A Kind Word.

How little it costs, if we give it a thought, To make happy some heart each day, Just one kind word, or a tender smile, As we go on our daily way. Perchance a look will suffice to clear The cloud from a neighbor's face, And the press of a hand in sympathy A sorrowful tear efface. It costs so little I wonder why We give so little thought? A smile, kind words, a glance, a touch, What magic with them is wrought.

Every line in a newspaper costs something. If it is for an individual it should be paid for. If the merchant were asked to contribute his wares to one absolutely able to pay for them, he would refuse. The proprietor of a newspaper must pay for the free advertising if the beneficiary does not, and it is one of the hardest things to be learned by many that a newspaper has space in its columns to rent. To give away for anything less than advertising rates would be certainly as fatal as for a landlord to furnish houses free of rent.

Several of the young boys of our town have been in the habit of going on the premises of Mrs. Lily McCarthy and made an entrance into the cook house by smashing in part of the door. They carried out lumber, and used it to make a play house. These boys had better be careful in future or they may get themselves into trouble—No doubt this has been done with no intent of doing any harm to anyone but it must be remembered even though the house may not be occupied there is a law protecting the same and these boys had better in future make their playground at their own homes.

When you see a youth that will do any sort of work no matter how menial it may be, make up your mind that he will amount to something. The young man who would starve before he would do anything beneath what he conceives to be his dignity, is not made of the right kind of stuff to cut much of a figure in the world. All honest toil is honorable. There is nothing so morally degrading as that aversion to manual labor, which is usually a combination of laziness and conceit.

It would appear as though the militant suffragettes of England have about run their course. It is a noticeable fact that nearly all such movements at first are given a certain amount of sympathy, encouragement and advertising, which seems to affect the heads of the participants, who keep increasing the nonsense until, tired, alarmed and finally disgusted; and when the general public becomes disgusted the movement has about seen its finish. The militant suffragettes have come to this pass, and their course is about run. The people have taken the case into their own hands.

Whether you handle a pick or a pen, a wheelbarrow or a set of books, dig ditches or edit a paper, ring an auction bell or write funny things, you must work. If you look around you will see that the men who are most able to live the rest of their lives without work are the men who work the hardest. Don't be afraid of killing yourself with work. Work gives an appetite for meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers. It gives the appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work but the world is not proud of them. It does not even know their names; it speaks of them as so-and-so's son. The great busy world does not even know they are here. So find out what you want to know and go in; take off your hat and make a dust in the world. The busier you are the less devilry you will get into, the sweeter will be your sleep, and the better the world will be for you.

Wedding

A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, April 9th, the contracting parties being Mr. Isaac Columbus, of Walpole and Miss Ellen Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kincheslar. The ceremony was performed by Father Neagle in St. Cecilia's church. The bride looked very pretty in a travelling suit of blue cloth and white hat. She was attended by her sister, Miss Irene who also wore a suit of blue. The groom was supported by his brother, Charles Columbus. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride's parents where a dainty breakfast had been prepared. Later in the day the happy couple left for Dover where they took the evening train for Stratford and other points. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch and chain and to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet. The groomsmen had a gold tie pin. The bride received many handsome presents which goes to show the high esteem in which she is held. Her many friends join in extending hearty congratulations.

Boy Shot Sister

While playing with a couple of guns, Harold Hildgaster, aged 12 of Windham shot his sister Nellie, aged 8, on Saturday afternoon, her death ensuing a few moments after. The accident happened during the absence from home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bridgewater, former residents of Simcoe. Later living on the Pat Cairns farm where the tragedy occurred. Five of the children were left at home on Saturday, and sometime after two o'clock, Victor, aged 15, and Harold were loading and unloading the weapons. Harold supposed the charge had been withdrawn from a single-barreled gun and while aiming it, shot the little girl in the breast. Her left hand also was injured, and it is thought she had her hand outstretched in front of her body. The unfortunate victim walked a few steps and collapsed, lying only a very short time. Dr. W. A. McIntosh, Coroner, was notified, and made an investigation. As the affair was accidental, an inquest was adjudged unnecessary. The funeral of the little girl was held on Monday, the Salvation army being in charge. Burial was made in Oakwood Cemetery, Simcoe.

Choral Concert.

The Choral Society concert on Friday evening was one which will be remembered as one of the best and most successful concerts given in Jarvis for many years. The chorus was conducted by Walter G. H. Bates, one of Hamilton's most successful vocal teachers and it was through every conceivable difficulty he had to labor. Ever since the organization of the choral the weather has been unfavorable, scarcely a night when all members could be present. The roads also being almost impassable. A few days before Friday evening many reports went about that this concert would be a complete failure, but they did not reckon on the abilities of the director who had charge and every credit is due him for his untiring efforts. The persistent downpour of rain all day Thursday caused even the members to be somewhat doubtful as to the success, financially, of their entertainment. On Friday it repeatedly threatened rain but in spite of the discouraging weather the evening found the Hall well filled with an appreciative audience who encored nearly every number of their program. As the curtain rose the members were greeted with a hearty applause from the audience. The ladies were dressed all in white while the gentlemen wore black, which made a very pleasing picture.

