The man who serves two masters must be two-faced.

Local and Personal.

If thou art worn and hard beset
With sorrows that thou wouldest forget,
If thou wouldest read a lesson that would keep
Thy heart from fainting and thy soul from sleep,
Go to the woods and hills:—No tears
Dim the sweet look that Nature wears.

Hyprocrisy breeds contempt.

Some men pay as they go—others go first.

In winter the female of the muskrat species puts on a coat of fur; the female of the human species buys some low shoes and some openwork hose.

Of some women it may be said that they are bounded on the North by their servants, on the east by their children, on the south by their ailments, and on the west by their clothes.

A man could tell his wife more if he was certain it would stop there but it makes a man hopping mad to have a neighbor refer to some business difficulty that one wife has learned from the other.

As mud stream can travel but a little way into a body of pure water before it spreads out and discolors the entire body just so does a moral leper contaminate those with whom he comes in contact.

A medical expert now startles us with the assertion that upholstered seats in churches are dangerous as hiding places for germs. Perhaps that's the cause of the sleeping sickness peculiar to some church attendants.

It has remained for a Boston woman to discover "how to be happy though married." Her opinion is: "Only the woman who keeps house for husband and children and does the work herself knows real happiness." There, take that, will you!

It is often said of a person, "He is doing the best he can," when he is doing nothing of the kind. A man may wear his hands to the bone and work his heart out in trying to tunnel a mountain with no tools but a pick; but he is not doing the best he can.

Among the millionaires of the United States none has such a hold upon the affections of the people as Miss Helen Gould, whose betrothal is announced. Out of her great means she has given royally, and in the expressions of regard and respect that are now showered upon her she has a part of her reward.

A stranger knocked at a man's door and told him of a fortune to be made. "Um" said the man, "it appears that considerable effort will be involved." "Oh, yes," said the stranger, "you will pass many sleepless nights and toilsome days." "Um" said the man, "and who are you?" "I am called opportunity." "Um," said the man, "you call yourself opportunity, but you look like hard work to me." And he slammed the door.

Capital punishment in Canada is now applicable to such convicted murderers as are strangers in a strange land or otherwise destitute of friends and influence. The murderers who have been saved from the gallows in the last fifteen years were just as cruel and brutal as the murderers who have been sent to the gallows. A jury's verdict and the jurisdictional condemnation of a murderer are no longer finalities in this country. Why should one set of murderers suffer atrocious punishment and other equal atrocious murderers escape? The equality of murderers before the law is a doctrine that is being riddled full of holes by the commutations which influence secures under every Government at Ottawa.

Cost of living has received another boost in an increase of ten per cent in that great Canadian food necessity, ice cream. Plates will begin to look as if viewed through the wrong end of a telescope.

Windsor averages ten weddings a day. Considering the conditions productive of this high total, it plays no mean part in the dramas that too often illustrate marrying in haste and repent at leisure.

Miss Frances Newell, A. W. C. M. also member of College of Liberal Arts, and Conservatory of Music, Windsor, is prepared to take pupils for piano. Pupils will kindly call at the residence of Mr. C. E. Bourne.

MARRIED—On Wednesday, Jan. 15th 1913, by Rev. J. H. Johnson, M. C. Gladys Coleman, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Blythe Colman, Port Dover, to Ralph Field Courtnege of Moose Jaw, Sask., son of Mr and Mrs. C. E. Courtnege of Hartford.

It is worth while bringing a man to task for breach of promise, when a verdict of $20,000 can be gained thereby, as in the case of that Calgary school teacher. And yet it seems to cast a doubt on the reputed demand for wives in the west that we hear so much about.

The printing business is being hit hard by the raise in prices of everything used. Type that cost 45 cents a pound three months ago is to-day selling for 60c. a pound; inks have advanced 15 per cent; papers of all kinds 15 per cent; envelopes 10 per cent; and another raise of 10 per cent was added after the 1st of Jan.

Instead of washing the face in water after being out in a dusty wind try rubbing it with a good cold cream. Don't be stingy in the application. Leave the cream on the face for 10 minutes or so. Then rub it off again with a coarse towel or wash cloth. The appearance of the cloth will prove the wisdom of the plan. After this treatment wash the face in warm water and spray with cold water.

Subscribers at a distance will please remit in full by postal note or postoffice order, not by cheque. Just recently from the States, a cheque for $1.50 was received. When 15 cents is deducted for exchange and 32 cents postage for the year, or 67 cents it left 83 cents for the year's subscription. Another from the Northwest instead of remitting a dollar actually deducted 5 cents. The subscription price is neither 83 or 95 cents. Subscribers will please note this.

