

Winsome Winnie

CHAPTER XXXII.

in the pleasant little sitting room with good fruit, instead of apples of Sodom. its open bay window facing the sea, and grown from the soil of an embittered the summer breeze was coming in, rust- spirit and an empoisoned heart. ling the trailing wreaths of white jessamine dropping from tall vases of white go away now, Eustace." and erimson roses, and floating the clouds of white muslin drapery and their pink silk linings and ribbons, looking the party, mamma-stay with Uncle so fresh and festive, as they had been newly hung this morning, when the white vases of crimson roses, the exquisite clusters of pink and white azaleas, the lilies of the valley, and gorgeous crimson, mauve and silver pelargoniums had been added to the ad- dear," she added, more gently; "there ornments of this and the adjoining bed chamber, and resting on brackets, peeping out from between statuettes, reflecting in mirrors, glowing against the white background of Stephen, and the doctor, and a gentlesatin paper, with its gold and maple man like a minister," the precocious mouldings had transformed the rooms, with their gay wealth of beauty, their drooping eilken petals, their velvety with a slight laugh - there is a new green leaves, and their heaven-dyed, aunt coming." ting into pleasant summer bowers.

"It looks fit for a bridal!" Lady Mildred said, with genuine womanly satisfaction in her work. "Ciel!" she cried-"it looks as if miladi were a spirit, who had worked one grand charm over this old chateau before so triste."

What are all the flowers for? Mamma, what are all the flowers for?" his small lordship, Eustace Mountrevor, demanded, in intense curiosity.

terious siek lady, who spoke to him so gundy, and kissed him so softly, and showed him pretty pictures when he was allowed to go into her room, had altogether had a most tranquillizing effect on the young gentleman's turbu-

He had taken to his "uncle Stephen." he called him, with wonderful affection also; but the fear of being deprized of a romp or a walk with him. being consigned to Jeanneton and the terrible black-and-white crucifix, of worthy, where he was so constantly shut up in his mother's suit of rooms, would have been sufficient in itself to make him more careful in the matter of temper and obedience. Poor child, like many another human nature grown hateful, distorted, dangerous to itself and those who come in contact with it, his needed but the remogal of the warping process, the gentle touch of a guiding hand, the sweet air of freedom, a gleam of the sunshine of love, to make it spring up fair and exhausted at times and cannot de- beautiful rosy cheeks, and she was smilvote real energy to your work. Sleep does not rest you and you wake up feeling "all tired out." Perhops rheumatism is flying through peaches and nectarines on a silver salvyour muscles and joints, or may be your skin is disfigured by rashes, boils or pimples. Headaches, twinger of neuralgia, fits of nervousness, irritability of temper and a disordered stomach often increase your discomfort was coming? in the spring.

REPLENISH YOUR BLOOD IN THE SPRING

The cause-winter has left its mark on you. These troubles are signs that your blood is poor and watery, that your nerves are exhausted. You must renew and enrich your blood at once and restore tone to your tired nerves, or there may be a complete breakdown. The most powerful remedy for these spring ailments in men, women and children is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, because these Pills cleanse bad blood and strengthen weak nerves.

New, rich, red blood-your greatest need in spring-is plentifully created Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and with this new, pure blood in your veing you quickly regain health and increase your strength. Then your skin becomes clear, your eyes bright, your nerves strong, and you feel better, eat better, sleep better, and are able to do your work.

Begin your spring tonic treatment today for the blood and nerves with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the Pills strengthen. These Pills are sold by most dealers, but do not be persuaded to take "something just the same." If you ean't get e genuine Pills from your dealer they will be sent you by mail, post gaid, at one of the sick lady's little white, thin hands, on which glittered a bright thick flourishing and sound to the core, ready There was a small group assembled to blossom hereafter, and bring forth "Hush!" his mother said. "You must

"Are you going to have a party?" he inquired, wistfully. "Mightn't I say for

"Uncle Stephen doesn't want you at the party," Lady Mildred said, a suppressed smile breaking over her face; "he wouldn't have you here on any account. Go away-go away now, my are gentlemen coming upstairs. By-and- suffering and enduring devotion love by uncle Stephen will let you in, per-

"There's nobody coming but uncle youngster persisted. "Oh, yes, there is," said Lady Mildred,

"A new aunt-your aunt, ma. aunt Viv'an? Is it aunt Viv'an, mamma?"

