The local Khaki boys will put on a musical evening this Saturday night in Jarvis. They will parade to church on Sunday, accompanied by the 114th Military Band. The Band is expected to arrive on Saturday morning.

Geo. L. Miller resigned his position as Secretary of the Walpole Agricultural Society recently, owing to some salary differences arising. He was re-appointed on Monday afternoon at a special meeting of the Board, the salary to remain the same as last year.

Serious Accident

A serious and what might have proved a fatal accident befell Mr. W. Kindree on Friday last. It appears that during the day Mr. Kindree, in company with some other men, had been cutting straw, and eight o'clock in the evening he was engaged in taking down the on-charge pipe from the cutter. While standing in the mow and lifting the pipe, it swung to one side causing him to lose his balance, and to save himself he stepped on a board which broke under his weight, causing him to lose his hold on the pipe, when in dropping struck him on the head, causing a slight fracture of the skull and cutting a small artery. The blow from the pipe caused Mr. Kindree to fall to the cement floor below a distance of eight feet, rendering him unconscious. Mr. Kindree at time of writing is progressing favorably, although suffering greatly from shock.

DRESS-MAKING.

Miss Annie N. Evans, 3 doors north of Methodist Church, Jarvis, Ontario.

"Bobbie" Burns to the Rescue.

During the early Napoleonic War, recruiting throughout Great Britain was slow. Neither press gangs nor public speakers, nor pulpits were sufficient to fill the ranks when the poem below of Bobbie Burns the man who undoes odd the human heart, came to the rescue, and the ranks of the British army were filled as if by magic.

When wild war's deadly blast was blown, and gentle peace returning,
Wi' mony a sweet babe fild herless, and mony a widow mourning;
I left the lines and tented field, where lang I'd been a lodger,
My humble knapsack o' my wealth, a poor and honest sodger.

A leal light heart was in my breast, my hand unstained wi' plunder;
And for fair Scotia hame again, I cheery on did wander.
I thought upon the banks o' Gaik, I thought upon my Nancy;
I thought upon the witching smile, that gaught my youthful fancy.

At length I reached the bonny Glen, where early life I sported;
I passed the mill and trysting thorn, where Nancy aft I courted;
Wha said I but my ain dear maid, down by her mother's dwelling,
And turned me round to hide the floor that in my een was swelling.

Wi' altered voice, quo' h I "Sweet lass, sweet as your hawthorn's blossom,
Quo' she "A soldier on't I lo'd, forget him shall I never;
My purse is light, I've far to gang, and fain would be thy lodger;
I've served my King and Country lang, take piy on a sodger."

See wis, fully she gazed on me, and lovelier was than ever;
Quo' she "A soldier on't I lo'd, forget him shall I never;
Our humble een, and hamely fare, Ye freely shall partake it;
That gallant badge, the dear cockade, ye're welcome for the sake o't.

She gazed, she reddened like a rose, then pale like any lily,
She sank wi' a my arms and cried "Art thou my ain dear Will?"
'By Him who made yon sun and sky—by Whom true love's regarded,
I am the man, and thus may still true lovers be rewarded.

"The wars are o'er, and I'm come hame, and find thee still true-hearted;
Though poor in gear, we're o'a in love, and mair we'll ne'er be parted.
Quo' she, "My gran side, off me gowd, a wee farm pleish'd fairly,
An' I come, my faithful sodger lad, whou't welcome to it dearly."

For gold the merchant plows the main, the farmer plows the Manor;
But glory is the sodger's pride; the soldier's wealth is honor.
The brave poor sodger ne'er despise, nor count him as a stranger;
Remember, he's his country's ray, in the day and hour of danger.

—ROBERT BURNS.

The Late Lt.-Col. Edwy S. Baxter.

The funeral was held at Cayuga on Thursday afternoon last service being held in the English Church, Rev. A. H. Francis read the sermon; Major Williams read the lessons; and Major Piper preached the sermon.
The men of the 114th Batt. were present 620 strong, and marched to the cemetery, headed by the Regimental Band. It was the largest procession ever held in Haldimand, and one of the most impressive occasions.
Large numbers of citizens from all parts of the country attended, and Col. Nelles came from Toronto to be present with the Haldimand Battalion. Special trains were run by the Grand Trunk Railway.
It is rumored Lt.-Col. A. T. Thompson will succeed to the command.

