

S. TROOPS ATTACKED BY THE MEXICANS

Parral Conflict Means Serious Trouble for Wash- ington Government.

MANY DEAD REPORTED

Both Sides Lost in the Fight- ing, Which Took Place Tuesday.

Washington Report.—Serious fighting is in progress between United States troops and Carranza sympathizers at Parral, Mexico, 375 miles south of the border.

Many deaths are reported on both sides. The Carranza Government is protesting that it is powerless to stop the fighting, and late this afternoon renewed its demands for the immediate withdrawal of the American forces.

The trouble appears to have started when a detachment of 140 American cavalrymen probably the 13th, under Col. Sioucm, attempted yesterday to pass through the town. The Carranza authorities, according to the Carranza Government, urged the troops to leave. As the United States commander sought to obey the request, a Mexican civilian drew a revolver and fired. One American soldier was killed. The mob is said to have at once started in pursuit of the Americans, who, it is stated, retired to Maturana before the Carranza soldiers succeeded in stopping them. A later despatch to the Mexican Embassy states that subsequently the fighting became general, though it is not made clear if the Carranza garrison took sides with the populace.

Thus far the only detailed official information of the fight is that presented to Secretary Lansing this afternoon by Elizio Arredondo, the Mexican Ambassador designate, who called to present the formal note of his Government calling upon the United States to make arrangements for the withdrawal of the expedition. At the same time the Ambassador presented telegram from Foreign Minister Aguilar, Carranza, and Consul Garcia also received in the order named, telling of the outbreak at Parral, and urging that immediate steps be taken to withdraw the United States forces from Mexico. Later this evening the department received a brief despatch from Consul Letcher, confirming the outbreak, but giving no details.

The news of the fighting coming on the heels of the formal demand for the withdrawal of the American forces, has created the profoundest sensation in Washington.

ALL EYES ON WILSON.

All eyes in Washington are on the President. Upon him alone, Secretary Lansing admitted to-night, rests the decision whether the troops are to stay or to come out. Reports were current to-night that the American troops in Mexico are to be withdrawn, although officials refused to confirm them. At a later hour no orders had been issued to withdraw the troops.

It is felt that unless the demands of Carranza are complied with the trouble will spread, with the result that a state of war will shortly exist between the two Governments.

In army circles the gravest apprehension is manifested for the safety of General Pershing's forces, scattered as they were along a line of communication more than 400 miles long, and numbering at the outset not more than 10,000 men.

CASUALTIES ON BOTH SIDES.

El Paso, April 12.—First actual entrance of United States troops in force into a Mexican town resulted in an open clash of arms and bloodshed on both sides. The trouble occurred at Parral, a mining camp southeast of Chihuahua City, and one United States soldier was killed and several wounded. Mexicans precipitated the trouble by opening fire on the Americans as they were withdrawing from the city. The Americans returned the fire. The Carranza soldiers forming the garrison did not participate, but used their best efforts to calm their own people and restore order, according to reports from Carranza sources.

The clash took place on Tuesday, as the details from General Obregon, Minister of War in the Carranza Cabinet, reached here this afternoon were sent under Tuesday's date from Queretaro, the temporary capital, and Consul Garcia, to whom the message was addressed, surmises that the message was filed late Tuesday night after receipt of the news from Parral. The despatch says the trouble occurred "at one o'clock in the afternoon."

LEGATO MUST DIE

Guelph Italian Sentenced for Murder of Verne.

Guelph Report.—For the murder of George Verne, a fellow-countryman, on the night of Sunday, October 24, 1915, Tony Legato was this afternoon found guilty and sentenced to be hanged on Wednesday, July 5th. The trial started Wednesday afternoon and was completed 24 hours later, an evening session being held. The evidence was altogether of a circumstantial character, but the web woven closely about the prisoner. The evidence of Mrs. Verne, the widow of the murdered man, to the effect that she saw Legato at her front door shortly before midnight with a shotgun in his hands, and that he enquired on that occasion for her husband, bore all the earmarks of truth. Other witnesses testified in the evening, when Verne slapped Legato's face, and the latter had made a threat that some person would be wearing black before morning. Evidence was also presented to show that Legato's shotgun had disappeared from his room since the day before, and the shot and wads found in the remains of the murdered man corresponded exactly with those found by the police in Legato's trunk. The fact that Legato had run away directly after the murder also had much to do with fixing the crime on Legato.

