National Dignity

London, Feb. 27.—The Times, in an editorial to-day, describes the proposition assumed to be contained in the note from the United States and based on a statement from Germany, that if Great Britain would refrain from seizing foodstuffs consigned to Germany the latter country would cease her submarine warfare on merchantmen, as an offer which it is impossible for Great Britain to accept because it would be an admission that she holds the command of her home waters and that her navy was helpless before the German submarine. "Whereas of our own allies of national dignity," says the Times, "the Germans would justly exult at such a conclusion, it is not to be feared that the British nation and government have the strongest respect for American interests and American feeling. They have done much to satisfy both and whenever military considerations permit, will gladly do more, but they cannot, will not submit to German blackmail and they believe in this Americans will feel they will do well." The German papers state that Prof. Friedenthal, of Berlin University, has discovered a means of converting straw into food. It is likely to revolutionize the food question.

Bells To Keep Dogs Away From Sheep

A man of wide experience in sheep raising has offered the following scheme to prevent loss through dogs chasing the flock. If a man has forty sheep, he can buy about two dozen bells, similar to a cow bell, but smaller and tie these to the sheep. It is a peculiar thing that a dog will not bother a sheep with a bell around its neck, and this is a real solution of the problem. A man followed the above scheme and kept sheep a short distance from the city for twelve years and did not lose one. His neighbors would not follow the advice and three sheep were killed in one night on the next farm. The plan is worth a trial anyway.

DIES 108 YEARS OLD.

Bessemer, Ala., Mar. 1.—Asa Goodwin, said to be the oldest man in Alabama, died here yesterday on the eve of his 108th birthday of pneumonia. Goodwin was born in Georgia in 1807. He has 74 grandchildren, 227 great-grandchildren, and 15 great-great-grandchildren. Mr. Goodwin formerly was a noted wild turkey hunter, and killed his last turkey when 101.

BEER PRICES RAISED.

London Feb. 27.—The Chronicle says the first rise in the price of beer in Berlin has taken place. It is only a little rise, but the burghers are indignant. Three prices of beer in Berlin, according to quality, were 10, 15 and 20 pfennigs for a small glass. They are now 11, 16 and 21. The great difficulty is the old copper pfennigs as the Berliners are not accustomed to pay out a smaller sum than a 5-pfennig nickel. Notwithstanding the scarcity of copper, the mint has to supply large quantities of the single pfennig. A Berliner vents his indignation on the unfortunate waiter, who instead of the usual 5-pfennig tip, is now put off with a paltry 4-pfennig.

Sad The Day

"Sad the day for any man when he becomes absolutely contented with the life he is living, with the thought he is thinking, the deeds he is doing; when there is not forever beating at the doors of his soul some great desire to do something large which he was meant and was made to do." These words were once spoken by Philip Brooks. They can be applied to you. It makes no difference what circumstances they are surrounded by nor the environment, that you are living in, you should struggle continually upward. It makes no difference how small your daily task is, always keep in mind that some day you are going to do better things. When you have finished your daily work, do not lapse into contentment. Understand that the morrow will be used to better advantage and that your task will be more perfectly done than ever before. Build as though one were a master builder, but never consider your handiwork perfect. Making your life bigger better, and broader is one of your tasks. Every day adds or takes away from your character. Have a care that your daily acts shall strengthen you. Never attempt to advance at the expense of your brother. And never consider that you have reached perfection. Avoid self-contentment as you would a deadly malady.

WHAT TRAINING WILL DO.

A traveller visiting a large factory made a bet with the manager that he would pick out all the married men among the employees. Accordingly he stationed himself at the door as they came back from dinner, and mentioned all those whom he believed to be married, and in almost every case he was right. "How do you do it?" asked the manager in amazement. "Oh, it's quite simple," said the traveller, "quite simple." The married men all wipe their feet on the mat, the single men don't.—Ex.

Most of the things we ask children to do, in the way of work, are chores in the dreariest sense of the word; they are little bits of jobs we don't want to bother doing ourselves. Now this isn't quite fair. It is hard to get deeply, joyously interested in the little part of a job. We all love best to do things that we can do as the wee on a say, "all by lone." We love to start a thing and toil away at it and finish it, and see it in its final relation to the world's needs. That is a most enabling experience; to feel the need of something—even the smallest; thing—and to go ahead on our own orders, and then fill that need. Life seldom gives us any better joy than that. ### FIRE IN WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, Feb. 26.—Fire of mysterious origin caused a loss of over $25,000 to the factory of the Canadian Muzzlehead company in this city at an early hour this morning, the upper portion of the factory being almost completely gutted before the firemen were successful in extinguishing the blaze. The J. G. Webb Co., manufacturers of pipe organs and supplies, who rent part of the factory, were heavy losers, much of their equipment being damaged. Insurance covers the loss. To-day's fire was the second serious blaze this month.