"No," said his mother-"it is aunt Tredennick."

ebullition of his young lordship's angry grief at being excluded from the party and his "uncle Stephen's" society, "who would have let him in if he had seen him—he knew uncle Stephen father, he had a child's intense reveren-He had been allowed for these last he dared, in his disappointment.

see you, my little one a fete —une fete she had learned that her worst apprema as to me behavior; and the unpresence, as well as that of the mys- of the guests or the music, or the beautiful reses."

"There are," said Lord Eustace, doggedly. "Mamma had on her blue silk, and the beautiful white thing that she wore at a party one time."

Half an hour afterwards his lordship Eustace Mountrevor was more thor- shabby dresses, and exhort against any were possible of the correctness of his own information and the absurdity of Jeanneton's misrepresentation, when, on cautiously and cleverly eluding her vigilance, he rushed upstairs, and soft-white gloves. "Uncle Stephen" was in an elegant morning costume. Doctor

Loke wore white gloves, so did another bald-headed gentles man with gilded anchor buttons and gold braid on his coat, and the minister looking gentleman had on the very some long, white gown he wore in church. Even the sick lady was raised up on her pillows, and, wearing a large, soft jacket of pale rose satin and cash mere, with a spray of white flowers in pleasant, jovial, retired army major and a gold clasp, and with her pretty hair, cut so short, in bright little rings and curls, and a few long, silky, brown ringlets straying on her shoulders, looked Just now you are feeling "out of almost well, her eyes were so bright and dark, and her white face had such beautiful rosy cheeks, and she was smiling. Indeed, they were all smiling, and Offensive Breath Caused the room was all decorated with flowers, and there were heaps of splendid er, and macaroons and jelly, and a champagne bottle and glasses. Of A Simple Remedy Discovered That course, it was a party-they were having a party with the sick lady: but where was the new aunt he had heard

> "Oh, you terrible child, what brings you here?" his mother said; but she faughed, and, thus encouraged, little Eustage erept farther, getting near kind "uncle Stephen." who never found fault with him, or sent him away. "Come, Eustace." Lady Mildred interposed come with me. dear: you cannot stay

"Oh, let me stav, unele Stephen-let me stay!" Enstace entreated, getting behind "uncle Stephen's" chair, and crushing himself close into the mustin curtains of the bed with surprising adroitness. "I stay with you-with you and Miss Tarelyon,' he added, as a happily-persuasive after-thought: "Miss Tarelyon will show me pictures won't you. Miss Tarefvon?"

"That's not Miss Caerlyon, von tittle goose!" his mother interposed, entehing firm hold of his arm. "Some, Eustace. like a good boy, and you shall sit at lunchean with me."

"Oh, let me stay!" Eustace whimpered, upiteously, afraid to make any louder demonstration of displeasure because of his mother. "I'l sitay with Uncle Stephen and Miss Tarelvin!"

"This is, not Miss Cherryon, my boy." said "Uncle Stephen," gently, taking writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine On, gold ring—"she is not Miss Caerlyon and ring—she is not Miss Caerlyon wife. Kiss her, my little fellow; she is your aunt now "That is your new aunt who I told you was coming, Eustace," said his mother, smiling, as she drew the bewildered child away-that is your aunt-Winnie Tredennick, my dear."

And then they all went away out of the beautiful, luxurious, invalid-chamber the father, the physician, the minister, Lady Mildred and her child, the assistants and witnesses of that strange, sad bridal-and left Stephen Tredennick and his wife alone together.