If it is true that the majority of English educators are now demanding that eugenics be included in the school course it can only be regarded as another instance of modern educational insanity. If things educational are allowed to continue at their present gait we shall soon reach a point where our children will receive an entirely useless smattering of every subject under the sun except reading, writing and arithmetic, and as for manners, the less said of them the better.

When Rev. J. Culp reached home last Thursday he found his mother had passed away during the night, after severe suffering for days. All the family were present at the funeral except one sister living at Saskatoon who was unable to come. Her six sons acted as pall bearers and the remains were buried at the Mennonite Church on Saturday afternoon. Her pastor, Rev. Kaufman of the Mennonite church, conducted the services, assisted by Revs. Wass of Beamsville, Kelly of Thorold, Merper of Campden and I. V. Moyer, (a nephew of Burgess-Joe). The funeral was largely attended.—Port Dover Maple Leaf.

England is said to be experiencing the mildest winter since 1868. Well, what's good enough for old England should be good enough for us.

Somebody stole $70,000 worth of Gaby Desly's jewelry. Her sojourn in Toronto must have imparted to her the innocent and trusting spirit of the municipality.

DAVIS—At Colfax, California, Jan. 16, 1913, Gwendolin, only daughter of Frederick Davis, of Elko, Nevada, and granddaughter of the late Sheriff Davis of Cayuga, Haldimand county, Ont.

A Californian woman, 105 years old, has asked permission of her granddaughter to get married. If her reasonable request is refused she ought to appeal to her great-granddaughter.

A coffin combine is the latest Canadian merger. The danger is that the price of caskets is to be so increased that only the wealthy can afford to die, or dying, can be buried in anything better than a rough box.

Six prominent Stratford citizens were fined for buying liquor on election day as well as the hotelmen who sold it. If such action became general among the authorities, there would be much less desire on the public's part to break the law.

After a while it will dawn upon the average reader of the average paper that the editor who does his own thinking and who honestly and fairly and conscientiously expresses it, on any public question, is entitled to commendation in place of censure.

The Anglican Ruri-Decanal Chapter of Haldimand will meet at Hagersville on Tuesday and Wednesday 28th and 29th. Ven. Archdeacon Irving will preach at the service on Tuesday evening, and conduct "The Quiet Hour" on Wednesday.

The meeting promises to be a very interesting one.

Among those who sustained injuries through falling on the ice was Mrs. E. Harrop (sr) of Garnet. Mrs. Harrop fell heavily upon her wrist dislocating one bone and fracturing another. She is however, improving nicely we are pleased to know. Miss Sarah Cook also sustained a sprained ankle by slipping on some ice on Saturday.

A meeting in connection with the W. M. S. will be held in Knox church on Friday, Jan. 24th at 8 p. m. An address will be given by Dr. Margaret MacKellar, missionary on furlough, from Memuch, India. A cordial invitation is extended to both ladies and gentlemen of all denominations.

The series of evangelistic services held by the Misses Storr at Garnet Methodist church closed on Monday evening. Notwithstanding the unfavorable condition of the weather and roads a large number attended the farewell meeting. The ladies resume their work at Amhurstburg and subsequently at Hagersville.

An invention which is claimed, will prevent train wrecks from spreading rails, and which will hold a broken rail in place, was patented by a Toronto man, Mr. S. Jagger. It is in the form of an iron tieplate, which holds the metals in a much surer grip than the present spikes. The invention has stood satisfactory tests.

There must have been thousands of sadly disappointed people during the late holiday season. Letters and parcels they expected never came, for the simple reason that they found a final resting-place in the dead letter office, through lack of sufficient postage or address. The postal department knows no sentiment.

Joe and Dinah were husband and wife. One afternoon Joe was haying a nap, while his wife was busy cleaning up the house. After a time Dinah came to the part of the room where Joe's chair stood. She woke and ask him to move. Joe was comfortable and obstinate. "I'm not going to move for anyone," he said. "Why, gunpowder wouldn't shift me now." "No," retorted Mrs. Joe; "but Dinah might!" (dynomite). And Dinah did.

The only sure cure for the bad roads just now is a good fall of snow.

Any move that will make a man pay his debts when he is able will meet with our heartiest approval.

Mrs. Garb. Steele, who has been quite ill, is convalescing, the news of which will be learned with great pleasure by her many friends.

When boiling milk, first put just enough water in a saucepan to cover the bottom, and while it is boiling fast, pour in the cold milk. This is a safeguard against burning.

Don't throw away broken incandescent mantles. Crush them up into a powder, store in a small box and use for cleaning jewelry. It gives a splendid polish and does not scratch the surface of the gold or silver.

It cost nearly a million and a quarter dollars to take the last Dominion census, or about 15 cents apiece for the entire population. A private company would have done a cheaper job, and would have counted more heads.

