re. -Old Backache

Stiffness is Rubbed Right Out Every Sign of Pain Disappears.

Gee whiz-think of it!

No more stomach dosing necessary to cure your lame back.

Every trace of lameness, every bit of stiffness, every sign of weakness in the back's muscles can be rubbed way for all time to come by good old "Nerviline."

No other liniment can do the work so quickly, can penetrate so deeply, can bring case and comfort to the back-weary sufferer as Nerviline invariably does.

Backache isn't the only malady Nerviline is quick to cure. For lumbago or sciatica you would go far to find relief so speedy as Nerviline gives. For chronic rheumatism there are pain-destroying properties in Nerviline that give it first rank. The way it limbers up a stiff joint and takes soreness out of strained or rheumatic muscles is simply a wonder.

If you have an ache or a pain anywhere, if you have a sore back, a stiff neck, a stiff joint, a strained muscle -if you have lumbago, congested chest or sore throat, just try Nervi-Rub it on plentifully-it won't blister, it can't do anything but cure you quickly. The large 50c family size bottle is the most economical, of course, but you can, from any dealer, also get the 25c. small size of Nerviline, the king of all pain-relieving re-

THIN-BLOODED PEOPLE

Often Become Seriously Ill Before They Realize It.

Some people have a tendency to bean inherited tendency to rheumatism or nervous disorders. The condition in which the blood becomes so thin that the whole body suffers comes on so gradually that anyone with a natural disposition in that direction should watch the symptoms carefully. ### Flexibility of English.

English is not only, as Richard Jefferies asserted, the most expressive and flexible of tongues, but also, in Swinburne's opinion, the most musical. He proclaimed the lines-Music that gentlier on the apirit lies Than tired eyelids upon tired eyes to be unmatched for melody in any language. And few would venture to contradict such a master of music and tongues. But surely French ranks next on the roll of languages. For clearness of diction it is unrivailed, and thanks to its abundance of vowels (close on one for every consonant), it flows rhythmically from the tongue.

DEAD RECKONING.

One Way of Determining a Vessel's Course On an Ocean Voyage.

Dead reckoning simply means the computation of a ship's longitude and latitude from her movements as recorded in the log and without having recourse to astronomical observations. The chief elements from which the reckoning is made are these:

The point of departure—that is, the latitude and longitude sailed from or last determined—the course or direction sailed in as ascertained by the compass, the rate of sailing, measured from time to time by the log, and the time elapsed.

The various principles or methods mollowed in arriving at the reckoning are known among navigators as "plain sailing" and "middle latitude sailing." However the data thus obtain are always liable to considerable errors by reason of currents, lee-way, fluctuations of the wind and changes in the declination of the com. pass. The results arrived at by dead reckoning, therefore, must of necessity be corrected as often as possible by observation of the heavenly bodies. No navigator would risk relying wholly on this method ow determining his position on an ocean voyage.-New York Times.

SHY ON FIGURES.

The Average Man is Very Deficient Arithmetically.

The average man's arithmetical ability is extremely limited. This limitation it appears, is having a serious effect on industrial processes depending upon cheap labor, especially on the adoption of the metric system, which, with its large numbers and decimals, is beyond the mental calibre of workmen who must deal in numbers less than a score and preferably less than 10. They can grasp a finite measure like a quart or a bushel, but a number like 723 milimeters conveys no that arbitrary measures of capacity are being resorted to in dealing with large quanities, so that the numbers to be reported or remembered may be large automobile numbers and are trying to devise systems by which forgotten by those who wish to force

How Cotton Varies.

Cotton is usually differentiated in ordinary classification by the length of its staple. "Ondinary cotton" in the United States is of several kinds, chief among them the upland cotton, with a staple of from seven-eighths to one inch in length, and Gulf of Texas cotton, of which the staple is not usually quite so long, the longest stapled cottons among the "ordinary cottons" here are the bottom land or bender cotton, with a staple of from one and one-eighth to one and one-fourth inch, and the special fancy staple cotton, one and three-eighths to one and fiveeighths inch in length. The sea island cotton, which is grown on the sea islands off the coast of South Carolina, has a staple of from one and a half to two and a half inches, the average length being one and three-fourths. Egyptian cotton is being grown in Southern California, New Mexico and Arizona. Its staple is not so long as the sea island cotton, ... compares rather with the upland cotton here.