Alone together they spent their lives the brave, tender-hearted sailor and the frail gentle little woman, who had loved him so faithfully and well. It was a life so strange, so pathetic in its sadness and tenderness, in the burden of deep affliction laid on the husband and his beloved suffering wife, and borne so cheerfully, so patiently, by both in their deep mutual love, as to move to pity and admiring friendship all who ever knc the brave captain of the Chittoor and his heroine-love, who had laid down her youth and life for him. Even Henry, Lord Yountrevor, condoning with some difficulty the messaliance of his wife's cousin, and privately informing his intimate acquaintances at the club and elsewhere that he short not worder at anything Tredennick of Tregarthen did the was always a doubtle eccentric fellow"-: tually honoral Tregarthen l'ouse with a visit or some ten ays in the autumn, and. meeting Lieutenant Caerlyon there at dinner, with pretty. vain Sarah, his second daughter, radiant in white tarletane and peach ribbons, changed his mind totally, declared Caerlyon to be a decent fellow, and quite gentlemanly, and Tredennick's wife's relations nice people enough: while, as for the frail, little white-faced woman, lying on the sofa upstairs, he said, with a shiver, that she was uncommonly like a little wax figure, that would break if one attempted to handle it, but a mild. sweet-faced little creature, and that it was a terrible pity for Tredennick-the poor fellow seem ed so fond of his little dying wife. His wife. Lady Mildred, and his son were with him, and that ten days' visit to the home so sanctified by patient taught the worldly-hardened husband and the cold wife a lesson. He grew more softened and sincere with the dawning-glimmer of a belief in the possibility of wedded love and womanly truth and constancy; and she, gravr, gentler and more patient. Her husband's sincere respect and liking for Stephen, his pity and admiration of Winnie Tredennick, gave them a common ground of friendly feeling and converse; and their child, who, as her It was poor, long-suffering, loving bond of union between cousin had arged, should be a Jeanneton who had to suffer from the father and mother, had ceased at least to be the unhappy cause of discord.

Poor little Eustace was rather afraid of both his parents, but, whilst he was would," he cried, howling as loudly as tial admiration of his beautiful mother. We days to stay at Tregarthen with "Hush, hush, mon cheri!" Jeanneton his mother, after certain strict warn-He feared her most, but he would have friendship, had been a strong motive in of micro-organisms since it contains, Madam Vivian, from the hour in which hensions with regard to her nephew's intentions towards the woman who had saved his life-the very worst, in madam's estimation-were to be speedily realized, and that her former little pet stead of cold Frenchified elegance, amidet protege, companion and amenuensis, her which to end our days." poor little tyrannized-over favorite, whom she used to scold for wearing attempts at fashion or extravagance in will see fit not to cut me off in the the same breath almost, was to be exalted to a position which she would have awarded to the fairest, wealthiest, bestborn of the land—her nephew's wife, the will doubtless outlive me by a good many which he was so much afraid, and the ly opening the door of that pretty sit-nicks of Tregarthen-from that hour tingroom on the first floor, with its Madam Vivian made no sign or overture rose-colored hangings, crept quietly in. of forgiveness, reconciliation or friending her beautiful party-dress of blue hold and her more intimate friends were white net and Limerick lace, with a the evoking of her haughty displeasure, well aware that, if they would avoid they must mention not even the names of Caerlyon or Tredennick in her learing.

"They are all one now," she said, in cold scorn; "and I do not care to hear of the Caerlyons of Tregarthen. It is a new thing on the earth, and suits neither my ideas nor my inclinations." Eventually she quitted Roseworthy for an indefinite time, allowing friends of her own to become its tenants-a his wife and daughters, who, for their part, cared very little about the story of Stephen Tredennick's megalliance, and having a good deal of kindly currosity on the subject, were speedily on terms

Usually

Cures Without Drugs.

