Pte. Winger Killed in Action

Wrote Letter Home from Front on Same Day He was Killed.

Official word was received yesterday by Mrs. E. Winger that her son, Pte. Winger was killed in action on the 23 of September by shrapnel wounds in the head and legs.

Private Arnold Winger was but 18. He left with a section of the reserve of the 48th Highlanders last June and had until the day of his death escaped many dangers and enjoyed good health. He was born at Jarvis, Ont., and had previous to his enlistment been employed as a market gardener in the vicinity of Humber Bay, where he resided with his parents. He at one time worked with the Diamond Glass Company on Dovercourt Road He was very well known at Humber Bay and was a great favorite with the boys of that district. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Foresters and held office in Court Riverview.

Besides his parents he leaves two brothers, Ross and Lloyd, and a sister, Edna. The Humber Bay school flag is flying at half mast in memory of Private Winger.—Toronto Telegram of recent date.

France, Sept. 23, 1915.

Dear Cousin,—

Just a few lines to let you know I received your welcome letter, and glad you are all well, as this leaves me well at present.

Things are very quiet in our district at present, but I hope we soon get a chance to chase those Huns oout get a chance to chase those Huns out of their trenches. I am just aching for a chance at them. I have just been firing a few rounds at the Germans, but they don't like our bullets and they fired back at me, and of ours I had to stop as I want to come back home again.

We had a few shells in front of our trench yesterday but no one was hurt. We have only had four killed and several wounded in our company since we came out here. That is very good. We are fighting out in the fields; we are not near any town, but your cousin Willie was killed near the town of Givenchey—I don't know if I should tell you that or not.

George Adams is back from the hospital and has joined his battalion again, but he is very nervous yet. He will write to you to-morrow as he hasn't any paper to-day. It is scarce in the trenches this trip. I had to to borrow a piece from my comrades to write to you.

We do all our own cooking in the trenches and it is not very clean work, but we do our best at it. So you see we are glad when we get a box from home.

I will close wishing you all good health and good luck. I remain,

Your loving cousin,

ARNOLD E. WINGER.

Death of Miss Shuter

Died—In Jarvis, on Tuesday, Oct. 12th, Margaret Shuter, aged 90 years and 2 months.

The deceased was born in Tyrone, Ireland, and came to Canada with her parents when but a young girl of 14 years. They left Ireland in May, 1839, arriving in Toronto, then called Little York, on July 11th. They settled in Esquising Halton Co., where for ten years they lived before moving to Walpole, where the old couple lived until their death. Miss Shuter lived on the old homestead known as the old Shuter farm until about 23 years ago. She moved to Jarvis, living alone in her little cottage on Lydia street. She was of a kind disposition and a good neighbor, always ready to do all she could for those who were in need. In religion she was a Presbyterian. Her death came as a great relief, as for many, many years she had been afflicted with a growth of a cancerous nature. The funeral will be held private, with interment at Chalmers' Church, Walpole.

Anniversary Services

On Sunday last the anniversary services of the Jarvis Methodist Church were conducted by the Rev. C. T. Bennett, of Port Colborne, a former pastor of Jarvis.

In the morning he took for his text Deut. 33, 24-25, and in the evening Acts 2, 1-2; Joel 2, 28. Large crowds gathered at both services to hear their old pastor. Mr. Bennett was stationed in Jarvis 23 years ago. In the evening, Knox church was closed and many of our Presbyterian friends were present, as were also a number from other churches, who had not forgotten the inspiring sermons that fell from the Rev. gentleman's lips in those days, and so they listened to the Word of God so simply spoken, and they felt that he had lost none of the power and earnestness of other days. Special music was given by the choir. After the morning service, a subscription was taken and $150 realized.

The Red Cross Auxiliary will meet on Monday, Oct. 18. The collection of fruit for the soldiers will be received at the Hall from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7.30 to 10 p.m. Any who have fruit to send, please bring on that day.

Jarvis Fall Fair

Main Day Last Wednesday

Fair weather favored the Walpole Agricultural Society's annual fall fair held in Jarvis on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, but the attendance was not up to the average, and the exhibits in many classes were below normal.

However, the day proved to be an interesting one in many respects and competition among the exhibitors was keen. The main attraction of the day was the grand Military Parade and drill of the members of the Sixth Overseas Contingent who are stationed at Cayuga, under the command of Lt.-Col. E. S. Baxter. The morning train, on which the soldiers arrived, was met by the Village Council, resident ministers, officers of the W. A. Society, and Dr. Jaques, M.P.P., and headed by the Jarvis Brass Band, were paraded to the Fair grounds where an address of welcome and speech-making was indulged in for some little time. Col. Baxter made a most appropriate reply and expressed his immense pleasure at the reception accorded the boys in Khaki.

The afternoon was enlivened by a splendid program of band music, during which time the live stock, horses, poultry, etc., were being judged; the soldiers were drilling and a small list of sports were being run off.

Space will not permit a detailed account, but we herewith publish the list of prize winners. The specials report of finances and other notes of the fair will appear next week.