It was in the year 1863 or 1864. During the summer months Sothern, with John T. The little building had, of course, a gallery, and in the gallery the "gods" became so obstreperous on occasions that it was with great difficulty the play could be proceeded with. The ringleader, a well-known rough of the town, was a man named Bill Hanra-One night a happy inspiration han. seized Sothern. The result was magical. Bill became at once an official of the theatre and as such cracked the heads of a few of his erstwhile fellow rioters with such good effect that it was only a little time before the best of order prevailed.

MAKE EXERCISE PLAY.

To Get the Best Results It Must be Thoroughly Enjoyed.

When you exercise, play. That is one of the points most strongly urged to the attention of the public in recently published health reports.

No matter whether you are walking, gardening, exercising in a gymnasium or playing gol;, keep your exercise free from the spirit of drudgery and make it all recreation. Make it as enjoyable as anything you may do throughout the entire day. If you don't, much of the good that it might do you is lost. "The very best thing a man can do," says the report, "is to make a hobby of your exercise. No matter how poor the hobby, if it induces outdoor exercise it is perfectly justifiable." The woman who is obliged to take her baby out for a two hours' airing every day is far more fortunate than she often realizes. The only advice the report offers the man who is going to take up a hobby for the benefit of the resulting exercise is to choose one that permits of its being followed the year round rather than one that depends upon the seasons of the year. For that reason the amateur gardener or chicken fancier is far more fortunate in his choice than the amateur geologist, botshist or priithologist. The latter must wait on the seasons and must find favorable locations for in-dulging their hobbies, while the for-

waking dreams.

A Long Series of Events Can Be Crowded Into a Few Seconds.

It is more than likely that the great najority of dreams belong to the few moments when we are falling off to sleep and the equally brief time we take to wake up. In fact, nothing is more fully established than the fact that an apparently long dream can unfold itself in an infinitesimal space of Alfred Maury relates how he had a long and vivid dream of the reign of terror in France, which included his trial before the revolutionary tribunal and his execution. He actually felt the guillotine fall. Yet that dream from beginning to end was actually caused by the fall of a certain rod which struck him on the neck and woke him up. The whole lengthy dream lasted really a couple of seconds. A well known writer in London was sitting up late writing something he much wished to finish. Suddenly some one came into the room and announced that he was called to go to Manchester. He went out and packed his bag and went to that eity, where he stayed several days and saw innumerbenefit. By a persuasion from a friend able people. He returned in due course and transacted a lot of business in town and actually contracted for the staft a new book.

Yet when he woke with a start and found it was all a dream the ink of the last word he had written was as fresh and needed the blotting paper as much as if it had only just been written. He could not have dozed longer than ten seconds.

GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM SERVES EIGHTY-NINE PER CENT. OF CANADA'S URBAN POPULATION

In the forty principal cities and towns of Canada there is a total population of 2,918,788. These figures are given in the new publication "Canada, by sending a girl friend, if the prothe Country of the Twentieth Century," prepared by Mr. Watson Griffin, and issued this week from Ottawa by the authority of the Minister of Trade and Commerce, Sir George Foster. They are based upon estimates furnished by the various city clerks and city assessors, and may be considered approximately correct. An examination of these statistics shows in a very striking fashion the notable part which the Grand Trunk System plays in the commercial life of the Dominion. The cities and towns served by the railway and steamship lines Trunk System have a population, according to these official statistics, of 2,606,435. The Grand Trunk thus serves over 89 per cent. of Canada's urban population grouped in its forty principal centres. In addition, the Grand Trunk serves hundreds of communities with populations of less than 12,000, which is the minimum figure for inclusion in the list Mr. Watson Griffin has prepared.

How Prussie Was Beforested.

