Jarvis and Walpole Recruiting League

At a meeting held in the Temperance Hall, Jarvis, on Thursday evening, Oct. 21st, a recruiting league was organized for Jarvis and Walpole. Dr. Jaques occupied the chair and gave a tentative outline of the work and constitution of the proposed League.

The need is urgent, the British Empire is in a perilous situation. We all stand or fall with the Empire in this crisis. If she is defeated we lose all our possessions, so all are expected to line up in a league to assist her in this hour of need. Especially is the need great for more men to come forward as recruits. Even should many of those enlisting not see active service fighting, they are needed for the moral effect they will produce. If the enemy sees that the Empire has an unlimited supply of men to draw on she will greatly hasten the time when she will seek terms of peace.

The following is the constitution of the League:

President—Mr. Andrew Rodgers.
Secretary, Mr. Andrew Miller.
The Gun Leagues to supply any needed funds.

A speakers committee was appointed, with Dr. Jaques as convener.

A Press Committee, with Rev. J. H. Ross, convener.

And a Recruiting committee for each ward with Messrs. S. A. Thompson, J. J. Parsons, James Falls, Jas. Haslett and Jas. Noble, as convener of their respective wards.

The work of the recruiting Committee is first to prepare a prospectus of all possible candidates for enlistment in their respective wards. Haldimand is aiming at securing an overseas unit of 400 or 500 men to be commanded by Col. Baxter, and a Recruiting Sergeant is likely to be secured for this district.

Secondly, this committee is to take charge of careful canvass of the district to enlist the aid of all persons in prosecuting the war. A column to be provided for signatures and a column where each signer man, woman boy or girl will intimate what he or she will endeavor to do in helping our country. Each one signing is to be considered a member of the League. Each local recruiting committee has power to add as many helpers as they may deem necessary to their numbers.

Under the irresistible pressure of the demands of the great struggle in which the nations are engaged, our men and women are feeling a new thrill of patriotism and awakening to a new sense of duty to serve, suffer, and even to die for our country. Be ready for your part when the call comes.

Additional local reading matter will be found on pages 4 and 5.

PICTURE POST CARDS—New photographs of Jarvis, at the Jarvis Drug Store.

Born.—In Jarvis, on Saturday, Oct. 16th, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, a son—Robert.

A carload of fifteen horses for war purposes was shipped from Jarvis on Saturday by Mr. Ed. Enid.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Whitlock and Miss Jean Nixon of Hamilton, spent the week end with Mrs. D. Hill.

James Cullen and family have moved into their new home in Jarvis, which Mr. Cullen purchased from Capt. Johnson.

Married.—In Seattle, Wash., on Oct. 14, Mrs. Alice Jones Caldwell, to Mr. Hugh Allen Cameron. The Record extends congratulations.

Tuesday's Globe contained the following item concerning Dr. J. A. Roberts:—"Prior to his departure for the Mediterranean with the University of Toronto No. 4 Base Hospital, Col. J. A. Roberts, M.D., the Commander, was promoted to the rank of Surgeon-General."

Mr. J. Pond, treasurer of the South Walpole Machine Gun League, announces that they have forwarded the sum of $342.00 to the Trafalgar Red Cross Day Fund, $200 of this being sent from Nauticos; and the balance from Chesapeake.

A concert given under the auspices of the Garnet choir will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 5, at the Garnet Methodist church. Music by the Erie Male Quartette and others; Readings by Miss Willsher, of Hamilton. Program commences at 8:15. Admission 25c and 15c.

Hickling Bros. of Delhi, have dissolved partnership. Chas. Hickling has disposed of his interest in the Delhi Reporter business to S. W. Hickling, who will carry on the business in the future.

The Jarvis gas supply was low on Friday, but the new main will now shortly be in use and the winter pressure is promised to meet all demands. A gate will be placed at the west end of the village as soon as the new line passes that point, and the increased supply will then be available for Jarvis consumption.

Kenneth Church left on Monday to accept a position in a store at Fonthill. "Ken" was in the employ of Miller Bros. of Jarvis for some years and was an efficient and faithful worker. He will be greatly missed among the boys, but all join in extending best wishes for his success in his new situation.

Pte. John Wilson In Old England

Writes Interesting Letter to His Parents—Enjoying Camp Life Immensely.

Somerset Barracks, Sherborne, Eng., Sept. 14, 1915.

