ANTIQUES

In a recent notice under this heading mention was made of that most celebrated antique, the Portland vase, and the influence its substance, form and decoration had upon the artistic industries of the last century and a half It was Sir William Hamilton, British Ambassador to the Court of Ferdinand IV., King of Sicily, who secured and sent this treasure from Italy to England. Sir William was a great patron of the arts and crafts of his time, and accomplished much in the way of rescuing gems of ancient art from the seclusion of the tomb and other secret hiding places, and restoring them to usefulness as models for craftsmen in every kind of material capable of being manipulated into artistic form, workers in gold, silver, breuze, brass, ivory, marble, claybaked and unbaked, glass and wood, all essaying to reproduce their beautiful features of form and decoration and by this means developing craftsmanship and creating wealth in many directions.

Next to the Portland vase came the scarcely less renowned Warwick vase as a proof of Sir William Hamilton's forethought in selecting objects of art to serve two great purposes, viz., as antique specimens for museums and as examples for artistic craftsmen to reproduce.

The Warwick vase was sent by Sir William to England about 1774, and evertually sold by him to his nephew. the second Earl of Warwick, hence its name of "The Warwick vase."

The vase was discovered in 1770, in the bed of Lake Pantanello, in the neighborhood of Tivoli, near Rome, while excavating the ruins of the Tiburtine Villa, the favorite retreat of Hadrian Augustus. It was sculptured by Lysippus, of Sicyon, a Greek artist, who lived in the fourth century, B. C., and is of white marble, standing 5 feet finches high, with a diameter of 5 feet 8 inches, and has the liberal holdng capacity of 163 gallons. The form and decoration is suggestive of the Bacchanalian trophy. The body is in the shape of a colossal wine cup. A grape vine forms the principal part of the upper decoration, with the twisted branches forming the handles, and the leaves and fruit distributed naturally over the surface. Bacchanalian masks and emblems are around the centre of cup, and the lower part is draped by means of two panther skins, with heads and feet distributed to complete the full trophy scheme of decoration. Perhaps the most satisfactory reproduction in recent days of this antique is that made in the "Black Basalt" body, invented by Josiah Wedgwood, about 1760, a specimen of which was recently exhibited in New York. Evolution of the Checker.

That formidable person, the chancellor of the exchequer, who levies toll in the House of Commons to-day, draws his lofty lineage from the reign of Henry III. Henry, thinking it desirable that the lord high treasurer should be prothe lord high treasurer should be provided with a guardin, gave him one in the pame of a "check." The checker, keeping his name, has now become the cornerstone of the treasury edifice. The Lord High Treasurer disappeared with the Duke of Shrewsbury, whom Queen Agnes appointed a few days before her death. It was George I., who put the office of Lord High Treasurer in commission in 1714, and in comimission it has since remained. Five persons have the honor—the first lord, three junior lords and the chancellor. But the chancellor proved too strong for all of them and the board, once a reality, has, like the board of trade, long since ceased to meet. of trade, long since ceased to meet. -London Chronicle.

KEEP LITTLE ONES WELL IN WINTER

Winter is a dangerous season for the little ones. The days are so changeable—one bright; the next cold and stormy, that the mother is afraid to take the children out for the fresh air and exercise they need so much. In consequence they are often cooped up in overheated, badly ventilated rooms and are soon seized with colds or grippe. What is needed to keep the little ones well is Baby's Own Tablets. They will regulate the stomach and bowels and drive out colds and by their use the baby will be able to get over the winter season in perfect safety. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A FAMOUS BATTLE. The battle which is known in history as the "Victory of Victories" took place at Nevahend, in Eebatana, and was fought between the new Moslem power in 637 and the empire of Persia, then one of the most powerful of the eastern monarchies. It was one of the most absolutely decisive battles in the history of war, and it was all the more amazing by reason of the fact that it was won by a people who twenty years before had been unknown barbarians, lost in the deserts of Arabia. Arabian historians place the Persian loss in a single day at 100,000 men killed. This may be and probably is an exaggeration, but the fact remains that the Persian dynasty came to an end when the battle was over and that Zoroastrianism, which had been the religion of Persia for over a thousand years was at once supplanted my Islam. Its modern representatives, as is well known, are now the Parsees of India. The victory was so absolutely decisive that it extended the Arabian dominions over the whole of the region lying between the Caspian Sea and the Indian Ocean. With the exception perhaps of the battle of Tours, no single fight ever made such a difference in the after history of the world. Exchange.

