PAYING A NEAT COMPLIMENT. Few ministers were better loved by their flock than Bishop Reese, of Savannah, says the Boston Journal. It is told of him that when he was rector of talking very emphatically to his son.

Dr. Reese called out: 'Hallo, Tom! What are you going to do with that boy of yours?" The old man advanced to the door and mepiled: "What am I going to do with him? Well, I will tell you, doctor; I am going to do with my son what you cannot do with yours.'

"Oh, indeed!" said the doctor, "and pray what is that?" "Why, I'm going to make a better man of him than his father."

THE WORD "PICNIC"

As it Was Defined a Hundred Years Ago.

Few people know the original meaning of the word "picnic." It is to be found set out in the London Times of a hundred years ago:

"A picule supper consists of a variety of dishes. The subscribers to this entertainment have a bill of fare presented to them, with a number against each dish. The lot which he draws obliges him to furnish the dish marked against it, which he either takes with him in his carriage or sends by a servant. The proper variety is preserved by the talents of the maitre d'hotel, who forms the bill of fare. As the cookery is furnished by so many people of fashion, each strives to excel, and thus a picnic supper not only gives rise to much pleasant mirth, but generally can boast of the refinement

Have Strong Opposition in Winnipeg Market.

Mr. Parnell,, Western Market Commissioner of the Department of Agriculture, has made a report which should set Ontario apple shippers thinking. He intimates thhat prices will be lower and that Ontario must look more closely to grading, packing and shipping.

"It looks as if there will be heavy shipments from the Western States. and there will be keen competition for the apple market," he reports. "Representatives of various firms and associations here selling Ontario apples repoor fairly good sales in the country, but city firms are buying light, expecting cheaper apples later on. With the keen competition between East and West it looks as if growers will have to to take lower prices later on. Shippers should exercise great care in packing their apples, as there is an extra staff of inspectors on, who are examining carefully every shipment, and all fruits should come up to the "Fruit Marks Act." Many of our Ontario growers are shipping out fruit that will hold its own with the best in quality, pack and condition on arrival. In other cases, however, too little attention is being a parish he saw one of his parishioners paid to grading and packing. Some varieties of plums and peaches are being shipped here that will not hold up, and are arriving in bad shape, which has a tendency to lower prices of fruit coming in right.

"I would emphasize," adds the commissioner, "that Ontario growers should remember that fruit from British Columbia and the Western States is excellent stock, well graded, well packed, and usually reaches here in first-class condition; so that to compete successfully, although our fruits are acknowledged to be a better quality, Ontario must offer her very best if she expects to control the market."

The Western market was crowded all last week with foreign fruits, which caused quite a drop in press.

ONTARIO APPLES

The New Testament is wholly a string of stupendous facts, about one stupendous Person. In the Gospels fact and doctrine are one. Either Jesus was born of a vergin or he was not; live da sinless life or did not; rose from the dead or never rose; ascended alive into the sky or did not ascend. The Man born of a virgin must be a superhuman Man-a Son of God. The sinless Man, if he died at all, must have given his life for the sin of the world. If he rose and went up, then he must live to save. Facts, do you call these things? But they are more. They are the living seeds of truth with endless power hid in them, and out of them has grown the faith of Christendom. The men who carry this message are earnest men; whether Jesuit missionaries in the early days on this continent, whether Roger Williams, or Henry Martyn, or William Carey. The earnest soul will win the soul. In the early days of Methodism they sent the pressgang to weaken the number of converts, but the press-gang is no more, and how they won victories by press-gang crewse passes my comprehension. Glorious things are spoken of "submerged truth," and the Salvation Army has a bright record. They preach daily in forty languages in sixty countries and colonies: they have more than two million soldiers. They go in light marching order; they avoid the ecclesiastical ways; they march with music, banners and decorations; they have no sacraments of water, bread and wine. Perhaps they are right; they enforce the meaning of these ordinances; perhaps that is enough. Their work is commended and approved.

