PLOTS THAT FAILED

ited

TS

NGE.

943/48

893/4 b

351/3

367/8

1, 383/4e;

)., S33/4e;

se bid;

RKET.

t., 913/se;

es to-day.

, and the

a. scoured

) le 11/3d.

d le to 2

st steers, 15

: best bulle,

6 50 to 8 90

-Cattle Re-

:- slow and active and 9.35; mixed,

to $9.40; stags, $7.00

eipts 5,000

; la.nbs 15

wethers.

(m) to $6.25;

0 29 4)

. 24.

s, 1 1-id.

11 to 16 1bs.—

... 35 to 10 lbs.

1 (bs.—56s. t.erces—56s, 8d

ct white-62s.

r 1. spot-28s, 10

(East End Mar-

bout 500: calves,

apringe:4, 75;

ogs, 862. lower prices paid

re were no choice

Tige: large. fat

ium, 5 to 61/2e;

in others, $35 to 5.49 each.

E STOCK.

10 158 -638.

OCK.

It was a raw, gusty April morning, much more like March or November. with those cold winds, black, lowering iky, and down-pouring rain, and hail that pelted the car windows as the eastern-bound express dashed steadily onward toward its destination-Roston

The rear car was comfortably filled with passengers, all grumbling more or less at the beastly weather outside, for they had just been informed that there would be a ten-minutes' stop for luncheon at the next station which they were many of them whether it was best to appease their hunger by getting out of | their comfortable shelter and taking a thorough drenching in consequence, or the car window looking out at the bleak Massachusetts land-cape, with big, sombre black eyes looked apparently without seeing, for she had sat in that same position, with her pretty chin leaning on ! the palm of her little hand, for fully an hour or mere, utterly oblivious to what was transpiring around her, evidently deeply absorbed by her thoughts, which eould hardly have been pleasant., judging from the compre-sed straight line into which the red lips were drawn, and the frown that brought the two jetty, arched eyebrows together in an angry line.

An elderly couple sitting opposite had done their best to arouse her from her sombre reverie and draw her into conversation, but all to no purpose. It was clearly obvious that she did not choose to be sociable

At the next station at which the train stopped for luncheon the gentleman all hted. When he returned a few mo-ful act to divide with the young girl opposite, don't von think so'r

The good woman acted on his sucres-dozen. Please don't refuse."

The young girl leaked up into the kindly face with a dazzling smile.

"Madam is more than good," she mureided French accent to it, and was very delightful. "I must confess to being quite hungry, and contess with pleas-how it was that her folks permitted her to make a railway journey alone, beautiful as she was, and so very young. "No," murmured the girl. "I-I think to add more, but concluded, on second young girl, in a slow voice, though her thoughts, that it was best not to do big black eves looked eagers remarked her companion. "It's a pretty after he had received his princely forenough village, as you will see when tune he had squandered every cent; you pass through it, but not nearly so one can do that easily enough in Paris pleasant as East Haven, the place where Well, this Roland married a concert hall we used to reside. You will see that, dancer, a gay Parisian, who was the talk too, as you go by it - a lovely suburban of Paris, and beautiful as a houri. They village it is, inhabited by retired Boston were well mated-she, giddy, reckless, a shock to the girl'e nerves, but not a speak unkindly: he, a profligate, gamthe sudden fire that leaped into the great unprincipled. I always predicted a horlashes.

in a village of wealthy homes," murmur. a brawl in a gambling den in Monte ed the girl, asking suddenly: "Were the people as nice as their homes?"

loved to dwell, it was East Haven and the "quality," as she was pleased to term it, who lived there.

"It is one of the loveliest villages in know every man, woman and child in the place, and every stick and stone as

The young girl elinehed her hands tightly together and bit her red lips fiercely to keep back the flood of questions that arose to them. But after a moment's pause she murmured sweetly: "East Haven! Where did it get its peculiar name from do you know, madam ?" Madam did know, and was delighted to inform her, for it gave her the opportun- East Haven, was reached there was ity of relating a little story that she never a cloud in the blue sky above.

was particularly fonds of gossiping about. the sun was shining bright and golden.

first house ever erected in the place-starve until they reached their journey's Karl, high bred, dainty and aristocratic

"The result was what everyone had predicted. The stepmother hated little Karl, and took no pains to conceal it, and this hatred grew a thousand fold stronger and more bitter when she had a little son of her own.