ART OF BATHING.

To Get the Right Idea Just Inquire of Any Healthy Boy.

The art of bathing has never been fully understood. It ought to be put on its feet. Some people feel that in order to bathe it is necessary to call in the services of a physician. Others bathe at the slightest provocation—on railroad trains and when they are visiting a family of ten with only one bathroom. Such people would call for a bath anywere—on a trolley car, on song. But soon and always the eter- an excusion steamboat or when crossing the desert of Sahara.

nal hush returns, and silence reigns supreme again. The world is full of Between these two extremes, the roll in chopped nuts and spread bathers and the non-bathers there lies a vast gulf. If these people could only be brought together - by arbitration can equal that of Rhodes' sleeping possibly—what a benefit to society!

Boys are the only ones who have the right idea. No real boy likes to take a bath or to be presented with one on a marble slab. Any healthy boy will sink to any necessary moral level to avoid this. But any boy will go in swimming. In short, if there be about the bath the spirit of adventure, then the boy-whose instincts are natural-will seize the bait. Swimming in April, with the water somewhat above zero, it is a joy for him which would be properly resented in a bathroom. If we must bathe indoors therefore the boys ought to be in charge of the proceedings. And if they were all mean, contemptible bathtubs the would be abolished and every house would have a swimming pool. Everybody has a motor car. Why not a swimming pool?

CUTTING DOWN EXPENSES

A great number of people have, unfortunately, had their earnings reduced since the war, and consequently they deem it wise to cut down living expenses. One sensible plan is to eat less of the highly refined foods and meat and more of the coarser and more nutritious cereals such as Dr. Jackson's Roman Meal. This is the most wholesome, most nourishing, and most healthful cereal food on the market, and costs much less than the highly refined breakfast foods. Sold by live grocers at 10 and 25 cents. THE STRAIN ON OUR EYES.

Modern Conditions, Not Poorer Vision, Necessitate Glasses.

An amusing incident was witnessed The question, "Are our eyes weakeris frequently asked by people who observe closely and who are dismayed by the remarkably large number of people who wear glasses to-day as compared with a generation or so ago. Our eyes are not degenerating. The eyes of the bresent generation are in no wise poorer, weaker or inferior to those of our ancestors, notwithstanding the fact that tion required, and, indeed, sometimes His caddie meekly followed at his heels while he continued his exerancestors, notwithstanding the fact that a lar greater percentage war glasses tions, and eventually the gentleman than formerly.

As is the whole physical body, so are the eyes.

But much more is required of our eyes now than was ever required of our ancestors. The strenuous struggle for existence to-day, the ever increasing complexity of our modern civilized life, the multiplying knowledge of the world in all lines of human endcayor, knowledge that must be mastered if we would rise and achive success, but far greater strain on the eyes of this generation than on those that have gone before.

Our schools are far more exacting and severe, the business and scientific world require closer application and more painstaking care than ever before. Electricity has turned night into day, and much more work is now done by artificial illumination than in the past. Sharp competition in every line makes it necessary to have the best vision obtainable.

WALKING.

It is the Best Exercise, as Well as the Most Economical.

After all, there is probably only one form of exercise that is suitable for all ages and is at all times available. and that is to be taken in the open air -the exercise which is probably the most ideal-walking.

The Grecian women and Grecian men have given up an excellent illustration of the value of this kind of exercise. We are justified, therefore, in concluding that walking is probably the best all-round exercise; and it should be indulged in by every person, if not engaged in physical labor, to the extent of at least five miles a day.

As someone has wisely said, "Probably the best medicine you could take is two miles of oxygen three times a day. This is not only the best, but the cheapest and the most palatable. It suits all ages and constitutions. It is patented by infinite wisdom and sealed with a signet divine. It cures cold feet, hot heads, pale faces, feeble lungs and bad tempers. If two or three take it together it has still a more striking effect. It has often been known to reconcile enemies, settle matrimonial quarrels and bring reluctant parties to a state of double blessedness. This medicine never fails. Benjamin Franklin, who was a wise philosopher as well as an eminent statesman, believed that one hour walking was worth four hours horseback riding, and more than equal to lolling in a carriage all day. He was loathe even to compare the latter as a form of exercise, and doubtless would have been equally uncharitable towards auto-riding. In the summer there is no better form of exercise than rowing, which has the beneficial results similar to walking. It is interesting to note the stress that is being placed by administrators of public health on the value and importance of physical exercise.
