What is the use of hurrying? There is time enough for all work and they who worry and scurry through day after day, vainly endeavoring to do a little more than any mortal ought to do in a day, and injured physically and mentally and do not in the end accomplish as much as the quiet, steady worker who keeps on serenely hour after hour until wear and then has the good sense to rest.

A fire occurred here yesterday afternoon about five o'clock when the G. T. R. freight sheds were burnt to the ground. Most of the people did not even know there was a fire till after it was all in a heap. The people of the south end could not find out whether there was a fire or not, although the country people were phoning in inquiring where the fire was, with the result that the fire bell didn't begin its clamor or the fire-truck and its brigade go cantering down the street. The station agent barely had time to save some of the freight books, most of them being consumed in the blaze. Ivan W. Holms's Furniture store and the station also caught fire but were soon extinguished. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The Baseball tournament at Hartford yesterday drew a large crowd and also four good teams. The weather was the best that could be desired for a tournament. The four teams were as follows—Hagersville, Jarvis, Smoothtown and Oswego. The drawing took place at noon with Oswego getting Hagersville, and Smoothtown getting Jarvis. Oswego and Hagersville were billed to play at 12.30 and started a few minutes later. It was an easy victory for Hagersville, who won by a score of 28-6. The next game proved to be the most interesting of the tournament as a see-saw affair from the sixth inning until the finish, but finally being won by Smoothtown by a score of 11-16. In the second inning the score was 9-2 in favor of Smoothtown but Jarvis avenged it up and from then until the finish it was anybody's game. Mr. and Mrs. Gappleford and family of Tillsonburg, Mr. and Mrs. Banbury and family of Jarvis and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ross of Hagersville and two daughters at home all report having a pleasant time.

Do not make too much of children's mistakes and faults. How can one be a child and not be full faults? Explain their mistakes gently. Be patient. Wait for them. Children must have time to grow. Never let fear make a gulf between the child and you. Within due bounds liberty is the best thing for a child. It will lead to irregularities, and gradually self-control.

The meanness to which men will stoop for the sake of a little gain is almost beyond belief. Agents of Chicago humane societies have lately discovered that it is a regular practice among horse dealers to put out the eyes of the horses, in order to sell them under a guarantee that they will not shy or run away. They pass a needle through the eye in a way that leaves no scar. To all appearances the horse is sound, but will never see again. The condition is especially common among peddlers' horses, for peddlers must have an animal that will stand. In one day the agents found fifty horses thus blinded.

Doctor James White, one of the most eminent practicing physicians in Hamilton, passed away on Sunday at his home, 14 Cannon street west, after an illness of several weeks duration. Deceased was born in Hamilton sixty-three years ago, and had resided there all his life. He was educated in the Hamilton Public schools, and went Lennoxville, Que., where he entered Bishop's College. From there he went to Upper Canada College, and then to Toronto University, graduating from Varsity as a master of arts. When he finished his course in medicine he carried off a number of medals in all branches of his profession, after which he went to Edinburgh and London where he took up a post graduate course.

The object of all family government is to teach children to get along without being governed. They must, therefore, be trusted. Keep them busy with pleasant work if possible; awaken in them curiosity about the things which lie around them; a very little instruction will make them curious in regard to plants, minerals, natural history, literary curiosities, autographs, post stamp collections, and many things which will inspire pleasure in their reason rather than in their appetites. We are indebted to our children for the perpetual reminder that we do not live to ourselves alone; for their sakes we are admonished to put from our lives every noble and heroic quality, every tender and attractive grace.

Wedding Write-ups Ten Years Hence

The following is an example of how marriage notices will be published ten years from now if the Suffragette movement is successful and women succeed in getting the vote:—The bride looked very well in a travelling dress, but all the eyes were centered upon the groom. He wore a dark suit that fitted his form perfectly and in his dainty gloved hand he carried a small rose. His curly hair was beautifully done and a delicate odor of hair oil floated down the aisle as he passed. The young people will miss him now that he is married. He is loved by all for his accomplishments his tender grace and winning ways. The bride commands a good salary as bookkeeper and the groom will miss none of the luxuries to which he has been accustomed. A crowd of handsome men saw him off at the depot.

The horse was also killed and the buggy smashed into kindling wood. Mr. Nash was recognizable, but his body was frightfully mangled.

kept him there for about three months. Since then there has been none, but after the accident last night they replaced the watchman this morning. Residents hereabouts think this a matter that the Railway Commission should inquire into.

To be successful in life, to rise above the common herd of mankind, a young man requires certain elements of character. He may win public confidence; intelligence, that he may command respect; industry, that he may collect honey from the flowers of trade; economy and frugality, to preserve his gains; energy by which to surmount obstacles; tact, to enable him to adapt himself to the openings of Providence, and to make him the man for the hour of opportunity. These qualifications are, to success in life, as foundations of Jasper to royal palaces. Whoever possesses them cannot be an inferior man. To that man who retains them, life cannot be a failure.
