Sons of Canada

From Mr. James A. Brain, of 671 Gerard Street east, Toronto:—

Onward, sons of Canada,
Marching on to war;
God, your mighty Leader,
Will go on before.

Victory be your watchword,
Forward be your cry;
Fight for King and Country,
Every foe defy.

Chorus—
Onward, Sons of Canada,
Bravely face the foe;
God will shield, direct you,
Wherever you go.

Onward, sons of Canada,
Fairest land of earth;
Never shall the foeman
Tread your land of birth.

Marching to the conflict,
On your God rely;
Battling for the weakest,
Every foe defy.

Onward, sons of Canada,
Men of royal line;
Eager pressing onward,
Not a look behind.

Righteousness shall conquer,
Raise her banner high;
Tyrants fall before you,
Every foe defy.

Onward, sons of Canada,
None shall you withstand;
Forward, ever forward,
Joining hand-in-hand

With your gallant comrades,
Men of British blood;
Fight for King and country,
Loved ones, home and God.

The foregoing poem was sung by the ladies of the Jarvis Women's Institute at their last regular meeting.

Gus Weil, Lew Keyser, John Deming and the former owner of said horse, who sold it to Mr. McMillan, testified to the unsoundness of the quadruped. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Eaid testified for the defense. The Judge ruled that plaintiff had just cause for his action and gave judgement for Mr. Owen for fifty dollars and costs.

No Federal Aid

Ottawa, Nov. 3, 1916—The officials of the Canadian Patriotic Fund are engaged in extensive preparations for the great campaign with which the work for 1917 is to be inaugurated. The executive committee decided at its recent meeting that it would be wise to focus public attention upon the Fund and its work at a time near the beginning of the year, and the latter part of January has been selected as the time during which local campaigns for subscriptions should be carried on in as many municipalities as possible.

Sir Herbert Ames, the Honorary Secretary of the fund, has been spending the past month in Western Canada, stimulating public interest in the Fund, and securing, wherever practicable, the Co-operation of the Provincial Governments, and of municipal corporations. His reports as to the attitude of the West towards the Fund are most encouraging. Notwithstanding that it is felt the commercial depression more deeply than any other part of Canada, that it has been helped by the trade in munitions of war to a very slight extent, and that it has sent men in very large numbers, Western Canada is pledging itself to raise what must be considered huge sums for the maintenance of the Patriotic Fund.

So far as Ontario is concerned, the object of the approaching campaign is to raise the six million dollars which that province is being asked to contribute for 1917. In the past, Ontario has given more than she has received from the Fund, the surplus going to the West where large enlistments created a demand that fell with peculiar heaviness upon communities suffering from business depression. In 1917 the situation will be changed, and Ontario will be asked only for the money it is estimated will be spent in the Province.

The total of the sum to be raised in 1917 is thirteen and a half million dollars. Ontario's share of this six million, of which about four million have to be raised by public subscriptions. To ensure that this large sum be available is no slight task, and the campaign of general publicity and of local solicitation soon to be launched is based on the belief that the Fund should be assured early in the year, that it will be in a position to meet all demands on it by dependents of Canada's soldiers.

The Fund is most economically administered and the great increase in the sums required to carry on its work is due entirely to the increase in size of the Canadian armies. For the most part, the work of the Fund is carried on by men and women who are not paid for their services. The local organizations scrutinize closely all claims upon the Fund, and follow up, from month to month, each individual case, not merely to provide against any imposition on the Fund, but to further assist every needy and deserving recipient. The distribution of the moneys by the branches is subject in Ottawa to a close monthly cheque and audit, and in addition the Auditor General's office investigates all the financial operations of the Fund.

There is no foundation for the report that the Dominion Government is to be asked to assume responsibility for the Fund. For it to do so would imply the equal treatment of all dependents, whether in need or not, thus throwing on the country an increased liability of millions of dollars. The purpose of the Fund is to assist those and those only, who require a greater measure of help than is given by the Government separation allowance and assigned pay. Of every three persons receiving separation allowance, two are on the Patriotic Fund, the other one not being in need of further assistance.

NOTICE

I hereby wish to notify the public that on and after the 1st day of November, 1916, I will give up the horse shoeing trade. All other work solicited.
