A Canadian Raid

First-hand information of the thrilling daylight raid carried out by the 19th Canadian Battalion on the morning of July 29 was received by Lt. Col. Turnbull, O.C. This is a copy of the official report which Lt. Col. Turnbull made of the operations and narrates how at 8:35 a.m. the raid was undertaken and carried to completion during the preceding week. Careful reconnaissance was made under the direction of Lieut. B. O. Hooper and Lieut. S. S. Burnham, the point of entry was carefully selected and the wires cut by Ptes. Wheaton and Rule on the night preceding the attack. Machine gun fire muffled the sound of the wire cutting.

The raiding party consisted of Capt. C. E. Kilmer, Lieut. H. B. Poplar, N.C.O.'s and men. The party crawled along an old ditch for 120 yards to a point within 45 yards of the enemy parapet. They broke through the wire and into the enemy trench before being discovered.

Capt. Kilmer and Lieut. Poplar entering the trench sent out a party consisting of Sergt. Halk and five men to the left and a party consisting of Corp. Brabin and five men to the right. A third party, Corp. Lynch and five men, remained in the centre to support the flanking parties. The object was to locate evidence of gas tanks, mine shafts, and if possible to secure a prisoner for identification. The party remained in the trench for five minutes, during which time one sentry and seven guards were shot and four large dugouts crowded with Germans were bombed.

The estimated casualties to the Hun were 40 killed and wounded.

On a signal being given the party evacuated in an orderly manner. A number of bombs thrown by the enemy, as the raiders were leaving, caused eight casualties, most slight with the exception of Capt. Kilmer, Lieut. Poplar and Sergt. Halk, who sustained sharp wounds. Capt. Kilmer, the last out of the trenches, suffered a fractured ankle and crawled into a shell trench eight yards from the German trenches. He was rescued by a party quickly organized by Lieut. Burnham, and consisting of Lance-Corp. Wilson and Pte. Newton. Under heavy rifle and machine gun fire they carried Capt. Kilmer to the ditch where Capt. Whimore, M. O. waited to give assistance.

The troops were identified as the Royal Württembergers. Sentry boxes and loop holes were located in each day. All arrangements were carried out exactly as planned.

Lance-Corp. Wilson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson of Rockford. Later reports state that, along with the others of the raiding party, Capt. Kilmer has received the D. C. M. for his gallant bravery. His many friends will wish him well and a safe return to the land of his birth.

Successful Meeting of W.L.

The Jarvis Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. T. Guiler on Thursday of last week. After opening with the opening ode all repeated the Lord's prayer. After the usual routine of business was dispensed with Mrs. J. J. Parsons gave an excellent paper on "Why I am proud of being a Canadian" which was an inspiration to all at this time. Being followed by the singing of the Nation Anthem. Mrs. Guiler gave a paper on "The Ura Clean Woman" which was well worthy of print but owing to space it is impossible to publish it. It was very interesting to all. The meeting was closed by the singing of "God save our splendid men" after which the hostess served a delectable lunch, being very much appreciated.

(Paper of Mrs. J. J. Parsons)

"Why I Am Proud I Am Proud I Am A Canadian."

Ma'am President and members of the Jarvis Women's Institute:

The subject you assigned to me for a brief paper, was "Why I am proud I am a Canadian."

There are many reasons why I am proud I am a Canadian, and after thinking over some of them, I believe I am most proud of Canadian citizenship because of the splendid heritage left to us by our parents, who were born here nearly a century ago or came here from the motherland, when, just where we are standing this moment was a howling wilderness.

When we think of the hardships they had to endure to take out an existence and with what courageous hearts they hewed out their humble little homes from the wilderness, and the many, many privations the good endured uncomplainingly. It was this that imbued in us the strength of character and stamina that nothing else could.

Pardon me for being proud I am Canadian, not born a slave to riches and all that money can buy, nor a slave to poverty, to serve some one else; all our lives, as are many of the poor in the old world, where there are two classes, namely the rich and the poor.

In the conditions under which we were born we had to work out things for ourselves, which gave us an independence of character, and freedom of thought that nothing else can give.

When I read in the press, or hear of one of our good old pioneers, passing to his or her reward, it gives me pain to lose the kindly influence, and the same judgment of one of these old souls for I am afraid that with all our modern means and necessary prosperity we are enjoying, we might lose sight of the heritage left us.

Pardon me again for being proud I am a Canadian.

Was it not the influence of this splendid heritage that has made our Canadian boys respond to the call to fight for freedom and right? And has also made them courageous, loyal, and true, and worthy of all the glory that has been heaped upon them.

Another reason I am proud I am a Canadian is: The freedom of our fair Canada. I am told the poor slaves who used to reach our shores have been seen to kneel down and kiss the ground and say "I am free" which means more than we can ever realize, who were born free, Canada, oh Canada, all eyes are turned towards thee.