The defence counsel, Mr. C. L. Dunbar, made an attempt to prove an alibi, but was unsuccessful.

This is the third murder trial to be held in Guelph in three years in all of which Italians were concerned.

CHECK MERCIER.

Pope Said to Wish Belgian Prelate to Moderate.

New York, Cable.—A London cable to the "Times" reports: According to reports circulating in Vatican circles, the Pope is annoyed by what is called the "Cardinal Mercier's excessive activity." He sent a fresh message of moderation to the Belgian primate, but so far the pontiff has resisted. From many quarters to disavow Mr. Mercier's attitude.

The pontiff does not wish to resort to a policy which might imperil even apparently the neutrality of the Holy See, but he firmly believes that the resurrection of Belgium is not being assisted by the hostile attitude of its population to the present occupants, which, it is felt, can only delay it by hindering the efforts of those working for its attainment.

A NEW BEER.

British Brew's Only Difference is in the Headache.

London Cable.—The liquor control board has discovered a new non-alcoholic beer, the sale of which will be pushed as far as possible in the English public houses.

"It smells like beer—it looks like beer; it tastes like beer—the only difference is in the headache," says the statement issued by the board.

In a test case a workman drank twenty pint bottles without becoming intoxicated. The new drink will be placed at the disposal of Parliament, in the House of Commons bar.

VILLA FOOLED U. S. TROOPS

Victim Says Bandit's Lieu- tenant Was Man Shot.

El Paso, Texas, Report.—An entirely new version of the story of Villa's death was brought here to-day by a Mexican cattle man, who claimed to have suffered a visitation from a band of Villa's followers on his ranch near Bachiniba. This man stated that Villa was neither dead nor wounded, but that Pablo Lopez, the bandit's notorious lieutenant and executive-in-chief, had died, and that Villa had deliberately used his death as the basis of the story of his own finish.

The Mexican who told his story is well known to several Americans here, who considered him reliable.

A HERO'S RIDE.

Pershing's Camp, at the Front in Mexico, April 5.—(By aeroplane and motor couriers to Columbus, N. M., April 11.)—The ride of Lieut. Albert Myer, of the Seventh Cavalry, at the Guerrero fight, when Col. George A. Dodd caught the Villa forces for the first time, was described here to-day by an officer from Dodd's column, who brought despatches to the headquarters camp. Lieut. Myer is from New York, a grandson of the former signal officer of the U. S. army.

During the position of the fight Col. Dodd had a mission on one side of the hills which form a bowl about the town of Guerrero. A mile and a half from this hill, Col. Dodd saw some Villa troops, numbering possibly one or two hundred, filing stealthily through a ravine. Moving in their direction, but in such a position that they might not see the Villa men, was Major Tompkins' squadron of the Seventh Cavalry. There seemed a chance for the Villa force to take the squadron on the flank, and Col. Dodd ordered Lieut. Myer to carry word to Major Tompkins, of the bandit's movements. Myer rode a horse conspicuously marked with white. Between him and Major Tompkins lay a mile of open field, swept by the fire of snipers. Lieut. Myer made the distance at a run, and reached the American squadron in time to warn them of the bandit's position.

Taking out fruit stains with boiling water is an old piece of knowledge, but the use of an embroidery frame to support the article is probably a new suggestion to most housekeepers.

ITALIANS ARE MAKING GAINS

Austrians Took Trenches, Lost Them and More.

London Cable.—The new Austrian offensive on the Italian front has made no progress. In the Ledro valley a surprise attack gained the enemy a footing in some of the Italian trenches on Monte Sperone, but on the following night the Italians counter-attacked and succeeded in not only recapturing the trenches, but making fresh advances on the mountain. In the Piezzo basin three desperate Austrian attacks were repulsed. Many Austrian trenches on the Carso have been wrecked by Italian bombs and explosive tubes.

