KAISER PREPARED FOR WAR ON BRITAIN IN 1900 REMARKABLE SPEECH MADE BY HIM TO FRIENDS

In It He Voiced German Ambitions for the Supreme Place in the World—How England Was to Be Invaded—Fleet to Be Crushed by Improved Zeppelins—A Great War Necessary to Stave Off Revolution in Germany—Contempt for the Monroe Doctrine.

The Kaiser may say that he did not want war. Here is proof from his lips in 1908 that he did.

The most remarkable feature of Mr. William Le Queux's new book "German Spies in England" is a secret speech made by the Kaiser in which he outlined Germany's war plans. This speech we quote in full below. Originally it was intended that Mr. Eveleigh Nash should publish the manuscript, together with the speech in question, which were locked away in a drawer in Mr. Nash's writing table. When he came to look for them two days later they had disappeared, and Mr. Le Queux declares that his manuscript is now in the archives of the Secret Service in Berlin.

Mr. Nash in conversation with a "Weekly Despatch" representative confirms Mr. Le Queux's story of the robbery. He said the manuscript and the speech were put away in a drawer in his writing table in his private room. A thorough search later failed to disclose any sign of them. There was no evidence of the drawer having been forced, but it was the easiest thing in the world to open the desk without any marks of violence showing.

Mr. Le Queux's explanation of the robbery was that it had been committed by German Secret Service agents, and Mr. Nash said it would not be difficult for them to know that Mr. Le Queux had received a copy of the Kaiser's speech from Germany. He could not admire their sagacity, for they could hardly have imagined, if they had taken the trouble to think that Mr. Le Queux would not have kept by him a copy, which, indeed, was what happened.

"Gentlemen," he Emperor, in a low, hoarse voice, commenced, "in calling this council this evening, I have followed the Divine command. Almighty God has always been a great and true ally of the House of Hohenzollern, and it is to Him that I—just as my august ancestors did—look for inspiration and guidance in the hour of need.

"After long hours of fervent prayer light has, at last, come to me. You, my trusted councillors and my friends, before whom I have no secrets, can testify that it has been, ever since I ascended the throne, my most ardent desire to maintain the peace of the world and to cultivate, on a basis of mutual respect and esteem, friendship and goodwill with all nations on the globe.

"I am aware that the course followed by me did not always meet with your approval, and that on many an occasion you would have been glad to see me use the mailed fist, rather than the silken glove chosen by men in my dealings with certain foreign nations. It was a source of profound grief to me to see my best intentions misunderstood, but bullet-proof against public censure and criticism, and responsible only to the Lord above us for my acts, I calmly continued to do what I considered to be my holy duty to the Fatherland.

"True to the great traditions of Prussia, and the House of Hohenzollern, I believed in the necessity of maintaining a great army and an adequate navy as the best guarantee of peace. In our zeal for the preservation of peace we were compelled to keep pace with the ever-increasing armaments of our neighbors, until the limit seems now to have been reached.

Fear of Republicans
 "We find ourselves now face to face with the most serious crisis in the history of our new German Empire. Owing to the heavy taxation and the enormous increase in the cost of living, the discontent of the masses is assuming alarming proportions, and even infecting the middle and upper classes, which have up to the present time been the strongest pillar of the monarchy.

"But, worst of all, there are unmistakable signs that the discontent is spreading even among the troops, and that a secret well-organized anti-military movement is afoot calculated to destroy all discipline and to incite both my soldiers and sailors to open disobedience and rebellion. As, according to the reports of my secret service, a similar movement is making itself felt in nearly all the States of Europe, all indications point to the fact, which admits, indeed, no longer of any doubt, that we have to deal with an international revolutionary organization whose avowed object is the overthrowing of throne and altar, and the establishment of a Republican Government.

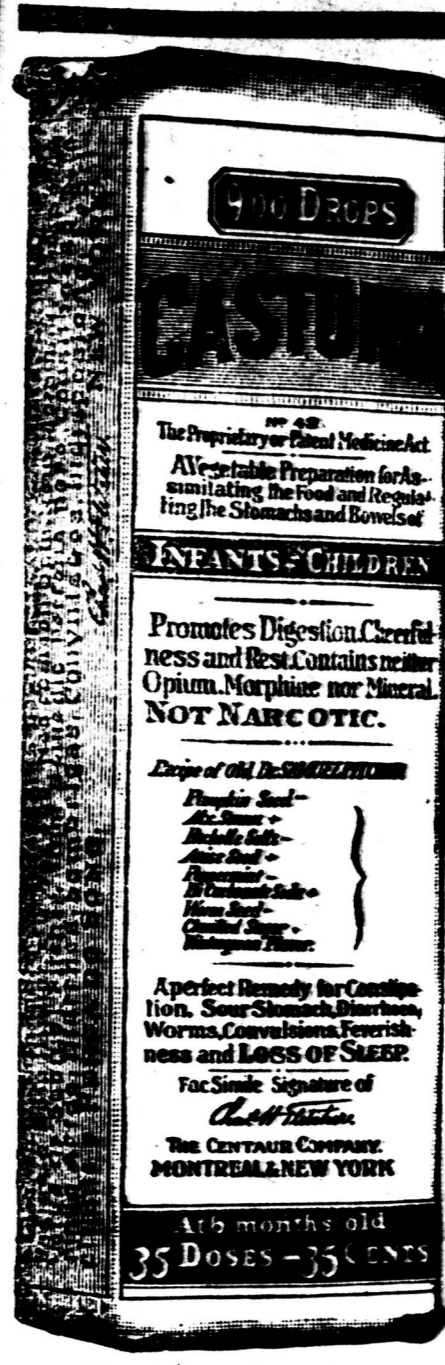

"The gravity of the situation can in no way be underrated. In the last session of the Reichstag it was openly admitted that never before had there been among the German population so many friends of a Republican form of government as at the present time, and the idea is rather gaining ground, not only among the masses, but also the classes, though I have given the strictest orders to my Government for its suppression. The fact, however, remains, and I cannot afford to ignore it.

Saved by Zeppelins
 "Breakers ahead" is the call of the helmsman at the Imperial ship of State, and I am ready to heed it. How to find an honorable and satisfactory solution of the problem is a question to which I have devoted the closest attention during these last months. The outlook is, I admit, dark, but we need not despair, for God, our great ally, has given into our hands the means of saving our Empire from the dangers which are threatening its happiness and welfare.

"You know what I mean. It is that wonderful invention which his Excellency Count Zeppelin was enabled, through the grace of the Lord, to make for the safeguarding and glory of our beloved Fatherland. In this invention God has placed the means at my disposal to lead Germany out of her present difficulties and to make, once and for all, good the words of our poet, 'Deutschland, Deutschland uber alles.' Yes, gentlemen, Germany over everything in the world, the first power on earth, both in peace and war; that is the place which I have been ordered by God to conquer for her, and which I will conquer for her, with the help of the Almighty.

"This is my irrevocable decision. At present we are, thanks to our airships, invincible, and can carry at will war into the enemy's own country.
