A Message to the People of Norfolk

The following which appeared in the last issue of the Simcoe Reformer was written by John Montgomery, an old Norfolk boy. Mr. Montgomery is well known by the residents of Jarvis and vicinity, having spent the earlier part of his life in these parts. The following, we hope, will prove interesting to our readers. Mr. Montgomery has donned the uniform of the 133rd and has been given the rank of Sergeant.

The writer has wondered many times of late whether you good people of Norfolk County have been taking a really serious view of the war situation or if you would, if asked to do so, what I ask is that you personally sit down in your own home, lay aside all bias and party animosity, and so deeply into the whole question as you find it to-day, and as to what may happen in the future. Then, going so, come to a conclusion as to what your duties are. Consider what you have already done and what you might do to bring this horrible war to a close with success and honour. Have in mind, when doing so, that it is costing many millions of dollars daily to maintain our soldiers in the field.

I might say that a good many men in this country have responded to the call, and have given one way and another one half of all they possessed and are now giving up their time for war purposes. Others have sacrificed money, friends and money, and are today doing their bit, as the front men make the sacrifice for love of country, the country that has done so much for them and their family for many years, and they are now asking what they in turn can do for that country.

In answer, my friends to all these problems is a simple one. Get out and help every spare moment, if you can't fight, to provide men and more men. England and England's King have asked Canada for all the men that we can get. Surely you would not like to see Britain lose this war for the sake of a few more men? What would you think of yourself, if by careless neglect of your present duty, our good old Canada should be invaded, our homes burned to the ground, our women and children treated like those of Belgium, Poland and Serbia, and a crushing war indemnity put upon the country? Every male inhabitant of Canada would be a slave for the balance of his life, and also his children and their children. This picture, friends, is not overdrawn, in fact it would be much better for us were to be killed outright, but this would not suit the diabolical Germans. They want the balance of the world to work for them, so that for all time to come the Germans could be idle barons of the land. Many of us will say that when the time approaches, that then you would go out and fight. I am sorry but you would be too late. Nothing but millions of well trained and armed men could hold out against these atrocious devils for one minute.

Our enemies have called to the front by conscription all their men, and have left the women to take care of the work. I trust, my friends, that our Government will not have to resort to conscription, especially as all that is asked of us is to furnish our seven per cent of the population. I feel certain that if the people of Norfolk were alive to the dangerous situation that the 133rd Battalion would be filled in two days. The reason for our present haste is that the Germans have their agents in all the neutral countries of Europe and these agents have millions of money at their disposal, and have made all kinds of rosy promises to these countries as to what the Germans will do for them if they will enter the war on the German side. Bulgaria has already done so. If he seven other neutral countries go in with Germany we might as well say good bye to dear old Canada. It, however, we make the sacrifice now and help Britain build up a large army, the situation will be just the reverse. The neutral kingdoms will give the German agents their walking ticket, and will join hands with the Allies. If this happens the war would come to a successful finish in a few months. All our men would be home and peace and prosperity would fill the whole land.

The old adage holds good, that it is impossible to drive a two-penny nail with a tack-hammer. This must be clear to all, so let us have the big hammer at once, and stop all this waste of life and money. Let every man in Norfolk to-day get out and do everything that he possibly can to assist recruiting. If he can go himself his duty is manifest. If he is too old or is incapacitated for active service there are other ways to help. Call meetings in every school-section, and talk the matter over among ourselves. If you need help, don't hesitate to call in the aid of the Recruiting Committee. Arrange with your neighbor who can go, telling him that you will take care of his work while he is absent. I remember, long ago, before the time of machinery, that neighbors would turn out by the dozen and reap the crop of man who for some reason had fallen behind with his work. Why not do it for love of country? Friends it has to be done to win this war. Don't you think it much better to do it with good grace than latter be forced to do it?

Have in mind, men of the county, that the fight is for YOUR home, and YOUR wife and child, or for YOUR brother and sister as the case may be, and when you come in to sign up with the 133rd Battalion, your home unit, don't forget to tell your family that it is with them you are going to fight.

Men of Norfolk! be women of Canada are praying that God Almighty will give every man strength to go out and fight to save our country.

How can you refuse? I have been repeatedly asked why it happens that a man of my age has signed up with the 133rd Battalion. The answer can be found in the above appeal, and also in the fact that Norfolk is my native country. JOHN MONTGOMERY.

C.P.R. TO MOBILIZE SCIENTISTS FOR RESEARCH WORK

Arranges With Arthur D. Little to Establish Central Organization at Montreal

GO. LOOKING FORWARD

Dominion-Wide Organization for the Scientific Research of the Country's Vast Resources

Although the potential wealth of Canada's natural resources is known to be marvellous, only a small portion of these have been exploited, and apart from the work done by the Government Geological Survey, the scientific investigation of Canada's resources with a view to practical development has been fragmentary and almost immaterial.

The lesson of the titanic conflict now raging in Europe has brought home how much the Dominion has to learn from some of the European countries from which she is at war, as for instance, the pre-eminence of Germany in manufacturing, metallurgical and electrical development, due pre-eminently to the thoroughness with which chemical research was pursued in that country, a pre-eminence which resulted in a large and profitable market for her manufacturers, not only at home but all over the world.

The wealth and prosperity of the nations and empires of the future will be gauged by their mineral and chemical activities and production.

When peace is restored there will be a strong effort to provide the requirements of the British Empire and if the war were, unhappily, to be long drawn out, the production of Canadian resources might become more essential to success in peace and war than armies of heroes.

eric equipment equal to anything on the continent. These are, however, local activities, and the time has come, in the opinion of Lord Shackleton, when a Dominion-wide organization should be formed for the scientific research of Canada's vast mineral, metal, hydro-electric and chemical resources, which will result in the practical application to industry of many minerals heretofore neglected or exported for manufacture to other countries, or by-products in existing industries, and of other natural resources which were neglected or insufficiently exploited. The waste of straw, for instance, in our wheat fields, of flax fibre, of lumber, seventy-five per cent of the product of which has been wasted in the forest or at the mill, while in tungsten, molybdenite, graphite, oil shale, mica, manganese, magnetite, talc, feldspar and other minerals there is a field for the profitable investment of much larger capital than at present.

The Canadian Pacific Ry. Co. aims to secure the mobilization of the ablest and most scientific and chemical brains of the Dominion, and to associate them with a central organization to direct the activities of all the scientists and experts engaged in research work in all parts of the Dominion. The discoveries and information gleaned by the central organization, while supplies for the special information of the Canadian Pacific, will be disseminated from time to time by bulletins which should be of great value to merchants and manufacturers as well as to students and prospectors.

To carry out these views arrangements have been made with Mr. Arthur D. Little for the establishment of a central organization at Montreal for research work. Mr. Little has been President of the American Chemical Society and is a member of the Institute of Chemical Engineers, and a director of the Chemical and Engineer Department of the Institute of Technology. Indeed, Mr. Little's fame as a chemist and as a chemical engineer is world-wide, and as an organizer and investigator he has an unsurpassed reputation. His activities have extended to every branch of industrial and chemical research, he has supervised seventy practical chemists associated with him. Lord Shackleton is confident that Mr. Little will build up an organization in Canada which will confer immense benefits on the Dominion.

A Dominion charter has been obtained and the Canadian Research Bureau will begin operations in Montreal on May 1st, when they will be in a position to co-operate with other professors and others of the Dominion already engaged in research work.