A specially varied program was given, being assisted by Miss Alta Young, elocutionist of Hamilton, solos by Misses Shirley Rodgers and Ethel Snyder, both pupils of Mr. Bates; Miss F. Newell instrumental and Walter Bates solo. The program was opened by prayer by Rev. A. C. Eddy, after which the curtain rose and the opening number "Oh Canada" completely captured the audience. As also did each number, and won the heartiest applause from the listeners. Miss Alta Young, reader, worked her way into the hearts of the audience. That she is without a doubt, one of the best readers ever heard in Jarvis, was said by many and we agree with them. Her numbers were well chosen and given in a most artistic manner. We hope to hear her again at an early date. The singing of our local favorites, Misses Shirley Rodgers and Ethel Snyder was a great treat. Their duet was very excellently rendered and showed their well trained voices to great advantage. Miss Rodgers has a very fine lyric soprano voice and in her solo "works she displayed great interpretive powers and fine shading. She was encored very enthusiastically. Miss Ethel Snyder has a dramatic soprano voice of great power and showed to advantage in her selection. She is a great favorite with local audiences.

Mr. Bates sang, by request, that beautiful and sacred song "The Lord is my Light," in a manner that showed both training and power which delighted his hearers. Mr. Bates possesses a highly cultivated, full, rich tenor voice that is strong and well controlled; the audience warmed to him as rapturously as could be expected and he was encored again and again to which he heartily responded. As the forty voices sang their closing number, a patriotic song, "Rule Britannia," they sang as if inspired by their music, with a beauty of tone that was not lost in the most powerful passages, with a technique that was irrefragable and a distinction that left no room for criticism.

Heavy Picture Licence

The proposed amendments to the act governing moving picture houses, which is now being considered by the Legislature is creating considerable opposition, is to impose a license fee of $500, with no license granted to a house not on a corner with a 15-foot driveway. Theatre owners suggest that the only way they could meet the demand of the bill would be to raise the price of admission. They also point out the hardship this would incur on the working class, whose only amusements is the picture house. The owners feel that any protest would be useless, and think the best way to meet the situation is to meet demand with demand.

A SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION

Notwithstanding the roads and weather, the convention in Knox Church on the afternoon and evening of the 10th inst was attended by a large number of delegates and local workers and was full of interest.

The Rev. Mr. McLaughlan of Hamilton occupied the chair during the afternoon. The Rev. Dr. McGillivray of Toronto conducted the conference on S. S. work. The Sunday school should be open twelve months in the year. The excuse often given that children could not attend in winter did not hold for they attend the public schools during the winter months. If necessary he would devote part of the regular service of the church to Sunday School work. The Cradle Roll, Home Department and organized Bible Class were essentials of a well-equipped school. The Home Department could be used to introduce family worship in homes where it had fallen into disuse by supplying a portion each day to be read and a simple form of prayer. The problems of keeping up the interest in S. S. work was an ever-present one. But a few were always found who were interested and the way to interest others was to be thoroughly interested ourselves.

The Rev. Dr. Myers of Toronto conducted the Conference on Young People's Society work. The purpose of this work is to win young people for Christ and to train them for service: for service now. At 5.30 p.m. the members of the Convention repaired to the S. S. room, where a delightful tea, prepared by the Ladies of the Congregation was partaken of. The interval preceding the evening session was given to informal discussion on points of interest in S. S. and C. E. work. During the evening session the Pastor took the chair. After the Devotional Exercises conducted by the Rev. Mr. McPhail of Cayuga, an address of welcome was given by Dr. Jacques in his own hearty way. The people of Jarvis were the ones, he felt, who would benefit most from the Convention. The address was ably replied to by the Rev. Mr. McLaughlan of Hamilton, the Presbytery's Convener.

The first address of the evening was given by Dr. Myers on "What Young People can do for the Church." Youth was the age of enthusiasm. That enthusiasm properly directed afforded a splendid source of inspiration and service for the church.

Dr. McGillivray gave the closing address of the evening "The Unpossessed Possessions."—Man is splendidly endowed with mind and soul—He owed it as a duty to God and his brother man to find and develop these powers—to find himself.

Rev. Mr. Eddy closed the Convention with prayer and benediction. The Convention a number of local speakers helped by their presence and words to add to the interest of the convention. The choir assisted during the evening session, Miss Lillian Allen singing a very appropriate solo.

Former Hagersville Boy Saves Immigrant's Life

On Sunday an immigrant train, full of British laborers, stopped for water at Merritt Station, and some of the passengers came out to look round. James Stevenson, tried to crawl under the car when it was moving. Afraid to get out he flattened himself down, but the knuckle of a brake beam caught his leg and was dragging the man to his doom, when the telegraph operator, Walter Medford, saw the situation through the station window. Jumping the four foot counter with one bound, he dashed outside and at the risk of his life, unhooked the car in time to save the stranger's life. So near was Medford to being killed that the heel of one shoe was torn off by the wheel of the car. The Royal Humane Society Medal will be applied for for Medford, who formerly lived at Hagersville.

Legislation to protect the homeless and neglected children of the province was proposed by the provincial secretary in the legislature, in a bill amending the Children's Act. Foremost among the measures advocated is that of preventing the going about the streets of small girls with street pianos, and the selling of papers at late hours by small boys. A clause also provides for the introduction of a system resembling that of the carboys, which shall keep the youngsters off the streets after nine o'clock at night. Fathers who neglect to support their children will be penalized, and a regular system of parents who put their children in refuge homes will be kept. Arrangements are also arranged for the disposal of such children by the children's court, which shall place them as wards in homes. Fathers who are financially capable may be forced by the court to support their children.
