The trained agriculturist, who was graduated from the coilege at order to give the benefit of his expert knowledge to the community free of charge. This was not fair. Dr. Creelman said that this had been recognized to some extent. Therefore the county representaives of the Department of Agriculture had been appointed. Dr. Creelman favored the teaching of simple agriculture to boys in the schools of the province, and the principles of cooking, plain sewing, and the like, to the girls. This instruction would help to reduce the cost of living.

Mr. E. L. Root, of Medina, N.Y., told of the experiment by which he expected to keep bees at work for the greater part of the year and increase the number of his colonies. He had sent 300 colonies to Florida for the winter. He also pointed out that beekeepers and fruitgrowers would profit by the placing of hives in orchards.

The resolutions committee favored an amendment to the act respecting the spraying of fruit trees. It proposed that spraying be prohibited while the trees are in bloom instead of while they are in "full bloom," as at present. It also suggested that for infractions of the act the penalties range from $25 to $50. It also secured the reference to the executive committee of the question of co-operation in the buying of tin erntainers for honey.

GROWERS' MEETING

Hears Charge Made By Leading Farmer.

By Leading Farmer.

Toronto despatch -In an address on noon at the annual convention of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, Robert Thompson, a well-known grower of St. Catharines, charged that Ontario fruit was discriminated against in the west by certain powerful American wholesale jobbers, and that in this way the growers in this province were handcapped in reaching the western markets. He said much was heard from the west about dishonest Ontario growers and of western fruit gradually crowding out the Ontario product, but if one-half of this were true the industry here would be completely ruined. This talk, the speaker continued, was originated by the wholesale jobbers, who were doing their best to secure control of the fruit trade in the west by "knocking" the Ontario product. He said these jobbers would not undertake to handle Ontario fruit unless they made a profit of from $200 to $300 per car. The result was a prohibitive price to the retailer and consumer. The lack of proper transportation facilities and injury through poor packing were also responsible to some extent for complaints about the fruit of this province. In Mr. Thompson's opinion, the only way that shipments could be successful was for a number of growers to plant the varieties that will carry well and to furnish a regular supply properly packed and loaded in good cars. If this were dene, he was confident that reasonable arrangements for transit could be made with the railway com In respect to the warning overproduction sounded at the opening session by President Dempsey. Mr. Thompson said there was a market for all the tender fruit that could be grown that it was properly distributed. We were towns that would take sev-tons two or three times a week at a remanuable price. Ine processor tation again entered the question here, but Mr. Themoson felt quite sure that the transportation companies would be willing to make a reasonable arrangement if the growers would get right down to business.

Institutes Holding Their Twelfth Annual Meeting.

Some Very Interesting Papers Were Read

Toronto despatch -One of the most nteresting of conventions opened yesterday at the Foresters' Hall on College street. Here the Women's Institutes of Ontario are holding their twelfth an nual convention, 790 institutes being represented. Looking down upon the rows of earnest, intelligent faces, one is struck very forcibly by the marked characteristics of these delegates from Ontario's rural vilinges and towns. Finefeatured women they are, varying in ages from youth to serene old age; one notices, too, the absence of superfluities of dress, the tendency to neatly banded and braided hair (nearly all the ladies had removed their hats) and the quiet, forceful expression of most of the upturned countenances. There is a total lack of excitement, or even enthusiasm in its outward manifestations. obvious that they are one and all typical women of that wonderful rural world which is the backbone of the country, and, judging from its repre-sentatives at the Foresters' Hall, Canada has every reason to be proud of them, and to feel confidence in their sense of responsibility and realization of their supreme power in the work of platform. He spoke briefly on the inereasing influence of women as vital factors in the improvement of rural conditions, asking them to devote their energies especially to questions of food and sanitation, and raised considerable mirth by stating that he firmly believ-"I believe," he said, "that half the tragedies in rural life are due to improper feeding, to ignorance of a sound knowledge on the part of the women of the relative food values, and the scientific methods of preparing it in the most nutritious and economical manner." He went on to speak of men as being what women made them. Canada needs new standards of value as regards men many men are more bluffers, and women do not follow up their bluff sufficiently. There is a tendency on the nart of soon to be solfish, and women hitherto have been altogether wise in their treatment of them. A mood, healthy revolt on the nort of some women might be the redeeming of some men.

Supply Boat is Sound in Its Winter Quarters.

News Thought to End Feats for Karluk

Ottawa despatch-Word reached Department of the Naval Service to day that the Belvedere, one of the supply ships which went north as part of the Stefansson expedition, is in safe winter quarters. This is regarded as cettling the question as to the safety of the old whaler Karluk, Stefansson's ship, as the Belvedere followed practically the same route to the Arctic and encountered the same weather in which the Karluk was reported to have been lost.

The Belvedere is owned in Seattle Wash. Her owners there received word of her safety from a member of the ship's company who had journeyed overland to Circle, Alaska, and had sent a wire from there. The Seattle firm notified the naval service depot at Esquimault, from which the message was forwarded to the department here to-