An Italian general staff statement reads: "When the operations against Verdun began the Italian general staff decided to bring energetic pressure to bear upon their own front in order to prevent the Austrians sending troops to the French front. This plan was successfully carried out by means of continued attacks which were begun on March 5, and which resulted about 400 prisoners, also machine guns and other arms and ammunition were captured.

FOUR "POILUS" HOLD REGIMENT

Daring Deed of Unarmed French Infantrymen.

New York Report.—A special Paris cable to the World says: Even in stories of individual gallantry at Verdun poilus' names are not permitted, so the four heroes of the latest anecdote being narrated in Paris cannot be identified, except as infantrymen of the line.

They were with their battalion in a specially hot corner of the Callette woods a few days ago, when, on a particularly dark night, after the usual frightful bombardment, they dimly perceived compact masses of Germans rising toward them from trenches 40 yards away.

The command to fall back to the second line was unheard by the four soldiers, who, instead, uncensored themselves in an observation post, and, first with two rifles apiece, then with a copious store of hand grenades, held an entire regiment of Germans.

Apparently amazed at such unexpected resistance, the German commander ordered his men to seek shelter, while he dispatched two patrols of six men each to reconnoitre on either wing.

One of the patrols approached within a few feet of the hidden Frenchmen before the latter let fly a fusillade of bombs. Five of the six were slain instantly, and the sixth begged for mercy.

The other patrol, coming from another direction, saw the lone survivor standing with his hands above his head, and promptly surrendered in their turn.

Unwounded, and without great difficulty, the four infantrymen marched their seven prisoners rearward, and re-joined the main body of their unit in time to participate in a counter-attack which flung the Germans far backward from the positions they occupied before that astonishing quartette stopped the advance of a whole regiment.

A pessimist is a man who can't forget the mean things he knows about himself.

THREE MORE HELD IN FIRE PLOTS ON SHIPS FROM U.S.

Widespread Conspiracy— Leaders Still Free.

New York Report.—Three more arrests were made to-night in connection with the alleged conspiracy to destroy ships carrying war munitions to the Entente allies by placing "fire bombs" in their cargoes. Warrants, it was announced, are out for two others, thus involving nine persons altogether.

The arrests to-night closely followed the arraignment before United States Commissioner Houghton of the four men taken in custody last night. The three additional prisoners are Carl Schmidt, chief engineer of the steamer Friedrich der Grosse, of the North German Lloyd Line, and Frederick Praedle and Carl Faradis, assistants to Schmidt. The authorities still are looking for Charles Karbade, also an assistant engineer aboard the big German vessel interned here, and Walter T. Scheele, president of the New Jersey Agriculture and Chemical company, of Hoboken, where the bombs are alleged to have been manufactured.

Assistant District Attorney Roger B. Wood, in charge of the prosecution, declares that the evidence thus far obtained indicates a conspiracy with far-reaching ramifications, including not only the shipment of bombs to all parts of this country, but to South America. He said the men under arrest and those for whom warrants are out probably were not the ringleaders in the plot.

The four prisoners arraigned to-day waived the formal reading of the complaint.

Bode and Wolpert were released on bond. The others, however, were unable to obtain bail and were paroled in the custody of Captain William M. O'Leary, in charge of the local bureau of the department of Justice. A further examination was set for April 27th.

ANOTHER NOTE BY PRESIDENT

Wilson Has Made Up His Mind in Sussex Case.

Washington, Report.—President Wilson has made up his mind as to the course which he will pursue in dealing with the latest developments of the submarine issue with Germany. He will write another note to the Berlin Foreign Office. The note or communication as it is officially called—is already in the course of preparation and probably will be in polished form by Sunday evening. It denotes regard the crisis as already over and President's decision became known shortly after a summary of the communication, which the German Foreign Office has received, and which is reported to have been a repetition of the fruitless and unproductive of the high moral principles of humanity for which the President is contending.

A statement regarding the German reply pertaining to the Sussex lightly is given in a dispatch which has been issued in diplomatic circles. But officials that the President's note may offend Germany, but it has so repeatedly addressed to Berlin on the same subject.