The American people suffer from Catarrh than from any other disease. It undermines more constitutions and creates more sickness than all other diseases combined. It is, therefore, very dangerous. You can't successfully treat Catarrh by interest dosing-you must in some w aysend a purifying, healing agent through the breathing organe, so that arranged a booktray and readingthe germs can be reached. This you do every time you inhale Catarrhozone. It's rich essences and healing balsams are breathed all, through the a proven fact

"I endorse Catarrhozone because I know of six bad cases of Catarrh, including my own, that it has cured. It is a sensible remedy because it is capable of going where the disease is. I believe it eures quicker than other remedy beeause it gets sooner to the source of the disease than anything else I know of. I had headaches, bad breath, and much stomach trouble associated with my Catarra, but they have disappeared since using Catarrhozone, which keeps me free from colds, headaches, catarrh and all winter ills." Otto E. Kramer, Belleville, Catarrhozone is needed in home. Large size lasts 2 months, price $1.00; small size, 50e; trial size, 25e. At all storekeepers and druggists any more she is your Uncle Stephen's Y., and Kingston, Canada. or The Catarrhogone Co., Buffalo,

ECZEMA FROM HEAD TO ANKLES

Tortured With Terrible Itching and Burning. Scratched Until Tore Flesh. Lay Awake for Nights at a Time. Used Cuticura Remedies and Found a Cure.

St. Ola, Ontario.—"When I was ten years old I began to be tortured with a terrible itching and burning of the skin, and was told it was eczema. I have had it right along for seven years steady, it getting worse every year. I was affected from head to ankles. It seemed to appear like hives at first, then I would begin to scratch until I tore my flesh. It would always be at its worst at night. I have waked myself up at nights scratching and my fingers would be just stiff and cramped from scratching, so that I would be hardly able to straighten. them out. My, how I have suffered! My face and whole body would be just a mass of blotches red as fire and after having soap and water on my face then I would begin to burn. I have lain awake for nights at a time when my eczema was at its worst.

"I would be tortured for months at a time. I was getting not only disheartened, for nothing helped, but completely disfigured also, but dame fortune smiled upon me one day in the summer of 1910 and laid before my eyes an advertisement of Cuticura Remedies. I used them according to directions and after a few applications I began to feel and see relief ahead. It is nearly aix months since I first began and I can truthfully say I've found a cure." (Signed) Miss Louise E. Wilson, Dec. 12, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. For a liberal free sample of each, with 32-p. book, send post card to Potter Drug & Chem. Corn., Dent. 38D, Boston. U. S. A.

of intimacy with the master of Tregarthen and its gentle little mistress.

CHAPTER XXXIII. AND LAST. One year-two years-three years had passed away since the morning of Stephen's and Winifred's bridal. The major and his wife and daughters had resigned their tenancy of Roseworthy, having inherited a house and landed property of their own in the Midland counties, and the old mansion, with its old servants, remained unoccupied during the summer months, the domestics not knowing if they must prepare to receive strange tenants again, or their own rightful mistress, when unexpectedly ,to their great joy, they had notice of her arrival from her continental home, which notice Madam Vivian followed six hours afterwards in person, accompanied still by Miss Trewhella. Indeed that worthy person's discontent at foreign ways and foreign languages, and, worst of all, the perfidy of a foreign gentleman with whom she had formed a sensational

"Trewhella and I are getting old," madam said, maliciously indifferent to the sensitive abigail's amour propre on the subject of her years and appearance; both prefer English cosy comfort, in-

"Reely, madam, reely," Miss Trewhella said, trembling with indigattion, "I trust I reely trust, madam that 'evin prime of life!"

"I trust so, too," returned her mistrees, with provoking urbanity; "you years for you are twenty years younger than I am but you are growing an old woman for all that, Trewhella."

