Tis not quite so hard as it looks, we confess;
Speak quick, for we're all in a hurry to know.

Sleety conditions undoubtedly proved a great annoyance to pedestrians and teamsters Saturday morning. In fact the walks were dangerous to venture on for several days, their treacherous conditions being the cause of many severe falls. School children found the weather particularly to their liking, and found the skating just to their liking.

Complaint is made to the Record that many people fail to report births in their families. These people do not seem to realize the seriousness of the offence, or that a heavy fine in the penalty prescribed in the statute covering the matter. It is safe to say that no ulterior notice exists is not reporting the birth of a child, but that the negligence was caused from pure ignorance of the law, which is no excuse. It is absolutely necessary not only to the keeping of adequate vital statistics of our town, but to the moral safeguard of our civic life, that such important matters as births, marriages and deaths should be promptly reported to the proper official. The keeping of records of this kind is one of the requirements of a civilized community, and its importance should be clearly recognized. The more so in that the statute prescribes a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $50 for a breach of the regulation, and that at present there seems to be a certain indifference or ignorance prevailing in the mat-

Why not arrange to get some of your napping and painting done now when men can be had to do it and before the rush commences when everyone wants them at once? Inconvenient to do it now you say? As this seems to be the age of anniversaries and commemorations it is proposed that a day be set apart, to be known as Bible Sunday, to be used as an occasion to review the yearly advance of the circulation of the Word of God, and the ever widening influence of the Bible upon the literature and thought of the time. A fitting time for this Bible Sunday nearest to the date of the foundation of the British and Foreign Bible Society, which this year will fall on Sunday, March 9th.

There are worse evils in the world than work. Lucky is the man who is able to find constant employment of a kind suited to his tastes and his abilities. It would be a better and a happier world if everybody acquired a taste for work of some kind, if not for the sake of making a living, then for the sake of the work itself and the satisfaction it brings. One of the great mistakes of life is to look upon work as mere means to an end being the making of a living. For most people the work itself is almost as necessary a condition of a happy life as food and clothing.

A case of indecent assault on a little girl is agitating the people of Peterboro. The offender was a married man and reputed to be wealthy. He was let off with a fine of $40 and costs, and many citizens are indignant at the inadequacy of the sentence. The lash and imprisonment, as well as a fine, is the punishment prescribed by the Criminal Code, and the imposition of a fine only looks to us like a miscarriage of justice. Crimes against the person are becoming so common these days, and the authorities are neglecting their duty if they do not place the strongest safeguard around the young and the innocent.

The tide of emigration this season promises to be larger than ever before but the fact that they are coming here at the rate of over 1000 a day has become an old story not exciting anything special in the way of comment any more.

Advertising is simply creating buying habits. That is why it is certain to be a paying investment if done right, if the right newspapers are used, and if continued long enough to do its work thoroughly. Everybody knows how hard a habit grips.

Severe cold weather is hard enough on the birds, but when it is accompanied by two or three feet of snow, our little feathered friends have indeed a hard struggle to keep life in their tiny bodies. Be mindful of them at such times and remember that we are all their debtors.

An Albanian postmaster, aged 65, has been assessed $200 for kissing a customer, aged 40. This is another of the good things of life that have soared in recent years. No doubt the elderly postmaster remembers when he could have had kisses for the asking, or, for that matter, without it.

During the past few weeks the wholesale price of tea has advanced 1 1/2 per pound wholesale, and the retail price is soon to be raised. The chief cause of the jump in price is said by the importers to be a scarcity of supply. In one-half day last week Wm. Duxbury and son Jimmy with their seven horse Stickney Gasoline engine and saw, cut 65 cords of stove wood for Albert Hill. This little engine also drove an ensilage cutter with 24 ft. of blower pipe which in two hours and a half consumed and blew in the mow the entire straw stack for Thos. Hanna. Who says the farmer works hard now?

In the case of a home circulation such as that of "The Record" advertising really DIRECTS buying habits instead of creating them. The advertiser whose store news is taken into Record homes touches at once Interest and Desire to Buy, because the need for his goods already exists. His part is to practice ready exists. His part is to practice such persistency in presenting his news that buying HIS goods may become a habit.

E. Millenbacher, who recently purchased the property of the late John Rodgers, has been making extensive improvements to the place during the past few weeks. Do not put a bedspread through the wringer after dashing, but hang it on the line dripping wet. It will dry without a wrinkle and require little or no ironing.

While there are five eclipses this year—three of the Sun, and two of the Moon—not one of them is worth billing, as a popular spectacular exhibition in this country.

Farmers from out through Haldimand and Norfolk counties agree that the outlook for the Fall wheat crop appears to be fairly good and to show no injury from the remarkably mild winter. Usually winters like the present have been the forerunners of great loss due to being uncovered, allowing the roots to heave and remain uncovered.

Dr. Jaques of Jarvis, and Messrs. W. Dunnet and D. Z. Gibson, of Oneida, and Reeve McBurney of Hagersville, waited upon the Hon. James Duff, Minister of Agriculture, at Toronto recently with a view to securing a district representative for Haldimand county. Hon. Mr. Duff looked upon the matter very favorably and promised to give it serious consideration. It is expected that Haldimand will have a representative in the near future.

Almost every coroner's jury that deals with a foreign shooting case makes recommendations about taking fire-arms from these people. It seems to be simply a matter of form to pass these resolutions. At North Bay some foreigners were wrangling over the possession of a rifle. Some person's finger came in contact with the trigger, and the bullet snuffed out the life of a five-year-old, who was standing near. If it is impossible to regulate the use of rifles and revolvers the only alternative is to call them in and prohibit her further sale.