There was no need of celebrath Arbor Day in Prussia in the days when Friedrich Wilhelm I. was king, for that monarch had a plan all his own by which he replenished the forests and kept the country well supplied with fruit trees. According to Bas Buch fur Alle, the king, having observed that there was a great dearth of fruit and oak trees in Prussia and not being willing to undertake the tremendous expense of reforesting the country himself issued an order to all clergymen that, after June 21, 1720, they should refuse to perform any marriage ceremony unless the groom could produce evidence that he had just planted six fruit trees and an equal number of oaks. If t was in winter or in the middle of a dry summer, when plants would not grow, the groom had to produce and lay aside a sum of money sufficient to cover the cost of the trees and promise to plant the required number when fall or spring came.

The edict worked wonders. The next generation in Prussia had lack of fruit and oak trees.

Brides in India.

A bride in India never sees 'her husband until after the marriage ceremony. The parents choose the vife for the son of the house without consulting either party. Sometimes the bride is as young as fourteen. The child is gorgeously dressed and placed on a dias behind a sheet, the women of the family being in attendance. On the other side of the sheet are the bridegroom and many of his young friends. The groom keeps throwing over jewels attached to flowers, which the women on the bride's side remove and place in her lap or on her person. This first ceremony is called the shadee, and, although a man is allow ed four wives, no other ever holds the him. The others are of little importance, living their lives more or less as servants to the first wife. As the first wife gets to middle age she is known as the begum.

In a Maori Wooing House.

Among the Maoris sometimes in the whare matoro (the wooing house), a building in which the young of both sexes assembled for play, songs, dances, etc., there would be at stated times a meeting. When the fires burned low a girl would stand up in the dark and say: "I love So-and-so. want him for my husband." If h coughed (sign of assent) or said

'Yes" it was well; if only dead silence she covered her head with her robe and was ashamed. This was not often as she generally had managed to ascertain, either by her own inquiry or posal was acceptable. On the other hand, sometimes a mother would attend and say, "I want So-and so for my son." If not acceptable there was generally mocking, and she was told to let the young people have their house (the wooing house) to themselves.

The Spit of Ceremony. Among the Akikuyn, of East Africa, described by Mr. and Mrs. W. S. ## Arm in Arm With a Tigress.

It is related of Sir Edward Bradford that he once walked arm in arm so to speak, with a tigress. He was out shooting, and, always a fearless sportsman, had come to close quarters with his quarry. He fired, and either the ball failed to take effect, or but slightly wounded the animal. She sprang ... him and seized his left arm above the elbow. The pain must have been terrible, but Sir Edward kept cool, and realizing that it would be death to drag his mangled arm away and allow her to spring afresh at him he deliberately walked a few agonining paces until his comrade was able to take aim and kill the brute. Thus his courage saved his life, though the amputation of his arm at the shoulder

proved necessary

The English physician's fee is always calculated holds good at a sale of pictures of whatnot at Christie's salesroom

The guines is a gold coin or for 21 shillings sterling, or about but it has not been coined since issue of the sovereign in 1817.

The guines habit has here de by some subtle dealers on the gr that it obfuscates the "foreign vis to British salesrooms." On the other hand, those astute cambists have been known to growl at a few thousand sterling added to the price of valuable picture by the adhesion to the guinea style of bidding. The story runs that the guinea was so called from the pieces struck from the bullion captured by Sir Harry Holmes in 1666 from 160 Dutch sail in Schelling bay, the bullion being from Guines. But Shakespeare has an earlier play on the word when he mentions 'guinea hen" in "Othello," as regards the auction usage of the guinea. There can be little doubt that it is a survival of the times when the extra shilling was treated as a five per cent. com-mission, payable by the buyer. Double commissions are, however, now obse-

Inspiration in Dreams.

Coleridge must be added to the list of authors who have found inspiration in dreams, for he himself has told us that he composed over 200 lines of the "Kublai Khan" during a sleep of three hours. On awaking he wrote down the fragments now existing, but the interruption of a visitor banished the rest from his mind. The first idea of "The Ancient Mariner," too, was suggested to the poet by a dream of his friend Cruickshank. And Kipling's "Greatest Story in the World" was hut the half remembered dream of a commonplace young man.-London Mail.
