For that Easter Card or Novelty call at The Record Office. A complete line of reasonable novelties at all prices. Before marriage, a woman expects a man; after marriage, she suspects him; and after he is dead, she respects him.

Canada has just sent a shipment of 4,000,000 eggs to England. They may be treated as contraband of war on account of having shells.

A number of local odd-fellows from this vicinity attended a grand rally at Waterloo last Thursday. They report having a grand time. Albert Gilbert of Woodhouse, landed one of the most coveted prizes at the Essex Corn Show, held in the Armouries at Chatham recently. Thomas Down died at Caledonia on Saturday, and was buried on Monday. Down was in his 67th year and was well known to many in this vicinity. The Walpole Agricultural Society met on Saturday afternoon last to prepare plans for the holding of their annual fall exhibition here in October next. The price of beer has been advanced in Berlin, Germany. This is the forerunner of an early peace, and will bear almost as great an importance as the smashing of the Dardanelles. Marble playing has been resumed which may be taken as a never-failing sign of spring. It will soon be bare feet and then for the swimmin' hole at the creek. Times are not too bad, for we were able last month to let the contract for the washing of our office towel. The work will be completed in the spring and the by-products should net us an handsome profit. Mr. E. Kendrick, of Simcoe, was in town on Monday, viewing the situation with regard to the opening of a tin-smithing, plumbing and stove business here at an early date. There is a grand opening here for a first-class man in this line. A St. Mary's family that got relief from the town, ran up a bill of $36 for two weeks' grocery bill. They got everything that was coming, including stewed mushrooms, juiced English hare, frogs' legs and other necessities of life—and the trimmings as well. The Misses Williamson gave a very delightful "miscellaneous shower" in honor of Miss Ruby Sharpe, on Friday evening last. Her many young friends in this vicinity were greatly pleased with the opportunity of extending their best wishes for her coming marriage. The evening was a most pleasant one and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Last week Mr. P. H. Secord of the city of Brantford, was awarded the contract for the erection of three station houses and freight sheds, at Waterloo, Simcoe and Port Dover on the Lake Erie and Northern Railway. The stations are to be of uniform design and size, 25x50 feet, and freight sheds, 25x40 feet, to be frame with concrete foundation and tile roofing, two storeys, at a cost of $6,000 each. A. J. MacAlpine took part in the hockey match, Simcoe vs. Hamilton, at the latter place last week and returned home with his customary souvenir, an injury. He was severely cut on the upper lip by coming in contact with an opposing player's stick, and required several stitches. Mac is always around when the "hard luck stuff" is handed out. We trust his injury will not cause any disfigurement, and that he will soon cease to feel his injury and appear before the public as well as ever. Keep a stiff upper lip, Mac., and smile! David Hastings, publisher of The Dunnville Gazette, has been appointed police magistrate of that town. Editor of the Hamilton Herald, where he gathered considerable of the virtues that Solomon had a monopoly of. While the duties of a police magistrate call for some high browed wrinkles, they are not a circumstance, to being chairman of a newspaper chapel in hand-set days, nor to being chairman of the laws committee at a session of the I.T.U., both of which jobs the editor of the Gazette has held—and escaped.—Aymer Reformer.

Italy is expected to enter the war within 48 hours. We are sorry to report the serious illness of Mrs. W. Devine. It was stated that Japan had delivered an ultimatum to China. Mr. Wm. Glanfield is spending a few days with his son, Dr. Glanfield of Appin.

Mr. John Saunders held a sawing "bee" yesterday, and Mr. J. Sater is holding one to-day. See our Snap Shot Albums at The Record office. They are something new.

London, March 10.—The Daily Telegraph's Paris correspondent says he learns that Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German Imperial Chancellor will make a statement in the Reichstag to-day setting forth the terms on which Germany is willing to make peace.