"In one of her blind, unreasoning rages against little Karl, she one day sought to push him from the balcony down into the turbulent stream below, and, losing her balance, met the awful fate she had intended for the child.

ry him into the grave.

that boy was one. Before he was ten he tried to set fire to the house and burn up every one in it; he did his Only seventeen, and yet old and worn best to derail an express train, and hurl and worldly; and with such a horrible me is later be brought a small luncheon over a hundred souls into eternity; he broke into als father's strong box and steel its entire contents, and ran off to book, that no eyes may ever rest upon it and read the bask in his man's heart and despite the son Karl's pered, depositing the bask in his man's heart, and despite the son Karl's hidden from the world forever! The wife's lap, adding: "It would be a grace- devotion, he sickened and died under the weight of his woe in grieving over the black sheep, Roland."

tion. The next moment she was stand-interested in this gossip, the woman startled at length by the loud, deep bay ing before the girl. was nothing loath to proceed, and added, ing of a bloodhound, and in that instant ing before the girl.

"Pardon me, but I am going to ask a slowly: "Karl grew to manhood, and favor-insist, if need be apon your join- when the absent son Roland became of white road directly toward the spot ing me in this little luncheon. It would lage, the Haven millions were equally be madness to brave the storm to get divided. Roland's share was forwarded anything, and I have enough for half a to him to Paris, where he was leading a gav life. Karl wedded and settled down in the old stone mansion at East Haven mured in a sweet voice that had a de- happy as the day is long if he had not "Do you go far?" asked the good wo- since to the fair young daughter she left. man, looking down into the dark, sparkl- , And it is little wonder that the fond ing, brune, mignoune tace, wondering father fairly idolizes her, for Barbara sweetest, spinniest, most lovable goldenhaired fairy in the whole wide world, with lovers by the score, and---

She stopped abruptly, as though about tory of Roland Raven?" interrupted the

"The next station is our destination," plied the woman. "Within six mortis and-well, it were better to say nothing East Haven! The name produced quite of her future than that, ruther than muscle of her face betrayed it. Even bler, all that was tiforoughly bad and dark eyes, was concealed by the white rible end to Roland Haven's career, and lids with their long, black, silken lo! my prediction came true. I read in "It must have been pleasant to live that he and his wife had both died in Carlo. I read, too, that they had left a child-a girl. What a pity it is, for New, if there was one subject above with such blood in her veins she cannot all others upon which the good woman be anything else than thoroughly bad. Oh, here is my station. Good-by: I am sorry we part so soon. I hope we shall the world," she declared. "I was born looked after her with burning eyes and become me. I bitter expression that arose to them, the conductor, who was passing down the aisle, paused before her seat. ex-

"The second station from here is East Haven, your destination, miss."

On and on through the storm of that April day rushed the lightning express, emerging at last from out of the driving rain into the sunshine, and by the time "To be sure I know," she declared, and the grass and flowers and trees young girl was the only passenger For a moment she stood beside her trunk, band boxes and bundles that were strewn about her on the platform, tooking after the departing train with

She was startled from her reverie by

The girl wheeled quickly about and

'No: but no doubt you can tell me

"That is it—that great white stone house on the brow of vonder hill," he replied, indicating the place with one hand, as he raised his cap respectfully with the other, adding: "If you follow the main read it will take you directly to the large white arched entrance gate.

Is there anything else you would like to ask. miss?" he asked, noticing that

"Yes; I should like to ask you to take

With a haughty nod of her regal head

she turned and walked leisurely down the white road he had pointed out, the sharp bend in it quickly hiding her from his curious gaze.

"A friend of Miss Barbara's, no doubt," he muttered. "And yet if she were, it is strange that they did not send the pony eart for her. By George!

I always thought little Miss Bab was the leveliest creature in creation, but this one is-well, the most glorious girl

I have ever beheld. Superb, stunning, gage, marveling greatly at the odd shape of the round-top, leather covered ticed that it bore upon one end the

Meanwhile the owner of the baggage strolled slowly down the white, sundy

How beautiful the little village looked, dressed in its spring robe of green with the wild flowers and golden hearted daisies dotting the hillside. As she came within sight of the magnificent house on the brow of the hill she stopped quite short, her face growing dark and stormy as her eyes took in the massive structure, with its pillars porches and gables, the park which sur rounded it. with its fountains and stat-

The girl's heart heaved convulsively and she clinched her little hands tight-fleeing from the police the next. Ugh!

