A second letter from T. Butcher, the is in the south :--

We are living in California near the Colorado river, which is the ging for a lecture to be repeated by state line between Arizona and Cal-Mr. J. B. Watsun, field secretary and loc-turer of the Association, on Tuberculusis and the work of the Musician Free Hos-pital for Consumptives.

The lecture will be given in the lecture room of the Presbyterian Church, on all are gone but about five persons.

Toroday, November 18th, at 8 o'clock. It was a mining town, which grows It was a mining town, which grew very fast, but died a rather sudden death. We started in automobiles for a run of twenty miles over one of the worst roads I ever saw. Talk about mud, Weil! We have no mud but we have hot sand on the main Now is the time to get your roads, so we prefer to strike the brush, which means a rough road through the trees with many a sharp turn. Sometimes you ride over a dry creek, other tunes you get a scratch from a screw bean tree, which resembles a thorn tree in Outorio, only the fruit is like a screw, also muskeg and arrow trees. After many turns and twists we reach the Colorado river, and crossed into Arizona. This is the muddlest river I ever saw. It costs 25c for a return ticket across the river. We had our photos taken on the ferry but I have not received one. We were then about a half a mile from our town, so we had dinner. I never saw dinner served in such short order in my life. Within two minutes after the class was spread on the saud in the shade of a large Next door to Priest's Butcher willow tree, we were told to line up which we did in short order.
