The Stores Department of the British Red Cross is an institution in its infancy. There is nothing required for the equipment of a hospital or the comfort of a sick or wounded sailor or soldier that is not available, not only for Red Cross Hospitals, but wherever there is need—in A. M. C. hospitals, hospital trains and ships, ambulances, rest stations; and not only for British troops but for those of the allies as well. Millions of dollars have been spent in this department, and hundreds of thousands of work have given their services voluntarily to make possible this all-important branch of the work. Some of the materials supplied are: chisels, saws, X-ray outfit, tooth brushes, soap, first aid kit, blankets, fresh eggs and milk, kitchen equipment, tinware, canteen, ice machines, mosquito netting.—See ad elsewhere in this issue.

The Record would like to secure Correspondents from Erie, Chesapeake, Nanticoke, Varenny, Selkirk, Nelles Corners, Fishersville Garnet, and Marburg.

The boys of the 133rd Battalion, who were on their way to the front, were accompanied by their parents and friends. The boys were seen off by a large gathering of people. The boys were seen off by a large gathering of people. The boys were seen off by a large gathering of people.

School Fair

The Jarvis School Fair is being held at the Walpole Agricultural Grounds today with one of the largest crowds in its history.

Every parent and child were present to see and show what the younger generation is doing. The exhibits were good considering the weather, productive conditions, and the sports caused interest and enjoyment of the highest order. As we are going to press we are unable to give a detailed account, which will appear in next week's issue.

Much credit is due to the different officers of the Fair as well as to the District Representative, Mr. Woltz, for the success of the exhibition.

Potatoes! Potatoes!

My car of Potatoes have arrived in good shape and as I have to get car unloaded as quickly as possible, I would ask all those who have given orders to come and get them from the car, as soon as they can. The price is $2.00 per bag. The potatoes are from Northern Ontario, are good keepers and good lookers, and I feel sure you will be pleased with them. I would ask all those who have given their order to accept my thanks for same.
