

The Housekeeper

Stale bread is always useful for bread sticks and croissants to serve with soup. Cut into slices half inch thick. For the croissants cut into cubes, and for the bread sticks cut three-inch lengths. Spread before cutting with butter and toast a golden brown.

To take the scorch of linen or silk, dip the article into quite cold water and hang dripping with water in the air. When dry, if not quite clear, repeat the process.

When dropping dumplings in a kettle, first dip the spoon into the broth, then dip it into the batter, and the soft mass will slip off without sticking to the spoon.

Parasols may be kept from splitting through the winter if stuffed with tissue paper. This keeps the panels from creasing in the centre.

Bananas pulped and mixed with lemon juice make a nice filling for brown bread sandwiches. The bread should be buttered.

When next cooking cold corn mush dip each slice of crumbs and broken egg in cracked corn and fry in deep fat and it will be delicious.

A bit of camphor in a small iron cup, placed over an alcohol lamp with flame turned low, will put flies and mosquitoes to flight.

To embroider initials easily draw them neatly with a pencil and carefully go over your letters with closely-placed French knots.

You can clean your little brass teakettle with salt and vinegar. One pint of salt, and three gallons of water, with two eggs for winter use.

A teaspoonful of ammonia and one of turpentine in one pint of warm water is fine for cleaning black silk.

A nice cologne water may be made with sixty drops of oil of lavender, sixty of bergamot, sixty of oil of lemon, sixty of orange, and one pint of alcohol. Cork well and shake well.

To remove the ordinary grease spot, take equal parts of ether, ammonia and alcohol.

Silver that has been stained with egg is quickly cleaned by rubbing with damp salt or with a cloth dampened with ammonia.

A splendid way of washing Chinese crepe is to make a strong lather of boiling water and white soap. When it is nearly cold wash the crepe quickly and rinse in a strong solution of salt and water. Hang to dry in the open air.

To make fly-paper, take equal parts of boiled linseed oil and resin, melt them and add some honey. Sink the paper in a strong solution of alkali, then dry before applying the above.

TIP FOR OVERLY RICH.

The opulent dames who have been driven by robberies at Narragansett Pier to put their jewels in safe-deposit boxes can accomplish most of the purposes for which jewelry is worn without taking the sparklers out of places of safety.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

WORLD FORESTRY

International Congress in Paris Did Good Work.

This congress, to which representatives came from every continent on the globe, and which was probably the largest forestry congress ever held, met for the expressed purpose of studying economic and technical forestry problems, and of promoting legislative and administrative reforms in order to secure the conservation of the forests, the prevention of soil erosion and the reforesting of waste lands.

Such subjects as the right of the state to regulate private forest property, or to expropriate misused and denuded forest lands to insure public safety from floods, were discussed from an international viewpoint. This state has long been recognized in Europe, where lands on watersheds are to be expropriated unless managed by the owner according to strict Government regulations and an adequate forest cover maintained.

A feature of striking significance in this forestry congress at Paris, international in representation and international in its scope, was that this congress was convened, organized and brought to a successful fruition by the Touring Club of France, a body having no direct interest in the promotion of forestry.

Too Much Political Graft.

Many say it can't be prevented, neither can wars or corns, but they can be cured by Putnam's Corn Extractor; it cures corns and warts without pain in twenty-four hours. Use only Putnam's, 25c at all dealers.

Rome in May.

Rome has more of glory which meet and challenge the most exultant heart. Take her in mid-spring when the roses are blooming everywhere, rioting over the walls and gateways, climbing the stems of the tall stone pines, laughing amid the ruins, dancing from window to window down the length of a sober street.

NO; CAN YOU?

Many people go to church, but few are those who remember the text. How do you remember the one your pastor preached on on Sunday?

WOMEN NEED A SAFE TONIC

And There is Nothing Better Than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Toning up the Blood.

It is said that woman's work is never done, and it is a fact that whether in society or in the home her life is filled with more care and more worries than falls to the lot of man.

What women fail to realize is the fact that if the blood supply is kept rich and pure, the day of the coming of wrinkles and pallor, dull eyes and sharp headaches is immeasurably postponed.