Perhaps she was, and perhaps it was the longing desire for English featherbeds, and English coal fires, and fragrant black ten, and spicy gossip with old English acquaintances that had led her to regard in such bitter disfavor continental abodes and fare and friends alike. Certain it is that Miss Trewhella, from time to time kept her mistress well posted as to the melancholy state of her mind and nerves and health, proceeding tion, with a threatening of melancholy as far as incipient symptoms of consumpmadness, and a strong suspicion of disease of the heart which signs and symptoms all gradually but surely increased and assumed aggravated forms until the day of her starting on the return journey to England.

"She is getting old, and her health is breaking, poor thing," said Madam to herself, with real compassion; "we both want rest and peace in a quiet old English home."

But there was another desire at the bottom of her heart—a desire at the a lonely longing—which because Are You Droopy. a lonely longing—which Madam Vivian would not even acknowledge to herself as one of the disposing causes of her return from the villa in the Lower Pyrenees to the old Cornish mansion at Roseworthy. She would not even allow it to herself now, on the day of her return, when she sat in the old handsome green drapery and ornaments, so carefully preserved by her faithful old ! servants, and looking out, with eyes that grew so dim with the ready emotion of age, on the distant Head of Tregarthen and the memories it conjured desk which she had just unwrapped from paper, "they do say-cook, at least, as knows her so long-that Mrs. nose, throat and lungs, and effectively. well, and she " but instantly she Stephen Tredennick has grown nearly was stopped by the quick turn of her mistress head and her haughty warning glance.

"I declare, Mrs. Grose," the waiting-woman said, afterwards. in confidential discourse, "Madam haven't altered her mind a bit!"

She had not altered her mind, Madam told herself, with cool sternness: she had not altered her mind respecting the impropriety the absurdity, the utter the daytime, but hustling for the mighty madness and sacrifice of the unhappy dollar and getting fun out of life every ed, generous Stephen had made, or the selfishness and ambition which had built and rejuvenated my entire system." him. Well, she pitied him-her poor boy Stephen. It was a generous, noble to sleep sound and look your best, thing of him to do quixotic, absurd in nothing can help like Dr. Hamilton's the extreme, of course, but generous, pills, 25c. per box, five for $1.00, at sill self-sacrificing, brave. Poor Stephen! To druggists and storekeepers, or nostpaid a poor, little crippled creature! Poor

In spite of her worldly heart, many a time during those three years her bet-ter nature had uttered, with softened, pitying feeling, "Poor Stephen! poor Winnie!"

She had not altered her mind now she etrenuously declared; only -well. she must see her poor nephew and be reconciled to him before she died —reconciled to Winnie also; what was done could not be undone she would be reconciled to Stephen and to Stephen's poor, little, afflicted wife. Death-bed reconciliations were but cowardly things, like death-bed charities after a selfish life. Madam Vivian wisely said; would be reconciled now, ere she lay

(To be Continued.)

TO LIMIT NAVAL CONSTRUCTION.

(Chicago Tribune) So long as Great Britain can and will outbid other nations in naval maintenance, the suggestions of the British government to limit construction by international agreements will be reasonable and wise. Germany's formal reply always is that the German navy is not being developed to challenge the British but merely to meet the needs of the Ger-man empire and Great Britain, formally accepting this explanation as satisfactory, increase the number of battleships on her programme

Churchill's new suggestion that the churchin's new suggestion that the building programme for 1914 be abandoned undoubtedly is born of the hope that the expenses of the increased German army establishment will incline the German government to reasonableness for a year or two in naval affairs.

or two in naval affairs.

If Germany were able by building to push Great Britain to the wall, exhaust the British resources, and obtain supremacy on the sea, German statesmanship might insist that no sacrifice was too great to get this result. But Great Britain protesting segment the west and great to get this result. But Great Britain, protesting against the waste and extravagance of competitive building, carries her end of the burden resolutely and Germany is but little further advanc-ed no matter how costly the efforts.