How long she stood there, lost in that bitter reverie, she never knew. She was startled at length by the loud, deep bay-she saw the animal leaping down the where she stood. One glance and the heart in her bosom fairly stood still.

She saw that the animal was mad. She could have told that from the horrible in an awith moan as she stared in ter-toward her. She saw no escape, which with" she whispered with white, dry lips. "This is God's vengeance for -ior

Nearer, nearer came the maddened animal, like a black streak over the white road. He was within a few feet of her, and then she knew no more: she

Cured by Toning the Blood and Strengthening the Nerves.

It is the opinion of the best medical authorities, after long observation, that nervous diseases are more common and mere serious in the spring that at any other time of the year. Vital changes in the system.

after long winter months, may cause much more trouble than the familie:

spring weakness and weariness from which most people suiter as the result of indoor life, in poorly venti-

Official records prove that in April and May neuralgia. St. Vitus dance, then, more than any other time, a

The antiquated custom of taking ening, while purgatives only gallop through the bowels, leaving you weaker. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best medicine, for they actually make the new, rich, red blood that feeds the starved nerves, and thus limbs, as well as remove unsightly pimples and eruptions. In fact, they unfailingly bring new health and blood-making, nerve-restoring tonic is needed.

epilopsy and other forms of nerve

IN THE SPRING

NERVOUS DISEASES

ever way she might turn.

I am safe-safe!"

extended laws.

through her white, set teeth:

Then he fell to inspecting the bag-charge of my trunks and my bags until come for or-or send for them."

"Certainly, miss," re responded.

what I wish to know; and that is, how far is it to Mr. Karl Haven's resi-looked at the man, an odd smile curv-

a doubtful expression on her face.

the station agent's voice asking: "Were you expecting a conveyance, ing her lips as she answered:

she still stood irresolute.

expresses it best."

Pimples on Legs and Arms. Scratched and Made Sores. Kept from Sleeping. First Application of Cuticura Soap and Ointment Gave Great Relief. Cured in a Few Weeks.

Lachine Locks, Quebec .- "I had itching commencing with my legs and increasing gradually until it reached all parts of my

it for about two years. "After having tried several remedies without success I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and from the first application I felt a great relief. I continued the treatment taking warm baths with Cuticura Soap followed by the application of Cuticura Ointment, and at the end of a few weeks the trouble had disappeared completely and I was cured." (Signed) N. C. Boulet, May

For red, rough, chapped and bleeding hands, itching, burning palms, shapeless nails and painful finger-ends, a one-night Cuticura treatment works wonders. Soak hands, on retiring, in het water and Cuticura Soap. Dry, anoint with Cuticura Ointment, and wear old, loose gloves during the night. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post card Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 42D, Boston, U. S. A.

had fallen like a log in a dead faint directly across his path. It would have been better if her life had ended then and there!

She soon opened those great, dark, sombre eyes of hers to find some one bending over her, laving her face with cooling water-a young man, with a fair, handsome, sunburnt face, and the brownest of brown eyes. "What is the matter? Where am

?" murmured the girl, unable for the uary, broad, serpentine walks, and the instant to collect her scattered senses. great trees, fully a century old, that formed a fitting background to the ple-"You are in the land of the living. thanks to my opportune appearance upon the scene. Your advancing foe. the mad dog, lies on the other side of the road with a well-aimed bullet in ly together as she burst out vehemently his brain from my trusty rifle. It is a case of more scared than hurt, young "It is unjust, it is wicked, it is terlady, though upon my word you had good cause to fall into a fit of hysterics. rible, that the daughter of this man should have so much, all that wealth I marvel, indeed, that you have any can give, should have been petted and nerve left." should tread upon rose leaves all her life.

The young girl struggled up from and I should have been reared among among the wild flowers, to her feet, taking in as she did so every detail of gay, fascinating, treacherous, Paris; the tall, stalwart, well made figure. The should have been decked out in diacrisp, brown hair that covered the mends and lace one week, and in rags shapely head that was bared for an instant as he bowed low, making that rehow horrible is the life that I have led. mark; the hunting suit which he wore, that fitted him like a glove; the ruddy cheek and strong white teeth, shaded by a good, firm, healthy brown mustache, even though it did droop slightly at the ends.