Passed to Rest.

Frances Jennings, Beloved wife of Mr. Andrew Rodgers, died on Saturday.—Funeral held Tuesday.

After an illness of about eight weeks Frances Jennings, beloved wife of Mr. Andrew Rodgers, of Jarvis, passed to her reward at an early hour on Saturday morning last, at the age of 69 years, 2 months, and 14 days.
Mrs. Rodgers had been in very poor health during the past ten years, and at her own's was quite delicate, her final illness causing her to take her bed on the Monday previous to her demise. Since that date she has been gradually sinking until the ename peacefully on Saturday, Februar 19, as stated above.

Frances Jennings was of Irish descent, born to the late William and Mrs. Jennings in the township of Clarke, in the county of Durham, Ont. When she was but six years old she came with her parents to the Township of Walpole, and settled on the farm one concession south of the Walpole Stone church. Her parents predeceased her some ten years ago.

In the year 1871, Frances Jennings was united in marriage to Andrew, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Rodgers. To them nine children were given, five of whom survive with their aged father to mourn the loss of a loving and kind mother, and devoted help-meet.

Deceased was converted early in life in the year 1860 at a camp meeting held immediately west of Hagersville. She united with the Methodist church at what was then known as the Jennings' Appointment, under the pastorate of the late Rev. John N. Lake and the Rev. John C. Wilmont. At her marriage, she had her name transferred to the Jarvis church, where she remained ever faithful and true to the church of her choice to the end.

She was an active and willing worker in the W. M. S. since its organization, and was for many long years its treasurer. Mrs. Rodgers also took a particularly active interest in the work of the Sabbath School as long as her health would permit her to attend.

"Smooth the locks of silver hair,
On our mother's brow with tenderest care,
Gather the robe in final fold,
Lay on her bosom, pure as snow,
The fairest, sweetest flowers that grow,
Kiss her and leave her, our hearts delight;
Her pain is over; she sleeps to-night."

She died at 5 a.m. on Saturday last. Strong in constitution she had just paced the floor leaning on the arm of her husband, and with the awakening life of a new day she went to sleep like a tired child on the shoulder of her faithful life's partner. It was just as the bird's carolled the coming of the morning and just as the tiny fingers of the orb of day tinted the eastern sky with a sheen of glory. Surely a most fitting time for a pure spirit to take its flight heavenward. With the eye of faith one could see at the dawn of this memorable winter day an invisible hand wave a signal and a voice in softest accent on the morning breeze, announce that the gates were open and that God's angels were awaiting to escort her in. After a long, busy and useful life, she died as she had lived—honored, trusted and loved. She reared her own monument while she lived in the hearts of all who knew her. Her life was completed if work all done and well done constitutes completion. Her Christian life was beautiful from its beginning to its close, and through all the vicissitudes and sorrows that she met in the way, her faith in God never wavered. But she has left us but for a little while, and to-day the beautiful mantle of pure white snow, emblem of God's own purity, falls upon still another grave that hides from our sight all that is moral of a true and noble woman.

The Methodist W. M. S. and Mission Band attended the funeral in a body showing their loving devotion to so faithful a friend and co-worker as their late lamented sister had proved herself to be among them.

"Mourn not the lost! in realms of changeless gladness,
Where friendship's ties are never crushed and broken, we still may meet; He who beholds our sadness.
Hath to the trusting heart assurance spoken of that best land, where free from care and pain,
Fond friends unite again."

Those who survive are—Her sorrowing partner in life, and five sons, Herbert at Wadena, Sask.; Harvey A. of Vancouver, B.C.; Robert F. of Quill Lake, Sask.; Wesley F. of Hamilton, and Frank A., with the 76th Batt., now stationed at Barrie.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from her late residence to the Methodist Church, Jarvis, for service and interment in the family plot. The Rev. J. G. Foote, pastor of the church, officiated. The pall bearers were—Messrs. Wm. Parkinson, Geo. Histed, George Irwin, Henry Johnson, J. A. Burwash and E. F. Jones.

Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the high esteem in which deceased was held by friends both far and near.

To the bereaved husband and sorrowing family and other relatives The Record extends deepest sympathy.