How to Conquer Rheumatism at Your Own Home

If you or any of your friends suffer from rheumatism, kidney disorders or excess of uric acid, causing lameness, backcess of uric acid, causing lameness, backache, muscular pains; stiff, painful swollen joints, pain in the limbs and feet: dimness of sight, itching skin or frequent neuralgic pains. I invite you to send for a generous Free Trial Treatment of my well-known, reliable Chronicure, with references and full particulars by mail (This is no C. O. D. scheme.) No matter how many may have failed in your case. how many may have failed in your case, let me prove to you, free of cost, that rheumatism can be conquered. Chronicure succeeds where all else fails, Chronicure succeeds where all else fails are succeeded as a succeed where all else fails are succeeded as a suc cure succeeds where an else tails. Clittle cleanses the blood and removes the caure. Also for a weakened, run-down caure. Also for a weakened, run-down cause. Also for a weakened, run-down condition of the system you will find Chronicure a most satisfactory general tonic that makes you feel that life if worth living. Please tell your friends this liberal offer, and send to-day for large free package to MRS. M. SUM-MERS, Box E. 8. Windsor, Ont.

SMOKING A BENEFIT

Experimnets Show Tobacco Pre- HER SYMPATHY vents Disease. It is not surprising to learn that tobacco smoke is inimical to the activity among many other things, pyridin, which has been shown to be a powerful germi-

Definite experiments, says the Lancet, the stable to th have recently been made which show particular the comma bacillus of cholera. A good many years ago it was reported by the senior medical officer of Greenwich workhouse that the tobacco smoking inmate enjoyed comparative immunity from epidemics, and tobacco smoking was believed to have had a disinfectant action in case of cholera and other infectious diseases.

Again, during a cholera epidemic at Hamburg it was reported that not a single workman engaged in the eigar factory in that city was attacked by the disease. Later it was stated that among a body of 5,000 cigarmakers only eight cases and four deaths from cholera

Subsequent experiments proved that tobacco smoke destroyed the bacilli of Asiatic cholera as well as pneumonia, and there was some evidence also that tobacco smoke was preventive of some forms of nasal catarrh. It is interesting to note that pyridin is official in the French pharmacopocia, and in France it has been employed in the form of inhalation in asthma, emphysema and angina pectoris, and mixed with peppermint in diphtheria.

Excessive tobacco smoking, of course may easily give rise to constitutional effects which diminish the resisting power of the body to disease, in which case it is probable the habit would afford not only no protection but an opening for

Tired. Worn Out?

Here is Good Advice to All Who Feel as if Their Vigor and Life Had All Oozed Away.

This Condition Can be Quickly Cured by a Good Cleansing Medicine.

"Your experience is probably somewhat similar to that described by Mr. J. T. Fleming in the following letter from his home in Lebanon: "I think I must have the most sluggish sort of was my only good meal, and I guess I and two inches at their extremites at the very start they made things go Among the natives of Among the right. right. Look at me now-not elcepy in found a simular ionimization right. the daytime, but hustling for the mighty urally be suposed, a semment dollar and getting fun out of life every among barbarous and savage minute. That's what Dr. Hamilton's Pills have done for me—they have reyoung and bright, to enjoy you meals, eondemn himself—for long years, per- from The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. haps to be the owner and guardian of Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Split 40 Cords At Age of 85

Thankful to the Medicine That Gave Him Ability For the Task.

A VERY INTERESTING CASE.

Few men of eighty-five years of age an boast of much else but poor health and failing strength. And such wes the condition of Mr. Beaj. Marsh, who s known to every soul in the neighborbood of his home at Lime Lake, Out.

"Quite unsolicited," writes Mr. March, "I wish to say how I have been bothered for years with stomach trouble. I ried everything I could think of without benefit. I was terribly afflicied with swelling and gas, and had much distress between meals. I tried everything I could think of, but without benefit. Then I was recommended Nerviline. My, but Nerviline did me a power of good -made a new man of me, so that within the last three weeks I have been able to split about forty cords of stove wood. will always stick to Nervilino and will always recommend it, and would like to meet anyone and convince them if in doubt as to what Nerviline has done for

For sour stomach, nausea, belefing of gas, cramps, and sudden sickness at night, nothing is more helpful in the home, nothing saves so much pain and distress as Nerviline. Large family size bottles, 50c.; small size, 25c. at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

IF YOUR HAIR IS RED.