Dear Friend,— It has been quite a while since I wrote to you last, and I wasn't quite so far away either, but I guess I am just the same though still able to eat three big meals a day when I can get them. Our "chuck" has been just a little short over here, and living in close proximity to the sea cultivates a good appetite. This is a beautiful country around here, but very hilly. We go on long route marches so I am able to see quite a bit of it. We took our horses in for a wade the other morning and a big breaker came rolling along and I guess my old horse thought I was trying to make a submarine out of him. He didn't enjoy it a bit or myself either when I got soaked. How is life on the farm? Does your Pollock still give satisfaction? Wilfrid has left the front at last. It was sure hard to see him go and have to stay behind, but we will get there some time. He is a sniper now and likes his job fine, for all it is very dangerous. I see a few wounded now and then, but we will even up their scores some day. It is "the day" we are waiting for. I am writing this letter in a place called the Soldiers' Home and a home it is. It is run by several motherly old women who are in here all the time and no trouble is too great for them if they can help us in any way. They have a "quiet room" where they hold a prayer meeting every night for those who wish to come. It is like going to the League and is a welcome change from our usual daily work—learning the most effective way to kill a man. Life is pretty hard over here for we are not for show now nor musical rides. We had two hours and a half of good hard work this afternoon doing the troop drill, bayonet drill and physical drill. It was work and no mistake. Zepplin raids are becoming very common here, but they do little damage. I suppose you heard of the sinking of the Hesperian. She had just landed us and was on her way back when she was torpedoed. I would like to have seen it. Well, I must close now so just remember me to the rest and give my regards to all my old Sunday School friends and remember me to my Sunday School teacher Mr. Ahmbly.

Your friend as ever,

PTE. JOHN WILSON,
A.C.D. No. 3679,
Canadian Cavalry Depot,
Somerset Barracks,
Sherborne, Kent Co.,
England.

No Truth in Report of Red Cross Socks

Toronto, Oct. 22.—As a result of rumors persistently circulated, apparently from pro-German sources that the Canadian Red Cross is selling socks knitted by prisoners who desire to contribute them to the soldiers, Mr. Noel Marshall, chairman of the Red Cross Cabled Commissioner Hodgkiss, asking if there was the slightest foundation for the reports.

"Absolutely preposterous," was the commissioner's reply. Mr. Marshall has offered a reward of $100 for the conviction of any person circulating the calumny.

Lieut. R. L. Goodliff a Transport Officer

Now in France at the Firing Line—Requests Socks for Boys from Haldimand.

In The Field, Oct. 5th, 1915.

Dear Dr. Jaques, I am just dropping you a line to let you know we are in the front line at last. Of course it is impossible for me to say where we are. The bombardment last week before the big advance was terrific, one continual roar for 58 hours. The ground seemed to rock like an earthquake. I think you will see that this is only the prelude to greater things. All our boys are fearfully keen and fit. They have come out of the trenches and are back in billets. They were in for six days, and are looking forward to their next turn in. I have been appointed Transport Officer to the Battalion and when the boys are in the trenches we have to take up the rations at night, which is fairly exciting at times as we get a few bullets at us to relieve the monotony of the thing. The first night I went up one struck the road about four years behind my horses' heels. We take most of the stuff in on pack mules, but have on these paved roads make quite a rattle and the Hunns, when they hear them let go with machine guns and fixed rifles in the hope of catching us. Bert Long drives one of the teams and behaves like a veteran under fire. Chris Henderson is in No. 4 Company and is getting on fine. The people round here seem a fine, industrious lot and would make good colonists and it looks to me as if there would be a fine field here to work in, if they were put together in one district they would make good settlers for New Ontario. One thing that is noticeable here is that only old men, women and boys under military age, are tilling the ground. It has been wet now for nearly a week. We have nearly as much mud as we have in Walpole in the Spring. If the ladies of Jarvis and Walpole are sending out any socks this winter, would it be asking too much to ask them to send a few out to this Battalion, and they will need some this winter, and there are quite a number in the ranks who went from Cayuga last November. If they were sent to Major Piper with a request for them to be sent on to us, he would see that they got through all right.

Yours faithfully,
R. L. GOODLIFF,
Lieutenant.

Erie L.O.L. No. 128 Machine Gun Fund

The members of Erie Orange Lodge are entitled to great credit for their splendid response to an appeal for a machine gun fund. Although the membership is only about fifty, they have shown their loyalty and desire to assist the Empire by contributing over $1,000 which will be utilized for the purchase of a Lewis machine gun, and which is said to almost equal a company of soldiers in the firing line.