Well informed circles there is a tendency to reserve judgment until the President's note is made public. There are, however, those who believe that the country by demanding an accounting from Germany, but all evidence clearly indicates the suspension of the long-drawn-out diplomatic negotiations.

The President's statement from official sources will be given in due time. It is expected that the communication will be published in the near future. It is believed that the communication will be published in the near future.

REPORTS OF BRITISH LOSS GREATLY EXAGGERATED.

London Cable.—Replying on behalf of the Foreign Office to a question asked in the House of Lords concerning the Turkish report that some 3,000 British despatch had been collected in front of the Turkish trench after the attack on the 5th. Baron Sandhurst, Lord Chamber- lain, said:

"Gen. Lake reports that our total casualties were much below this figure. He satisfied himself by a personal inspection. An enquiry among the wounded themselves showed that the medical arrangements generally had been satisfactory. He also reports that the weather was very bad, and that on the 5th there was a hurricane, accompanied by torrents of rain. The floods on both banks of the Tigris were increasing."

TRULY ROYAL

Belgian Sovereigns Show Their Noble Spirit.

Paris Cable.—(New York Sun cable)—On the occasion of St. Albert's Day, Le Journal, in a special article, describes something in the way in which the Belgian monarch lives, in a little Belgian town, which the King has not left for the past eighteen months, except for two short visits to the French front with President Poincaré.

The Belgian Queen left the town for only four days, when she took her children to London. The King's suite consists of four officers only, and the Queen only keeps one lady-in-waiting, her friend, the Comtesse Caramanich.

Many German aeroplanes fly over the town regularly. Belgian cannon generally drive them off, but several times bombs have been dropped in the vicinity of the royal villa. On a recent Sunday a bomb fell, touching the exterior of the church which the royal family attends. The damage was unimportant. The King's calmness aided in checking a panic among the congregation.

As the King was returning to his villa after the service another bomb fell near his carriage. There were several victims. The King remained and organized first aid for them, the Queen joining him. Both visited the hospital to which the injured were taken, as well as the homes of the victims' families.

When it was suggested to the King that a special Belgian aeroplane squadron be detailed to protect his villa, he replied:

"Our aviators have other work to do."

King Albert's son, Leopold, arrived for the birthday, but he was not troubled by aeroplanes, as there was a storm.

CANADIANS DECORATED

Long List of Soldiers Hon- ored Tabled in Commons.

Ottawa Report.—A return giving the list of Canada's soldiers who had received decorations or medals, or who had been mentioned in despatches up to March 17 last, was tabled in the Commons this afternoon. The list is a long one.

The most coveted honor of all, the Victoria Cross, has been won by five Canadians. They are: Major R. D. McCuaig, 13th Battalion; Capt. F. A. C. Scrimger, 14th Battalion; Lieut. F. W. Campbell, 1st Battalion; Lance-Corps. F. Fisher, 13th Battalion; and Color-Serg. F. W. Hall, 8th Battalion.

The decoration of Knight Commander of the Bath has been bestowed upon Canada's war leaders in the field and at home, Major-General Sir E. A. H. Alderson and Major-General Sir Sam Hughes.

The Order of Knight Bachelor has been conferred on one Canadian only—namely, Sir Alexander Bertram, Chairman of the defunct Shell Committee.

Fourteen officers have been made Companions of St. Michael and St. George; sixty-one officers and men have won the Distinguished Service Order; fifty-one the Military Cross, one hundred and thirty the Distinguished Conduct Medal, four hundred and ninety-four have been mentioned in despatches; and five nursing sisters have been decorated with the Royal Red Cross Medal.

In addition to these British decorations France has bestowed the Order of the Legion of Honor on six Canadians, the Croix de Guerre on four and the French Military Medal on two. Russia has given the Medal of St. George to twenty-four Canadians, the Cross of St. George to fifteen, and has bestowed the Order of St. Anne on one and the Order of St. Vladimir on one. The last mentioned order went to Major A. Hamilton, Galt of the Princess Patricia's Own Canadian Light Infantry.