The woman who would appear well should give due consideration to the subject of the colors that suit her best, and a safe rule in this is to select the colors that serve as a successful foil to her hair.

For outdoor winter wear black is undountedly the best for the red-haired women. After black some very dark shade of a color may be chosen-provided it is not red. If blue is selected, navy blue is advised; if brown, a deep seal brown, for all crude bright coiers, by their sharp contrasts, mar justead of enhancing the beauty of the hair. Beautiful colors may be selected by the red-haired woman for evening wear. Pale lovely greens of the Nile or lily leaf tints—the more delicate the tone the more effect—a very pale blue or a stone gray. Blue gray is to be avoided, as should rose-leaf pink and coral and cherry. The two last can be worn in moderation by the woman whose hair is a very rich auburn.

MAKES HER SPEAK

DAME MAYER TELLS HOW SHE FOUND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

matism, Headache, Palpitation and Bright's Disease-Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her Kidneys and Made

Huberdeau, Argentenil Co., Que. April 7 .- (Special) - I am always glad to tell of my cure, because I evinpathize with others who may be suffering as I did." So says Dame Joseph Mayer, well known and highly respected here. "For three years I was a very suck woman, Rheumatism, headache, paspitation of the heart, and Bright's decase were my succession of troubles but Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them all I used twenty-four boxes to complete my cure, but they certainly made me well "I will never be without Dodd's Kidney Pills in the house."

Dodd's Kidney Pille cured Pame Mayer's ills because they are all caused by diseased kidneys. Dodd's Kidneys Pills always cure diseased kidneys, and with cured kidneys straining the seeds of disease out of the blood, the rheumatism, Bright's disease, headache, and palpitation of the heart are bound to disappear. You never heard of a case of hidner disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills would not cure.

HINDOS WORK WITH THEIR TOES.

Manual skill is confined to no particular quarter of the globe, but the ability cleverly to handle the toes in various maustrial pursuits it to be found only among the Hindus. In the harve quarters of many towns of India it is no uncommon sight to behold a butther seize a piece of meat in his hand and cet if in two with a stroke of a knile head between the first and second toes.
Sometimes the Indian shoemaker uses .. o last, but turns the unfinished shoe with his feet, walle his hands are basil engaged in shaping it. Then, icc. the carpenter holds with his great too the board his is cutting; and the wood-torner handles his tools as skill fly with has toes as he does with his fingers. Scientific men who have given this matter study assure us that theu se of the feet and toes as aids to the lands and fingers in labor is not the result of mere practice. Some authorities vehicle to suggest that the skillful use of the toes by Hindus is due to the fact that the Indian foot is quite different from the a liver. In the morning my mouth was bitter, and that foul, soft feeling that tells you, No breakfast needed that tells you, No breakfast needed the toes possess an extraordinary here this morning.' A cup of coffee mobility; the great toe can be moved would sort of brace me up, but in two hours I was disposed to quit work, all energy having oozed out of me. Supper space, sometimes as much as five-eights didn't digest very well, for I dreamt to beat the band. A friend of mine put me wise to Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I think they must have taken hold of my think they must have taken hold of my in a squatting posture much more colliver, perhaps my stomach, too, because fortably than the Occidental. Nothing quite similar, for instance, found among the American Indian tribes. the negroes, the Fuegians or the Araba.

The toe facility of the Hindu natural To keep free from headaches, to feel brings to mend also the eleverness of voung and bright, to enjoy you meals. but the investigators point out that the Hindu foot bears no resemblance to the Hindu foot bears no resemblance to the foot of an ape or a monkey. The great toe is not opp-food to the ther like a thumb, as in the case of the monkey. So the pedal dasterity of the Indian native is not to be regarded an indication