In our garden are many roses, Some of them are white and some are red. Really, I am fond of roses, But I want them now not when I am dead. Don't wait to show me your affection When the earth is piled above your head. In your garden there are many roses But I want them now, not when I'm dead.

CARD OF THANKS—The family of the late Mrs. Histed desire to return their most hearty thanks to the many friends who so kindly tendered their loving words and deeds of kindness during the illness and death of their mother.

The new house of Andrew Miller on Main Street is nearing completion and will, in a few weeks, be ready to be occupied by them. These new houses which have been erected on Main Street during the past few years, have made a great improvement to what the old shacks were that used to stand in their place.

Study faces. The study of faces is the richest, most inexhaustible, most fascinating in the world. Crown men and women, with an opera-glass, spend hours watching a bird hopping about in a tree. That is all very well. But every day, in the street-car, there are a dozen faces opposite you, each with the secret of a human life written on it. Can you read the secret? Try. Nothing will divert you from your own troubles so completely.

The steamer Elphicke, owned by the Buckeye Steamship Company, of Duluth, and in charge of Captain A. B. Collins, sprang a leak early on Tuesday morning, and Captain Collins was forced to beach the boat off Long Point. The entire crew of 18 men were saved by the Long Point life saving crew. The steamer, which broke in two shortly after being beached, was valued at $24,000 and was loaded with 160,000 bushels of wheat.

It is as easy to say kindly things as it is to make unpleasant remarks. Watch yourself a bit as you move about your home—is it a hard word and a frown? If the latter, pull yourself up short and make up your mind the world shall be bright with your kindness rather than darkened by your ill humor. Kill the unkind words before they pass your lips. Stifle bitter thoughts in your heart. Be considerate, tender, loving to your own.

It is popularly considered that playing-cards had their origin in the year 1392, and that they were invented as a means of amusing Charles the Sixth of France; but there can be no question that the cards upon which such an erroneous conclusion has been formed, and some seventeen of which still exist in the National Library at Paris, were reproductions of models which had been in use long before; these cards from the painstaking elaboration which has been expended upon them, being evidently specially prepared as cartes deluxe for the King, who would certainly have been familiar with them in the ordinary form.

Ontario Man Likely To Become Governor

The Aberdeen (South Dakota) Daily News recently had the following:

Present indications, supported by information from different parts of the state point towards Judge James W. McCarter, of Edmunds county, as the standard-bearer for the Democrats of South Dakota in the campaign next year. Judge McCarter was born in Jarvis, Ont., and has a large relationship in Haldimand, Norfolk and Hamilton counties.

Judge McCarter is about forty-five years of age, of Scotch-Irish descent, and has a striking personality. He is a man of exceptionally good principles and character, absolutely sound on all public questions, and is reputed to be an accomplished public speaker and debater. He is noted for absolute fairness in both his private and official life, and his many friends believe that he would make an ideal executive.

Scattered Silver

Silver ore valued at over $50,000 was spread over the road bed of the Grand Trunk railway near Ingersoll yesterday morning, when a special through freight from Northern Ontario was derailed as the result of the tender jumping the tracks.

At the time of the accident the train was travelling at a high rate of speed. When the tender left the rails nine other cars were also drawn off the tracks before the engine could be brought to a standstill. Losing their balance they toppled into a deep ditch beside the right-of-way. The cars containing the silver ore were broken and the contents spilled along the culvert for about a quarter of a mile. Owing to the accident the line was blocked for over a day. The auxiliaries rushed to the scene but it was some hours before the wreckage could be cleared away. A great deal of time was also spent in collecting the split silver ore. A large percentage of this had to be picked up by hand. The car was on its way to the refinery when wrecked. The rest of the train was made up of lumber.

