WONDERFUL COUGAR COUNTRY

(1) Look-off Point, Cougar Valley, Ontario, B.C. (2) Entrance to Caves of Naamu, Glacier, B.C. (3) Entrance to Caves of Naamu, Glacier, B.C.

HAVE you ever heard of the wonderful "Cougar country"? Wonderful it is in a score of ways, and few there be I imagine that have yet discovered the delectable region. The best way to find out about it is to go there, which we will proceed to do. Stop off at Glacier station of the C.P.R. in the Selkirk arrange with the Outfitter and his ponies to guide and carry you over the ten-mile trail to the Cougar, and there you are in the very heart of an alpine garden, enclosed with giant peaks, glittering ice caps and snow fields, the extraordinary Nakkim exposed, and rivers and streams and waterfalls unnumbered. There is a programme for you to feast your eyes upon and revel in.

The trail trip thereto is in itself an unique one, ever rising in grade until the eye can see a long sweep of the illeceberrant valley, where an express train looks like a child's toy, while Mt. Sir Donald looms higher and higher above his satellites. Across the beautiful valley at our feet rise the four summits of the Cougar mountain range, each one loftier than its mate. I only crave for you the experience of traversing these four levels of summits, as I did, until the panorama was limited only by the power of the eye. On every hand great ice deposits cling to the mountain sides or slope in acutest angle toward the Cougar river, racing through the valley bed. Hanging glaciers and titanic cornices cloase the rugged rocks in their mantles of white, with tiny lakelets and alpine meadows marking the lower levels.

But there is yet another Wonder is a cabin with a guide charge who will conduct you to Canada's cavern world, only discovered within recent years. Here ramble and scramble through underground streets, and the river as the water flows serious channels and a prisoned river is and cave-making as it has been trifle of forty thousand years nders enable one to descend to nether depths, amid stirring except for the light roar of the water, the leaning from the pawement of the tain holds within the series a series of rooms of large and small
The
and the chamber
no and
Hall. Walls
shifting
sides and walls, fluted
grapes, mark
in this vast one may stand on that drowns
human voice.

A glint of daylight through a cave roof told us we were near the outer crust of mother earth, and a last scramble over a mass of boulders brought us out of the black world into the sunlit one, which looked more beautiful than ever. F. Y.