said, taking quite as careful a mental deep, rolling sea lies between us, and survey of his companion as she had done of him. "I am Clarence Neville." She tried to answer as to who she was, but the words stuck in her throat; she flushged then turned deadly pale, suffering from the first embarrassment she had ever known. Seeing her agitation, he hastened to remove it by turning her thoughts quickly into another channel, saying to dimself that she evidently desired to re- only, just to make sure the old condimain unknown; and somehow, beauty red glare in his fiery eyes, even had worehipper though he was, he did not it not been for the flecks of white foam particularly care one way or the other. that at every leap dropped from his For this young girl, exquisitely levely A wild cry arose to her lips, ending nignonne face of hers, was not exactly his style. He liked blue-eyed, fair-haired rified faseination at the brute leaping girls best, with whom to laugh and "This is the horrible fate I am to meet

"It must have been fate that brought me to East Haven a day before I should have been here. I made an awkward mistake in a date. I was to be here to attend a garden party on the third, and with my usual carelessness I read it April second. I was to remain a fortnight for the spring season-the clearing out of the rabbits, you know. I discovered my awkward error quite as seon as I reached the place, and, consequently could not show up until tomorrow, when I would be duly expected. put up at the village hostelry, and donning my hunting suit and shouldering my rifle, sallied out this morning to kill time and anything else in sight. I succeeded beyond my most extravagant expectations in winging something worth while," and he pointed with a light laugh to her vanquishing enemy.

Seeing that she did not seem disposed to disclose her identity to him, he made no effort to discover who she was.

"I thank you more than words can express for the service you have rendered me for my life, which you have eaved." she murmured in a voice that thrilled with emotion, and was wonlated and often overheated buildings, drously sweet and musical.

"You owe me no thanks," he replied. "I only did my duty." She turned impulsively away that he troubles are at their worst, and that | might not observe her agitation, and he, supposing by this action that she wished to terminate the conversation, bowed low again, and, expressing the hope that she would be none the worse for her purgatives in the spring is useless fright, turned and moved carelessly for the system really needs strength- away.

Had he turned around he would have seen the beautiful young girl looking after him with her very soul in the intensity of her strained gaze. "It has come true!" she whispered to herself with bated breath, as though fearful that the very trees or the wild cure the many forms of nervous disflowers might hear what she said. "I orders. They cure also such other laughed at the strolling gypsy's proforms of spring troubles as headaches, poor appetite, weakness in the Phecy, but now I know that she outlined my fate.

"She said: You come to me to read the stars, and likewise the palm of your hand. I look, and I see much. Your life is no common one. I see vou in a fashionable gambling palace, like the far-famed ones of Monaco or Monte grain in very thin slices. Fish at dinner there by your wondrous beapty. They or broiled.

from the place moneyless, pennliness, and you laugh in their faces. Then I If Nostrils Are Plugged. see you fleeing for your life with a black, ugly crime behind you. Presto, change! You are now across the wide. rolling sea; the day has changed from storm to sunshine. You are on a white flower-bordered path or road, and then terrible danger faces you. Your life is at stake, but your life is miraculously saved. A handsome young man is your deliverer, and as you look up into his bonny face your heart awakens all, in in instant to the magic influence of love -a love which must either prove a blessing to you of the bitterest of curses. You will love—ay, and at first eight. It will sweep all things before it as the fierce tornado does, but you will have rival for this young man's love, and t will be war to the death between you as to which shall win him. You may ask me, shall you triumph in the end over this girl rival and win his love, and I make answer: I-I can see no further now; surely I have told enough for the pieces of silver with which you erossed my hand.'

"It has all come true," muttered the girl, still watching the tall, handsome, retreating figure. "Fate caused me to cross the seas to meet this young man. It is indeed a case of love at first sight with me. I-I would move heaven and earth to-win his love. He will have it in his power to make an angel of me, or-or a fiend incarnate. Which will it be, I wonder?"

(To be Continued.)

RUBBER FROM FIGH. A scientist of Amsterdam has recently perfected a method of which he secures a very excellent substitute for rubber from sea fish. It is claimed that the product has all the quantities of rubber at one-sixth the cost. Another new source of rubber substitute is the "truicall" tree of Natal. This plant has been heretofere regarded as commercially useless, but recently about one ton per week has been shipped to London, where it is used as insulation for electric wires.

That Terrible Fatigue Can Be Overcome

A Simple Hame Remedy Now Cures Lack of Energy, Loss of Ambition, and a Feeling of "Don't Care."

Successful in Nearly Every Case.

