Bonnycastle Dale contributes the opening article to the May issue of Rod and Gun Magazine, published at Woodstock, Ont. by W. J. Taylor Limited. "Tales of the Trappers and Hunters of 1914-1915" is the title of the article by this well-known writer who can always be depended upon to know what he is talking about when he writes of the creatures of the wild. Frank Veigh another well-known Canadian writer contributes "One Eye, Benny and the Tenderfoot: The Tail of a Trail" a story that depicts some of the idiosyncracies of the sturdy little pack ponies of the Mt. Robson region. There are a dozen or so other articles of interest before the regular departments, which are up-to-date and full of interest to the lover of out-of-door sports, whose equipment includes rod, gun, dog or trap.

F. T. Biette, who has been for many years manager of the Standard Bank at Tilsonburg, has left for Chatham, and will take charge there. Mr. and Mrs. Biette and daughter have been our most active citizens in all good works, and will be greatly missed.

STORY OF A WEATHER VANE.

Why a Grasshopper Tops the Royal Exchange in London.

If you ever go to London among the places of interest there you will visit the public buildings known as the Royal Exchange. There is a cupola at the top of that building. Rising from that cupola is an iron rod with a huge grasshopper on it for a weather vane. And there is an interesting story connected with that grasshopper. It is this: One day, more than 300 years ago, a mother in England had an infant, a few months old, which she wanted to get rid of. So she wrapped it up in a shawl and laid it down under a bush in a field and left it there to die unless some one should find it and take care of it.

Shortly after a little boy was coming home from school. As he passed by the place he heard a grasshopper chirping in the field. He stopped a moment to listen to it. Then he climbed over the fence to get it. But just as he was about to catch it he caught sight of the baby close by. He let the grasshopper go and, taking the baby in his arms, carried it home to his mother. She took charge of the baby and brought him up. He turned out to be a good, pious boy. He was always decided in doing what he knew was right and in not doing what was wrong.

When a young man he went to London and entered into business there. He was successful in business and became rich. He was not only rich, but great. He was knighted and is well known in English history as Sir Thomas Gresham. The Royal Exchange was built in honor of him. And he had the grasshopper put as a weather vane on the top of it in memory of the wonderful way in which when an infant his life was saved by the good providence of God.—Richard Newton in Bible Models.

THEY PUZZLED HUXLEY.

Terms in Which He Found It Difficult to Define His Belief.

Huxley once wondered whether he was a deist, an atheist, an agnostic, a pantheist, a materialist or a skeptic, an idealist, a Christian, an infidel or a freethinker. And the more he reflected the deeper his problem. What answer will any one make? Dr. James C. Fernald in his work "Synonyms and Antonyms" defines each according to his own belief, as follows:

"The deist admits the existence of God, but denies that the Christian Scriptures are a revelation from Him. The atheist denies that there is a God. The agnostic denies either that we do know or that we can know whether there is a God. The skeptic doubts divine revelation.

"The infidel is an opprobrious term that might once almost have been said to be geographical in its range. The crusaders called all Mohammedans infidels and were so called by them in return. The word is commonly applied to any decided opponent of an accepted religion.

"A freethinker is inclined or addicted to free thinking, especially one who rejects authority or inspiration in religion. A materialist takes interest only in the material or bodily necessities and comforts of life. A pantheist accepts the doctrine of pantheism. An idealist idealizes or seeks an ideal or ideal conditions. A Christian is one whose profession and life conform to the teaching and example of Christ.

"Pantheism is the doctrine that God and the universe are identical. It contrasts with atheism as the positive denial and with agnosticism as the dogmatic doubt of the existence of God. It opposes that form of deism which denies the divine immanence and separates God from the world."

Keeping a Lamp Clean.
Once in two months I separate the wicks from the burners and boil them in soda water. In about ten or fifteen minutes I take them out and clean them with an old toothbrush, rinse and dry. I lay the wicks straight to keep their shape. They will be white and pliable. Then fill the lamps with suds (not too hot) and let stand while until all discolorings have vanished. Drain, wipe out and refill with kerosene, adding a teaspoonful of salt to each lamp. Lamps treated this way give a beautiful bright light and there is no fear of an explosion.

Sing Different Songs.
"Pa, you sing bass in the choir, don't you?" asked Bobby Smithers.
"Yes, my son," replied Smithers.
"And ma sings soprano?"
"That's right."
"Well, there's one thing I don't understand."
"What is it?"
"Mrs. Tompkins says you sing mighty big in public and mighty small at home."

The New Chauffeur Era.
Old Gentleman (engaging new chauffeur)—I suppose I can write to your last employer for your character?
Chauffeur—I am sorry to say, sir, each of the last two gentlemen I have been with died in my service.—London Punch.

Good Reason.
"My pillow is awfully hard," remarked the star boarder.
"They're stuffed with feathers from a tailor's goose," explained the contrived idiot as he helped himself to another prune.

Both Mistaken.
Brown—Back to town again? I thought you were a farmer.
Green—You made the same mistake I did.—Judge.
