GENEROUS CANADA

"It was the province of Ontario which responded with such unparalleled generosity to the appeal of the Red Cross made on 'Our Day' 1915, and sent over $300,000 to help at the front our wounded from home and overseas." Canada, like other of the great Dominions of the Empire, has her own peculiar responsibilities towards the sick and the wounded of the armies which she has dispatched to serve in France and is training at home. She is bearing that responsibility through the admirably organized Canadian Red Cross, the support of which must necessarily be the first care of the Canadian people. But they do not forget the wider needs of the community as a whole. The Joint Committee of the British Red Cross Society and Order of St. John carries on its work in all theatres of the war for the benefit of all the sick and wounded of His Majesty's forces from whatever part of the Empire they are gathered. That is why whatever local efforts are made the inhabitants of the Dominions and Colonies recognize the claims and generously supply the needs of the central body."

(weekly edition.)