That miserable nervousness and half sick tired-all-the-time condition is due nine cases in ten to a clogged-up system. You grow irritable and despondent, you lack ambition, energy seems all gone. Surest road to health is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they will make you feel like new all over in a short time. Writing from his home in Barco-long, Mr. Frederick G. Mayer states "I think no one ever suffered as se verely as I did for nearly six months. So many serious symptoms were develoning as a consequence of this evil condition of my system that I realized I must find a remedy. The strong pills of various kinds I tried seemed after their first effects were over to make me far worse and I did not "Allow me to introduce myself." he know which way to tarn for relief. and the first box used satisfied me. I found a true remedy. Instead of ilton's Pills acted as naturally as if had to increase the dose and, indeed, within a month I reduced it. and when the system finally acted of its own accord as a result of Dr. Hamil ton's Pills, I took a dose twice a week

No other remedy cures constinution and biliousness so easily or safely as Dr. Hamilton's Pills: they are though she was with that rich, brune, ideal family remedy for all discuses of the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold in 25e boxes, five for $1.00, all throat or into the eyes. girls best, with whom to laugh and druggists and storckeepers or The Never neglect the treatment of thirt, and imagine himself hopelessly in Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and whooping cough. At present we know Kingston, Canada.

tion would not come back."

ABOUT THE EYE TOOTH.

From distant times the canine teeth have been supposed to be in some way connected with the eyes, and for this reason they have been termed 'eye teeting be common folk. However, this connection between the eyes and the teeth has been frequently contested, and the doctors attributed either to diseases of the sinuses, or cavities of the bones of the face, or to lesions of the upper molars the maladies of the conjunctive, corner and even the deep mem branes of the eye which developed at the same time.

Now it seems to result from the researches of Dr. selazory that the canine teeth have been rightly blamed in these cases. In general it is the coexistence of dental lesions and sight troubles which leads to the diagnosis. But, as this co-existence is not always clearly noted and the ocular symptoms are sometimes alone apparent, the diagnosis in these cases becomes more difficult.

Thus the labor of evolution of the upper canines may, in the course of first and even of the second dentition cause eye troubles in the absence of any dental symptoms by tumeraction on the level of the canine teeth, or by pains.

frequent. Thus, the mouth is not examined when the patient does not mention caries of the affected canine tooth. and then the eye trouble, instead of my perspiration had a disagreeable yielding to the ordinary medication, of odor. ten increases in intensity. Therefore, a minute examination of the teeth should be made in many eye affections when as there were other symptoms that the cause is not apparent and the treating kidneys were affected. I decidment has not produced any improve- ed to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. After

For You to Know.

If it is absolutely gecessary to take up a bone in the fingers, only one hand should be used. A hostess should not attempt either to eulogize her dishes or to apologize that she cannot recommend them. This is extremely bad taste.

All meats should be cut across the

are young lordlings and millionaires, If Breathing is Difficult, You Have Catarrn

At Last a Remedy That Already Has Permanently Cured Thousands.

Pernars you haven't heard or the new remedy—it's so pieusant to use— This the nose, throat and lungs with a nearing balsamic vapor like the air of the pine woods. ILB really a wonderiul remedy—utilizes that marveneus intiseptic only tound in the olde gum tree of Australia.

The name of this grand specific is Catarrhozone, and you can t find its equal on earth for cougus, colds, mtarrh or throat trouble. You see it's not longer necessary to drug the stomach—that spoils digestion—just simply inhale the balsamic essences of Catarriiozone, which are so rich in healing that they drive out every case of catarrh in no time.

"I look upon Catarrhozone as the most valuable medical discovery of recent years," writes R. V. Potter, of Prince Albert. "As a long sufferer from nasal and throat catarrh, I was obliged to take considerable medicine, and, although it helped me, my digestion was always disturbed and the catarrh didn't go away. With Catarrhozone it was different. It cleaned my nose and throat of all phlegm and discharges, enabled me to breathe freely, relieved a stuffy feeling in my nose and frontal headaches. To-day I am entirely free from catarrh, and I use by Chtarrhozone Inhaler a little every day in order to prevent the disease from returning."

With Catarrhozone experimenting ends. A permanent curative action begins. Lasting relief from Catarrh results. The large size earts $1, laster two months, and is guaranteel. Small size, 50c; sample size, 25%. All storekeepers and druggists, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston.

WHOOPING COUGH.

Highly Contagious, More Serious Than is Thought.

