Former Jarvis Resident Passes Away in Chicago

Edmond Cumming, for some thirty odd years a resident of Jarvis, died in Chicago, Ill., at the home of Mrs. Jos. A. Cummins, 4227 Kenmore Avenue, at 12:05 a. m., on Wednesday, February 7th.

Mr. Cumming was born in County Kerry, Ireland, Jan. 8th., 1833. He was a shoemaker by trade and during the time he resided in Jarvis conducted a shop on Main street. Being of a jovial nature he made friends readily and was well and favorably known in this vicinity as well as in Chicago where he spent the past twelve years.

About a year ago his health began to fail and for the past six months was seldom able to leave his apartment. Cancer of the liver and a general breakdown, incident to old age, caused his death.

Mr. Cumming is survived by one son, John, a resident of Dundas, Ont. His son together with two nephews, Rev. John P. Cummins, of Walkerton, Ont.; Michael Cummins, of Hamilton, Ont., and the latter's brother-in-law, Gerald Mullins, also of Hamilton, Ont., attended the funeral which occurred in Chicago, on Friday, February 9th, from St. Mary's of the Lake Catholic church, corner Sheridan Road and Buena Avenue.

The High Mass was conducted by the Rev. Joseph A. Casey, assistant pastor of parish in which the deceased resided, both of whom accompanied the remains to Calvary cemetery on the shores of Lake Erie, where the last solemn rites were pronounced and interment took place.

Enjoyable Evening

A pleasant and instructive evening was spent on Monday evening last by the members of Jarvis Lodge, No. 1, O. O. F., and brethren from visiting lodges when C. H. Mann, D. G. M. of the Grand Lodge of Ontario, paid an official visit to this fraternity.

The Jarvis Lodge exemplified the Initiatory Degree in the forepart of the evening, after which, a unique distinction and honor was conferred upon four members of Jarvis Lodge by the visiting Grand Officer in the presentation of a forty year Jewel to Messrs J. A. Barwash, J. B. McMullen and twenty-five year Jewel to Messrs. D. M. Allen and Wm. Hazlett.

It was to the regret of those present that Messrs. J. A. Barwash and Wm. Hazlett were unable to be present owing to sickness and unfavorable weather.

A light lunch was served at the close of the ceremonies after which a toast list was proposed and responded to by different members present.

The evening broke up by singing the National Anthem.

Three Linkers were present from Port Dover, Selkirk, Simcoe, Tillsonburg, and Hamilton.

Card of Thanks

The Hon. W. D. Mc Pherson said something worth repeating when, in speaking recently in Toronto he said that it was great privilege to be of military age at this time, to be able to play a man's part in a man's game. "In a very short time" he said, "recruiting meetings will not be necessary, and eligible men will know what it may mean if they do not soon offer themselves. The thousands of young men who will return from this war will occupy the premier place in the esteem of the people. Do you want to be one of them? The opportunity will not much longer be open to you, and you will regret it to the end of your days if you do not accept it." It is yet time to get in line and to enlist in the battalion that is being raised in this county.

Mr. Lambert had been in poor health for several months and only last week left with his daughter for her home, in the hope that that the trip would improve his health. They arrived in Watertown on Monday week and during the remainder of the week seemed as well as usual until Saturday when the end came suddenly.

The late Mr. Lambert was born near Jarvis, on what is known as the old Lambert farm, on Feb. 10, 1853, sixty four years ago and spent his boyhood days here. For some years he taught school in this vicinity until in 1880 when he moved to Aylmer and entered the furniture and undertaking business. On Christmas Day, 1877, he was married to Miss Abelia Thayer of Aylmer and unto them was born one daughter.

Letter from R. G. Smith

The following is an extract of a letter received from Pte. A. G. Smith, with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, Somewhere in France, by C. Rodgers, dated January 27, 1917.

"Everything is going fine, the rest of the boys are on parade and that is one grand feeling, purely selfish, to be able to sit here and watch them go out without their equipment. Myself, I got excused from duty on account of a couple of sore knees that I managed to procure playing football. Not bad enough to keep me out of the trenches on our last trip in, but the M. O. was kind enough to give me a lay off for a couple of days while we are out. We had a pretty fair trip in the last time. The weather took a decided change about two weeks ago. Snowed for a couple of days and then froze up solid. Every track up our way was dry all the time we were there and though it was cold at times on guard, it was better than mud and rain. The cold snap is still holding out and now if we only had our skates along we would be in clover for all the boys in our crew play hockey. We have Sam Field and Rod Smith of 61st team, present Allan Cup holders, Haycock, Parker and myself of the 68th team and a B. C. player. The five of us came over together from England and we have been together ever since on same gun crew and we get along together fine.

We saw a grand sight the last time we were in. We were on guard in the afternoon and were watching an aeroplane light above us. Five machines circling around each other but too high to distinguish them apart. Suddenly two broke out of the circle, firing at each other and one burst into flames a minute later. The pilot immediately began to descend in steep spiral sweeps and we could soon see that it was a Fritz. He stuck to his job and brought it down all alone behind the lines. I guess we must have been a little curious for there came a "whang" over our heads and we descended to earth once more with a cuss word for anybody who would rather be shooting than watching such a sight.

We have a long slim fellow in one of our Co. crews who is always going to take some prisoners (this time in). He is so slim that you can only see his shadow by moonlight or flashlight, so it was arranged among our crews that Slim would be the Shadow Guide in the shade of machine gun fire across to Fritz's trench and bring one back one under each arm. But for certain diplomatic reasons on part of Slim, we were ordered not to put over the barrage fire. (The rum issue had not come up for Slim, I think.)

We have another nifty dance when on guard. It is called the "Meawerrier Side Step" and consists on keeping your eye on a large oblong object which is coming sailing lazily your way, curving this way, then that and we side step this way then that, and when it straightens out for its final objective we go sidestepping far, far away from where it lands. They weigh about 100 lbs. and are filled with high explosive and make a lovely roar and upheaval of dirt and no "African dodger" ever had anything on us for one minute.

A. G. SMITH.