Pardon me for repeating a little poem from Tennyson, to express my thought—

"It is a land that freemen till;
That sober-suited Freedom choose,
The land where girl with friends
or foes
A man may speak the things he will;
A land of settled government,
A land of old and just renown,
Where freedom broadens slowly down
From precedent to precedent."
I have mentioned briefly a few of the things most worthy of our pride in our dear old country. I am sure that many of you will mention some of the many things we have reason to be proud of. There is no land under the shining sun that can compare with Canada in natural resources, as you all know. The resources of the field, forest, mine and waters are not equalled anywhere in the world. Even our climate here, in a northern zone, produces a people with a strong mind, a healthy body, and a fear of their God, which is not so much in evidence in the people of the southern clime.

Let us all be justly proud we are Canadians.

Haul of $8,000

(From the Winnipeg Free Press)

Moore Jaw, Sask., Sept. 29.—A. though the Mounted Police and the police of every town and city in the province have been on the lookout for the gang of yegman who blew the bank of Hamilton safe at Caron early this morning, none of the robbers have as yet been apprehended.

Six masked and heavily armed bandits gained entrance to the Caron branch of the Bank of Hamilton and, after binding and gagging the night watchman and his headfellow, blew the two inner safes and made away in a stolen automobile at 12:30 o'clock this morning with $8,000 in currency.

Before commencing their work the bandits cut off Caron from the outside world by cutting all telegraph telephone wires with tools taken from the C.P.R. section shed which they broke open. Then they went to the rear of the bank building, pried it up and at the point of a 45 revolver made W. A. Mitchell, keeper of the general store, who was sleeping with George Muhle, night watchman, admit them to the building.

They then tied Mitchell in the rear room and forced Muhle to open the vault door. As Muhle did not know the combination of the time lock safe or of the inner cash box, they used tools taken from the section shed to blow both locks, after binding and gagging Muhle, too. Approximately $8,000 in the cash in the safe was secured by the bandits, who quickly made off in a Ford, a five passenger owned by J. F. Garnett, Caron grain buyer. At the time of the robbery Muhle and Mitchell did not know that the robbers had made their escape in the motor car, Garnett not reporting the loss of his car until daylight.

The men made a clean getaway, and had several hours' start of the police, for it was not until the Mounted Police had been in Caron for some time that the fact that the robbers had stolen an auto became known. In the course of an hour the car was found inside the city limits in an old barn just south of the Rossdale Reservoir. This practically ended the trail of the robbers so far as the authorities are concerned, although it is expected that the gang either broke up and went in different directions, or are in hiding. The bank officials state that a sum slightly in excess of $8,000 was secured. As there is a big grain business done at Caron, and considerable handling of cash, practically identification of the shells is possible.

A strong posse of Mounted Police are searching the country between here and the boundary in hopes that the men may have struck across country for the border, but the description which the bank clerk Muhle, and Mitchell, his companion, are able to give is so indefinite that the police have little to work on. The police are satisfied that the job was the work of experts and their attention to the minutest details in planning the robbery leads to the confirmation of this belief. The local police are keeping a close watch on all suspicious individuals in the city, and one or two have been apprehended. By tomorrow the dragnet of the Mounted Police will be well set all over the whole province.

Close Call

The people in this vicinity are very much pleased to hear that Messrs. Elgin Mason and John Thompson were not more seriously hurt, when on Saturday of last week, the two were repairing the pump on the farm of Mr. Thomas Smith's father-in-law of Mr. Thompson's. While working at the bottom of the well repairing the pump Mr. Thompson felt himself being overcome by gas and immediately started for the surface. When within a few feet from the top his strength gave out and in order to save himself from a dangerous fall he grasped the ladder and slid to the bottom where he became unconscious. Elgin Mason, fastening a rope around himself started to the rescue and succeeded in securing a rope and being overcome by the deadly fumes. Both men were quickly hauled to the top by willing hands and Dr. Waterford were hurriedly summoned. Mr. Mason regained consciousness in a short time but the case of Mr. Thompson proved more serious, he not regaining consciousness until midnight. Both young men suffered from the effects of their experience for some time afterward.

Sad Death

On Saturday last, September 30th, Breta, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Pond passed away with startling suddenness. This little child, who was in her third year, was taken ill on Friday evening and in spite of medical aid passed away Saturday night. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon at the Cheapside Methodist Church, a large crowd attending. Mr. and Mrs. Pond have their sincere sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

Her merry shout no more I hear,
Not laughing child I see,
No little arms around my neck,
No felt upon my knee;
No kisses drop upon my cheek,
These lips are sealed to me;
Dear Lord, how could I give her up,
To any but to Thee.