Many persons regard whooping cough as tedious and 'anneying but quite without serious importance. Unfortunately that mistake, says the Youth's Companion, often leads to the neglect of the disease itself and the failure to isolate the patient properly. Recent statistics show that of the children under 1 year of age who have whooping cough one in four dies. The mortality decreases rapidly with advancing age, and at 5 years of age only one patient in fifty dies. Ten thousand children die of this disease every year in the United States. Even when whooping cough does not result fatally, it is still to be dreaded. for it may be followed by consumption, since the patient's powers of resistance are often greatly weakened by the violent and exhausting cough. The disease is highly contagious, although the offending germ has not yet been discovered. Consequently the mother or the nurse of a child with. whooping cough ought never to take it into public conveyances, or to entertainments, or send it to school or to church-anywhere, in short, where it will expose other children to the in-

The disease begins like a simple cold in the head that rapidly goes to the chest. The cough is at first short and griping with undue activity, Dr. Ham- sharp, but gradually increases in severity and occurs in paroxyisms. At physic had not been taken. I never the end of one of these attacks the air is pumped completely out of the lungs and the child feels that he must take a deep breath at once. But now a spasm of the larynx occurs, and only a small opening is left for the air to enter. Through this opening the child draws his eager breath, and thus makes the peculiar noise or "whoop" that gives the disease its name.

Often vomiting follows a severe attack of coughing, and sometimes there is nose-bleed or hemorrhage from the Never neglect the treatment of of no cure for the disease, but the child should always be under, the care of a physician, who can do much to mitigate the severity of the cough and to prevent serious complications. ----

FOUND THE CAUSE THE REST WAS EASY

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS QUICKLY CURED HIS KIDNEY DISEASE.

How Hudson Marchbank, After Suffering for Five Years, Found Quick Relief and Permanent Cure in the Greatest of Canadian Remedies.

Marchbank, King's County, N. B. April 28 .- (Special) -- After suffering for five years from kidney disease, brought on by a strain. Hadson Marchbank. Esq., the well-known farmer of this place, is again a strong, healthy man, and another grand cure for Dodd's Kidney Pills has been put on record. In an interview, Mr. Marchbank says:

"About five years ago I hurt my back from lifting, and it developed into kidney disease. My back pained m In adults these cases are even more all the time, and I was very much troubled with headaches. My appetite was fitful: I had a bitter taste in my mouth in the morning: I perspired freely, and

"I used limiments and plasters, but they did not do me any good. and using two boxes, my back was completely cured, and my kidneys have not troubled me since."

When Mr. Marchbank decided that his kidneys were the cause of his troubles, the rest was easy. Almost any of his neighbors could tell him that Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure diseased kidneve.

"You propose to make the payment on mports so small that no one will complain?" "Yes." replied the tariff reformer. "We want to come as near as -Washington Star.

I have heard it often enough. It was were as green and delightful as a pernamed after old Mr. Haven, the wealthy fect April day that had no raindrops $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Carlo. You attract many gilded youths should be baked or boiled—never fried possible to making a picacure of duty." mill owner, who built and lived in the lin it could make them.

a grand old stone mansion, that stands as fine and firm as ever to-day, on the brow of the hill that overlooks the "But the old man never had much happiness in his grand old home," went onthe loquacious story teller, "for shortly after his wife died. For a while he was trunk: then for the first time he nolonely enough. but would have no other society than that of his little son, Kar!. label of a French steamer. But suddenly, to the surprise of everyone, he brought home a bride, and the amazement of the villagers was intense when it was discovered that he had nearing. It was a serious question with wedded one of his own mill hands, a pretty enough creature as to face and figure, but totally uneducated and unrefined, totally unfit to be mistress of that stately home, and a mother to little as he was, even in his babyhood.

"Well, that was a fortunate release from an unhappy marriage-bond for the mill-owner, but his troubles were not vet over. The son whom his second wife had left behind her was destined to wor. I the horrors of a gambler's associates in

"If there was ever a fiend incarnate,

Seeing that her listener was intensely in the summer, living in Boston the rest of the year. He would have been as met the misfortune of losing his young wife: but his father's sorrowful example was a lesson to him-he never wedded again, but has devoted his life ever Haven or Bab as they call her, is the

"Did-did any one follow up the his-

"He went to the bas artogether.' 1e a paper searcely more than a month ago

She passed quickly from the car, and corners of her red lips. Before she could give utterance to the claiming:

CHAPTER II.

strength to weak, tired and depressed n en. women and children. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for Co., Brockville, Ont.