SANDUSK
As the government speakers for the Women's Institute urged that the women of rural districts make a special point to look after the condition of their schools, the Sandusky W. I. decided to hold their March meeting in the school-house. On March 8th, a very intellectual and practical meeting was held. The President addressed the pupils of the school and endeavored to show them that the object of education was not merely to learn them to read and write but to make the very best men and women of them that it is possible for them to be. She illustrated the tremendous part that habit plays in one's life, and urged to form clean habits. She told them that gentlemen were made of gentle boys and that kindness was one of the principle traits of all great characters. Mrs. C. Brown gave a splendid paper on "The Co-operation of parents and teachers. She spoke of the rights of parents in regard to their children's education and the rights of the children's and showed how both must co-operate for the best characters. The Teacher, Miss Hurs gave a very instructive address on "What a child should be taught before attending school." She showed that the early years of a child's life were very important ones, and in these a child should be taught honesty, obedience and respect for other people's and other children's property. Miss E. Henning gave a paper on "School Hygiene" in which she expressed some very intelligent and practical ideas. She impressed the meeting with the importance of proper ventilation and cleanliness both in the school-room and school-yard. Little Mildred Henning sang a song very beautifully. Some suggestions were offered as to how to improve the conditions of our school-house. The meeting closed with "God Save the King." Such meetings surely cannot help but make women broader minded, more intelligent, and be for the good of both home and country.

Death's Sudden Call
Mrs. J. J. Coonan Passed Peacefully Away at Midnight, Last Friday. Interment Near Stratford.
Died.—At her home in Jarvis, on Friday, March 5th, Mary Margaret Keane, beloved wife of Mr. J. J. Coonan, aged 38 years. Seldom has it been our duty to record so sad and sudden a death. A dark gloom spread over the whole community when it was whispered from one to another that Mrs. J. J. Coonan had passed away at a late hour on Friday night. After the birth of two bright, chubby infants, a boy and a girl, everything appeared to be bright and happy at the home of so pleasing an event, but though the little new lives thus begun were so strong and promising, the dear life who bore them was reduced to a state of weakness through heart trouble, and her own sad end came as quiet and unexpected at the midnight hour as had the entry of the new lives a few short hours previous.

Deceased was of a retiring disposition, though bright and pleasing in manner, so that friendship's circle was to her a large one. Indeed, it may be said of her, that "none knew her but to love her."

Mrs. Coonan, though usually of a robust nature, had not been in the best of health for some time, and her heart weakness was probably due to lack of outdoor exercise during the winter months.

The funeral took place at her old home in St. Mary's on Monday, the 5th of March, the remains having been removed from Jarvis on the Saturday evening train. Interment being made in the St. Mary's R. C. cemetery, Rev. F. Roman, of St. Mary's, officiating at the church and grave. There, the dearest of all places to her, she lies down at length to sleep and rest. Beautifully appropriate such a resting place, where her kindred sleep and where a host of her life-long friends remain to gather about the dear form with honest tears of bereavement to lay her away tenderly in the narrow house with its curtains of fadefless green.

To her the struggle and burden-bearing of earth are ended, and we confidently trust that like one who awakens from a troubled dream she has awakened to see life's endless morning break and knows herself at home with all the vast throng of loved ones, mingled from earth, safe about her. Her home instincts were strong here in this favored world of disappointment. Her affection for friends and kindred were tender and abiding. Among us all she ranked as a woman of refinement, sympathetic, kind neighbor, a devoted mother and a true friend, and withal a woman of heroic mould in bravely meeting the stern requirements and often the disappointments of life.

Gone from our sight! but because life and love are stronger than death she is ours still. She is still the mother of her dear children, upon whom she doted with such clinging fondness, and the companion still of him who mourns earth's greatest loss, and says she not by this very transition would over them a stronger force for goodness and truth than before.

A sorrowful husband, and our little daughter, Mary Helen, aged three, and the twins are left to mourn the early demise of a loving wife and devoted mother. Deceased also leaves one sister and one brother.

The Record joins with a very wide circle of friends in extending deepest sympathy to the bereaved husband and other relatives.