Miss Eva Booth returned to the Old Country after eight years absence the other day. She says:

"I have just been on a tour through the Southern and Western States. In every city where I spoke, Senators Congressmen, Mayors and ex-Mayors, spoke or sent messages of the most remarkable character, emphasizing over and over again the remark, 'We cannot do without the Salvation Army in America." The press has come to recognize our progress, and cities and States alike subsidize our work, and assist us in other ways.' "The popularity is not a praise of persons, neither is it flattery. It is praise of work done, not a softening of the difficulties of doing it. Take figures, for instance; 15.000 men pass through our industrial homes yearly. Down and out' when they come to us, most of them leave as restored citizens, able to claim the respect and privileges of citizenship. In one workshop there are eixty men who have proved by their changed lives their right to the confidence of those who knew them once as wastreis. Every night, too, we house 13,000 men in our Army hotels who "There are too many Englishmen and English boys as well—who develop. In the presence of a lord, a painful and unnatural modesty. This reminds me of a village tinker:

"This tinker had a rather crusty disposition, and the pastor said to him one in our Army noteis who would otherwise be forced to sleep in undesirable and unsuitable places. Moreover, during the last twelve months our officers have clothed, fed, cared for—and kissed—39,000 little children in creches, kissed-39,000 little children in creches, murseries, holiday homes, and the like. Neglected childhood is one of America's grave problems, and the Army is doing something to solve it.

"Our midnight street meetings reached 22,000,000 people last year, and 8, 500,000 were in our halls. Our Twice-Born Men, as we call them, are as wonderful there as here. We march through the streets of Seattle and the most fashionable quarters of Chicago, and hold midnight gatherings in the open air with marvellous results. Not long ago, for instance, we paraded, 750 strong, dewn Broadway, in New York, at twelve o'clock one night. I spoke from an express wagon to a crowd of 3,000, mostly men, and instead of closing down after half an hour's meeting we went on till nearly 2 a.m., and there were fortysix penitents kneeling round the muddy wheels of the wagon, like seekers at the altar rail of a church. Not a word of mockery or scoffing, either tears and prayers and wonder.

The Salvation Army holds 85,000 meetings every week.

It visits 1,000,000 homes every week. It feeds 270,000 hungry men, women and children every week. Three cheers for the Salvation Army!

EASTER ISLAND

ever undertaken by an explorer, will shortly be begun by W. Scoresby Routlege, a well-known English traveller.
With his wife and a small party, including a navigation officer loaned by the Admiralty, which is taking great interest in the expedition, according to the London Standard, Mr. Routlege will leave England in the Mana a 250-ton motor auxiliary yacht.

The party will attempt to solve the mystery of the wonderful archeol remains of Easter Island, in the South Pacific, and to make a complete survey of the island, which is the farthest outpost of the Polynesian race. The expedition was planned by Mr. Routlege in conjunction with the authorities of the British Museum, who regard it as of considerable importance. On the island, which is about fifty square miles in extent, are immense platforms, facing the sea, formed of arge stones fitted together with cement. Some of these stones weigh five tons; and in places the sea walls are nearly 30 feet high and over 200 feet long. On the land side of the platforms there are broad terraces, on which stood colossal figures carved out of lava from the extinet crater, eight miles away.

On some of the platforms there are upward of a dozen images, now thrown from their pedestals, and lying in all directions. The largest are 37 feet high, but the majority vary from 14 to 16 feet. They are carved in the shape of human beings. Five of the statues were brought to England in 1868, and are now in the British Museum.

On the island are also remains stone houses, 100 feet long by about 20 feet high. It is to discover the origin of these works that Mr. Routlege is going to Easter Island. The present in-habitants of Easter Island know nothing of their construction. By some the theory is held that Easter Island is part of a submerged continent. If this were so it is thought that possibly sufficient manual labor might have been at hand to carry out the work.

WIVES FOR THE WEST

(Kingston Whig.) While we urge our young men to stay in Ontario we are not inconsistent when we suggest to our young women the great prospects ahead of them in the west. At present there is a serious outlook in the suberabundance of men in the Northwest Provinces, and an effort should be made to restore the equality in numbers of the sexes oy publishing wide numbers of the sexes oy publishing widely the facts as to our excess in main population, especially in the Northwest ern Provinces, where one man in three is condemned to bachelorhood because wives are not available. This leads to poor home life and a lowering of morals.
It is a fact that it is not good in any sense for a man to live alone. In Hass land and foreign lands there is a large excess of women over men and these should be encouraged to come to Canads in large numbers.
