, the little chap seeming quite bright, but other complications set in and he died on the above day. Although but about nine years of age he was wonderfully popular with his school mates, and to-day they mourn the death of their little companion. In the home where he was beloved with his death he more keenly felt and to the sorrow-stricken family we offer our genuine sympathy. The funeral takes place Thursday to the Methodist church cemetery, Jarvis.

METHODIST CHURCH

The Rally Day service Sunday morning was both interesting and inspiring.
"Building a Nation for God" being the subject considered throughout the varied exercises. The flags dropped over the organ, and the Union Jack and the bearing the cross and this inscription, "By this Sign Conquer" were peculiarly appropriate for the occasion. The address by Mr. Hicks, principal of the school, on "The Message of the Flag" was exceedingly interesting and instructive.

The week-night service is withdrawn for this week.

The pastor will preach morning and evening next Sunday (Oct. 6)

The meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs.

Scrap tin is an unsightly article, much of which was formerly consigned to the dump, as a valueless by-product. It will surprise many, therefore, to learn that over forty tons of it were transported within the year from British Columbia canneries to be used in the construction of toys by German workmen.

On a busy day a woman walked into the office of the court rooms at Atlantic, Ga., and, addressing Judge Blank, said: "Are you the to you because I am in trouble.

My husband was studying to be a minister at a logical seminary, and he died of a fever, and left three little orphans, and I have come to be appointed their executioner."

Death of John Wodham

Death has been ever present with us, but there are cases which touch our softer natures more than at other times and yet how comforting it is when life's dream is about to close, that friends can resign themselves to the hand of affliction, when they learn that their loved one is passing away possessing the full hope of a risen Saviour, and that with him they are soon to abide. Such was the case on Sunday last Mr. John Wodham having answered the final call. Although deceased had not been enjoying good health for the past few months, yet his death was unlooked for; he was moving among us just a few days ago, to night he sleeps the sleep that knows no waking, the immediate cause of death was the final breaking up of the entire system. Mr. Wodham, who was in his 80th year, first saw the light of day in Yorkshire, England, and when a young man of nineteen with a bright and buoyant spirit, and feeling that better chances awaited a strong and rugged man such as he was, he emigrated to this country, settling near Simcoe. At that time indeed it was but a wilderness then with few roads, but heaving out a spot to build a home on and gathering a few comforts around him that usually go with a pioneer life he went to work with heart and will. About fifty-three years ago he took unto himself a helpmate in the person of Helen Moyer, and together they toiled, enduring many hardships, but despite all they were happy and enjoyed their union. Six children blessed their union, being Charles, Cyrus, Mary, (Mrs. Bugner) Annie, (Mrs.
Thompson) Preilla, (Mrs. Culver) and John. Some twelve years ago Mr. Wod-ham came to Walpole township, settling on Lot 9, Con. 8, where he resided up to the time of his demise. His wife predeceased him seven years ago. He was a man who coveted little the honors of a public life and felt more at home on his farm. Highly honored and respected, a staunch friend and good true neighbor; a model husband and an indulgent parent, thus his death will be keenly felt. The funeral took place Tuesday morning at 9 a.m., the remains being interred in the family plot, Oakwood cemetery, Simcoe.
Service at the house and grave was conducted by Rev. A. C. Edger, B.D. The following acted as pallbearers: Richard Roberts, Frank Lofthouse, George Vane, L. Hazlett, Richard Lofthouse and James Davidson. Our sympathy goes out to the bereaved family in their hour of sorrow.

Harvest Thanksgiving Services

On Thursday last St. Paul's church congregation held their annual Harvest Thanksgiving services and tea. The tea was served from 5.30 to 7.30 in the school room when about 150 sat down to a sumptuous repast provided by the ladies of the congregation. At 8 o'clock the same evening when the church was beautifully decorated with fruit, grain and flowers.
Special music was rendered by the choir, who appeared very fit and becoming in their new choir caps, now worn for the first time.

The special preacher was the Rev. T.
G. Wallace, M.A., of St. Stevens' church, Toronto. Mr. Wallace is an eloquent young Irish divine and he gave a most excellent sermon, founding his discourse from St. Luke 8-5. He first congratulated the congregation upon the beautiful way in which they had decorated their church and said what pleasure it was for him to be present on such an occasion and once more meet their pastor, who was an old friend of his. Proceeding to the sermon he showed how our blessed Lord brought home many of his lessons to his disciples by the use of objects around them and by common every day surroundings. The parable of the sower, as it is called, was just such an one, and the central point of application was not the sun, the seed or the moisture but the soil; the soil was universal that throughout the lives of many, the good seed was constantly falling, the growth was stunted and the moisture aided the growth, but the soil was defective, that is, the heart of man is wrong.
The Church in her lectures and prayers Book always had a message for her