The parcel post for Canada is promised. It may be realized or authorized at once, but it may take six months or a year to inaugurate the system. Will the express or the railway companies, essay to hold it up? Possibly, but they surely cannot succeed.

A number from here attended a social function given by J. A. and Mrs. Campbell at Hagersville on Thursday evening. All report a most pleasant evening but judging by the appearance of some of the young men's clothes the next morning, we think the roads were a "trifle" muddy.

It is not generally known that an ordinary box of matches, such as are generally used at the present time, is almost sure to ignite if let fall any reasonable distance, therefore the greatest of care should be taken not to place them where they are liable to fall or shake off or be thrown off by rats or mice.

There is no happier nor more cosy picture of home life than the little family group gathered about the evening lamp, while some member of it reads aloud. These evening readings can be made educational and develop in many ways, which the eager feminine mind, eager for improvement, will easily devise.

Three weeks of the new year have passed away, good time which can never be recalled, and still there are a number of subscribers on our list who have not paid up the amount due on their paper. We intend correcting our mailing list next week, and would like to have all those owing us to call in and settle their accounts.

Thankfulness should prevail in Montreal over the escape of 200 small orphans from a burning asylum, by means of fire drill. The horror of this nature that it experienced a few years ago should be more than sufficient for a generation. But isn't a similar tragedy invited by housing these innocents on the fifth floor of a building?

The idea of "cheap" insurance is fast passing away. In insurance as in everything else, there are certain risks and overhead charges that must be met, and which cannot be lessened. It is folly to try to run below these. The time of reckoning will reveal the mistake, and making amends by way of increased rates always cause friction and suspicion.

A mistake of justice was surely committed in Montreal the other day when a lad of thirteen was sentenced to two weeks in prison at hard labor, though later released on a technicality. Such instances as these will serve a poor purpose if they do not hasten the day for the establishment of juvenile probation courts, already provided for on our statute books, in every population centre in Canada.

Rev. Dr. Benson of St. James Methodist church, Simcoe, delivered his popular lecture "Men Wanted" in the Balmoral Methodist church, Nelles Corners last evening. Notwithstanding the unfavorable condition of the roads the church was well filled and the audience was delighted with the lecture. The choir contributed a number of selections and light refreshments were served at the close of the evening's exercises. At the request of the pastor Mr. J. W. Chapman Rev. A. C. Eddy occupied the chair.

Fortune and public opinion await the genius who will invent a sidewalk of material as cheap and enduring as cement and as safe to walk upon in slippery weather as a cork carpet.

The anniversary of the death of David Livingston, which took place on March 19, will be observed on Feb. 2 by all the young people's organizations of the Presbyterian church throughout Canada. 45,000 programmes for the day have been mailed.

A man started in the ivory business a few days ago, and the first thing he did was to have a sign painted representing himself holding a Missouri mule by the bridle. He was particularly proud of this stroke of business enterprise and asked of his wife: "Is that a good likeness of me?" "Yes," she replied, "a perfect picture of you, but who is that fellow holding you by the bridle?"

Watch Restored

A few days ago John Foster lost his watch. Edwin Gowar found the timepiece and consulted the editor of The Record. Why do finders of lost articles always look in The Record for the owners? "Because everybody puts The Record," Mr. Foster received his timepiece through a little ad which cost a few cents.

Cars Left Track

At 4 o'clock Monday afternoon a C.P. freight train, when about two miles south of Ganfand station, met a motor car as a result of a rail becoming broken at the centre of the train. A heavy New York Central engine was in the center of the line of cars. It is thought that the immense weight of the new engine caused the rail to break. The rear portion of the train ran off the track and the cars following piled up as high as the telegraph poles. The traffic was held up for several hours. No one was hurt.

Sad Bereavement

The home of Mr. James Russell, on the north end of Walpole, has been sadly bereaved. The home circle consisted of father, mother, and two children and on Saturday afternoon, as a result of an attack of scarlet fever the mother and one child were both buried. A fourth child, the other members of the little family, have also been ill we are pleased to state, and they are now convalescent. To Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell of Ganet, the husband's father and mother and all the relatives of the stricken family The Record offers sincerest sympathy.

Easter Arrives Earlier

Easter comes this year March 23. This will be Easter's earliest appearance in years. Last year it came on April 7th. Regarding Easter an encyclopedia says: Easter never comes before March 22nd nor after April 25th. In 1701 and 1878 Easter fell on March 22nd, but this will not be the case in any year of the present century. The latest Easter in this century occurs in 1943, when it will be April 25th. It is, therefore, not the actual moon in the heavens, nor even the mean moon of astronomers, that regulate the time of Easter, but an altogether imaginary moon whose periods are so contrived that the new calendar moon always follows the real new moon, sometimes by two or even three days.
