The White House

February !- ANNOUNCEMENT -!

Now here's to all good customers
On purchasing intent.
Should you require an overcoat
You can save just 20 per cent.

Or should it be a Ladies' Coat.
On possessing you are bent,
Just call upon the White House
And demand your 20 per cent.

Or if you require an umbrella
To replace the one you've bent,
Don't hesitate to call on us,
It's the usual 20 per cent.

Then there's certain lines of shoes
You want
And though leather has soarin'wert,
We'll meet you just half way, and say
We'll call it 10 per cent.

And no doubt your winter underwear
Will be getting old and rent.
Just say to the clerk before you pay
"Don't forget the 10 per cent."

And should there chance to be a man
With huge feet well coated at
We have huge rubbers to fit the same
At the regular ten per cent.

There are also mitts and gloves galore
To suit the well dressed gent.
Just try a pair as long as they last
And pocket your ten per cent.

Is Furs we've just a few more left
I would be money wisely spent,
For here we cut ourselves right loose
And make it fifty per cent.

And when your dress you come to buy
We'll not misrepresent
But cut nine yards instead of three
Just think of the ten per cent.

Our Ladies' Neckwear's fresh and new
And you'll pay us a compliment
By saying the prices can't be beat.
We'll return the ten per cent.

Our groceries too are fresh and clean
The prices we'll not augment,
Just let them tuck the duty on
We'll omit the ten per cent.

Now, if perchance you've gone astray,
We hope you'll all repent,
Just patronize the old home town
And save a large per cent.

No when at the end of the month
Our landlord demands the rent,
We'll cough right out with a happy
smile
And trot out a hundred per cent.

And then as the cash comes rolling in
Should the banker demand all he's lent,
We'll look him square in the face and say
No more of your seven per cent.

The wholesales too will be surprised
When our cheque for goods is sent,
They'll enter the account, "paid up in full"
With a discount of four per cent.

Thus many will reap a benefit,
From money that you have spent,
And you'll ne'er forget the pleasure
rare
Of buying at eighty per cent.

Norfolk Free of San Jose Scale

Mr. Digger, Dominion Fruit Inspector, was in Simcoe on Thursday, and in a short talk with The Record, said he thought Norfolk county was almost free from the San Jose scale, and attributed the condition to the systematic spraying of orchards.

A section west of Courtland, however, and extending through Tillsonburg, is still infested with this fruit pest. Still further west, through the counties of Essex and Kent, Mr. Digger says, whole orchards are to be seen completely ruined. Out from Chatham particularly, orchardists and farmers have lost a great wealth of fruit where a little systematic spraying with lime and sulphur would have brought large returns. The southern counties of western Ontario peninsula are about the only localities in Canada that are greatly affected by this pest. The line runs about parallel with the northernmost peach-growing districts.

It is part of Mr. Digger's business to see that inspectors in the different sections are working along the proper lines and looking upon Norfolk as a splendid fruit producing county, but urges a continued use of spraying, pruning and cultivation.

Reston

Mr. and Mrs. Chambers of Simcoe spent one day last week with their daughter, Mrs. Hugh Nowell, also with Mr. and Mrs. Burwell.

Mr. Percy Buck, of Jarvis, spent one day last at the Rolling Valley. Our rink had another exciting hockey game last Saturday afternoon between the east and west ends of the rinks. The score was a tie. Come again Scotch livers.

Gravel is the order of the day in our burg.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Highwood and Miss G. Highwood, of Jarvis, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. D. Scord on the Rolling Valley Farm.

Mr. Truman and Miss Enid White of Port Dover, spent one day with their uncle, N.J. Campbell. Miss C. M. Campbell spent the week with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, of Port Dover. Geo. E. Scord spent a couple of days last week in Hamilton with his uncle, E. S. Scord.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dickenson, of Port Rowan, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. H. Nowell.

Miss Stella Nowell spent a couple of days last week in Simcoe with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Yeager of Spring Bank Farm entertained a few of their friends on evening last week, about 10 being present. They spent a very enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf. Wilkie spent one day last week in Jarvis with Mr. G. Highwood.

Mrs. Kent, of Windsor, is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. J. McConnell.

Winter is half gone; what about bear seeing his shadow. We don't think he will see it in our burg.

Mrs. Roy Stone who underwent an operation last week, is improving.

Miss Lena Mitchell, who has been on the sick list for a few days, is back to her duties teaching again.

LUX

Is For You Madame?

What is LUX? It is a soap of unusual purity made into the thinnest of flakes that readily dissolve in hot water. It makes a creamy, foamy lather that cannot injure the daintest fabric or the hands.

LUX is a wonderful life lengthener of all woolen and flannel garments. It absolutely prevents them from matting, thickening or shrinking in the wash.
