THE CURIOUS BANANA TREE.

A Plant That Will Practically Grow While You Wait.

If a good sized, healthy banana tree is cut off a few feet above the ground during the wet season the tree will not die, but nine times out of ten will send up a new shoot from the center of the trunk and will grow fast enough to make up for lost time, for within forty-eight hours it will rear waving green leaves triumphantly above the severed trunk.

The secret lies in the fact that the trunk of the banana tree is not hard and woody like other trees, but is really composed of undeveloped leaves wrapped tightly together in a spiral form. When the tree grows these rolled up leaves push upward and merely unroll. Thus no time is lost in forming buds and growing leaves as do ordinary trees. When the trunk is cut off it doesn't interfere with the growth of the leaves, because they are always pushing up from the center of the stalk. If you will roll a sheet of paper tightly and push against one end you will see exactly how the leaves are pushed up from the trunk of the banana tree, and if you cut the roll in two you will find that it doesn't prevent you from pushing out the center of the roll as before.

Although the banana tree repairs an injury so rapidly and well, the shoot formed from the cut stalk seldom bears fruit or flowers. As these shoots are taller and stronger than the original trees, however, they are much better adapted to withstand wind and storms, and the natives frequently cut the banana trees in order to force them to produce the strong, fruitless growth and to serve as windbreaks for other crops.

From the Boston.

"What do they mean by the expression, 'spilling the beans'?"
"It is from the Boston and means the divulging of information concerning which one should have been more reticent."—Pittsburgh Post.

Not Telling About His Defeat.

"Pa, I had a fight with Billy Brown today."
"That so! Did you whip him?"
"Sure! You don't suppose I'd be talking you about it if I didn't, do you?"—Detroit Free Press.

A Stern Chase.

The Youth—Yes, I'm in business for myself, but I don't seem to be able to meet with any success.
The Sage—Nobody ever meets with success, young man. He must overtake it.—Philadelphia Press.

The Wherefore.

"Miss Wombat is not a girl who wants to talk all the time. She is willing to listen."
"Yes; somebody once told her that she had beautiful ears."—Kansas City Journal.

But They Can.

Mrs. Muggins—When a girl is married she is apt to think her troubles are over. Mrs. Buggins—Yes; she does not seem to realize that things can go very much amiss with a Mrs.—Philadelphia Record.

A Genius.

Little Willie—Say, pa, what is a genius?
Pa—A genius, my son, is a person whom nature lets in on the ground floor but whom circumstances force to live in an attic.—Chicago News.

Trying Work.

Thin Haired Man—What! A shilling for cutting my hair? That's outrageous! Barber—But, my dear sir, the hairs on your head are so far apart that I had to cut each one by itself.—London Tit-Bits.

Relief.

"My patience is taxed very often."
"Well, I notice you get relief in the usual way."
"What's that?"
"Swearing it off."—Baltimore American.

The Play.

It is remarkable how virtuous and generously disposed every one is at a play. We uniformly applaud what is right and condemn what is wrong when it costs us nothing but the sentiment.—Hazlett.

Reward.

Actor—I have been in your company ten years. Is it not time that you do something extra for me? Manager—Yes. From now on you shall play all the parts in which there is eating.—Fliegende Blaetter.

That's Different.

"Faint heart never won fair lady, you know."
"Nonsense! I know a man who's got $4,000,000 and a weak heart, and all the girls are just crazy to marry him."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Room Dust.

Dust is everywhere, but the worst kind of dust is that which is confined within the four walls of a room. The dust is always germ laden, because it is infested with effete matter thrown off by human bodies.

The Comforter.

"I understand Mrs. Green is very ill."
"That's so? What's the matter?"
"The doctor thinks it's pleurisy."
"Oh, my, I must hurry right over to see! I know dozens of people who die of that."—Detroit Free Press.