Jail and Hard Labor

Two months in the common jail with out the option of a fine, and with hard labor thrown in as an added attraction, was the sentence imposed by Judge Monk this morning on Walter Grant, the young man who, a week ago, was found guilty of offering for sale diseased meat which was in such a state that serious illness would have been occasioned by any person eating of it. Grant, it will be remembered, purchased a diseased cow which had travelled all over the country from one man to another, and finally slaughtered it and sold it on the Hamilton market. It was purchased by a local butcher; who in turn sold it to another, and the latter had it on the meat block when Inspector Bhain, who had been put on the scent by Market Clerk Hill, caught up with it. C. W. Bell was for the prisoner on this morning he made a strong plea for leniency. "Had this meat been sold and eaten, it might have resulted in the death of those who ate it, which would have meant that you would have been guilty of murder," was one of the statements made by Judge Monk during the course of the trial.

A Letter

The following is a letter received from T. Butcher who left this town on the 18th of August last, for California.

I arrived at Blythe Junction in the centre of a large desert at 12.10 on Thursday morning and the settlers' cars at 12.30. We then unloaded the stock from three cars and then laid down to sleep until daybreak. We then unloaded the other cars and loaded our wagons for a trip across the balance of the desert, 42 miles, but it was three o'clock on Saturday before we got started for Brownswell, a distance of six miles, which we reached at 7.10. We slept in the open air that night and rested Sunday for a 27-mile drive the next day, as that was the nearest well. We took 10 barrels of water, besides canteens and water bags. We started at 5.30 a.m. and reached the divide, 13 miles, at 12.10 noon. We had dinner and started at 1.40 p.m. on a 14 mile trip for Graham's well, in hope of reaching there about 8 o'clock, but we broke a tongue, causing a delay of one hour. Next was a broken reach and a delay of one hour and a half. Then it was a wagon wheel and another delay, so at dark we were only a few miles on our road. Our troubles were just beginning. The coaches who were looking after the goods (I was one) had a nice time all along and had to carry a lantern at the head of the horses, which numbered from 6 to 10, a long team, but we got to Graham's well at 12.30 p.m., hungry and tired. After taking care of the horses and eating supper, we slept, only to be on the alert to finish our trip to the Palo Verde Valley, which we reached at 11.15. It did look nice after being on the desert so long.

We were met by H. L. Ward in his automobile at the side of the Valley. After feeding our horses, we were taken to a good hot dinner and then finished our journey by dark. We pitched our tent, had a good hot supper, then went to bed and slept. The next day we sized up our new home, which is contorted a beautiful place in California, as there are plenty of trees, which are a great treat in this country.

Some of my friends in Jarvis and vicinity will wonder why I am taking this trip, but wages here are double the wages in Ontario, and the work is lighter. I am in the best of health and spirits, so I will close with best wishes to my many friends.

T. BUTCHER.

A Veteran Dead

Hagersville, Ont., Oct. 21.—There passed away at Hagersville on Oct. 20, the Rev. T. S. Howard, in his 90th year, one of the pioneer Methodist ministers of Ontario who carried to the early settlers the good influences of the gospel. Born of Gideon, Ontario Methodist parentage, who were amongst the earliest settlers of London, he became early in life a devoted Christian worker. As a layman he preached for 12 years, filling Sabbath appointments through Middlesex, Lambton, Elgin and Huron. In his 30th year under the influence of Rev. Henry Wilkinson, he decided to take up the divine calling and consecrate his life wholly to the ministry. After one term under the Rev. John Williston, in Mt. Brydes and Stratford, he received special ordination and was appointed to the old Warwick circuit with Rev. Dr. Alex. Langford as his colleague. They did missionary work with great success, covering six townships, from London to Sarnia and Chatham, on which there are now 16 Methodist stations and circuits. His latter circuits were: Gastford and Amherstburg; Rodney, Mitchell, Orangeville, Cookville, Glenford, Hagersville, Oakville, Waterford, Welland, Burford, Townsend and New Credit. He had been supernumerated for 25 years, during which he resided at Hagersville. The funeral takes place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, interment to take place in Hagersville cemetery.

Races Postponed.

On account of the heavy rain of Monday the trotting races scheduled to take place at Dunnville had to be postponed and the committee in charge have decided to hold them on Friday, October 24th.

The school of experience has no commencement. It's perpetual.

It will soon be time to post your Christmas favor for the old country mails. Be in time.
