The announcement has been made of the amalgamation of the Unique Shoe Company of Simcoe, and the Sovereign Hat and Shoe Company of Delhi, which recently lost its fine factory by fire in that place. The new company will probably be known as the Simcoe Hat & Shoe Company. Mr. Phillips will be president and Mr. Whitson secretary-treasurer. The merger goes into effect at once. The new building erected here for the shoe concern, it is said, will furnish room for the carrying on of both plants. As in each concern had a good store of orders and ready sale for all the goods they could manufacture, it would look as if Simcoe has secured an addition to their industrial life. — Simcoe Reformer.

Honored by Community of McTaggart

On Wednesday evening, Jan. 13th, a complimentary banquet was given by the residents of McTaggart district to Capt. C. E. Jackson, D. S. O., on the occasion of his return visit from the battlefields of France. About one hundred guests sat down to a beautiful repast prepared for the occasion by Mr. Frank Keys in the King Edward dining room. Rev. Mr. Sanderson acted as toast-master and, by his ready wit and flow of humor, materially assisted in making the banquet an unequalled success. Several toasts given were interestingly responded to by Messrs C. M. Hamilton, Howell and Sinclair. The toast "Our Soldier Boys" responded to by Capt. Jackson was the toast of the evening. The various toasts were interspersed with part songs, recitation by Miss Hanson and solos by Miss Munson and R. Murray.

Capt. Jackson in his opening remarks gave a summary of events from the time of enlisting until reaching the battlefields of France. His graphic accounts of the actual fighting, told in a conversational manner, made his hearers feel that they actually witnessed the events as he recorded them. Personally he was engaged in the conflict around Ypres and he referred to the fact that many people asked why the men held on to that salient. He stated that the salient was high ground and commanded the country around for miles, and if given up, would have meant that the line would have to be rearranged 10 to 15 miles back, and consequently would have given the Germans a chance of getting to Lille. In contrasting the strength in guns and ammunition then and at the present time, he stated they had only one 16 inch gun and a little over a hundred others. Now they had large guns by the thousands, and as for ammunition in one place they had only six rounds a day for four guns, whereas now they can fire all they need. Capt. Jackson gave a most descriptive account of the battle around Ypres. The Canadians were surrounded by the Germans, and that they were able to hold out was a miracle no one can explain. Every man there, would in any other war have been the recipient of a Victoria Cross. In the air service at the beginning of the war, the Germans were supreme, but now, the British hold full command of the air. If a German machine is seen it is instantly attacked. He described one of the battles that he saw, when the British machine looped the loop several times around a German machine, all the time keeping a hot fire until the hostile craft was destroyed.

In alluding to German atrocities, the speaker said the public do not know half. All that appears in the papers about it is true. He cited several instances. In one engagement the British took a German trench and a large number of wounded Germans being left in No Man's Land, the Germans were offered time to take in their wounded, whereupon the British stated they would bring them in to their own hospital if permitted. The Germans granted the request and twenty men went out to bring in the wounded. The number of bearers was increased until about eighty were engaged in this work, when the Germans turned their machine guns on them.

In his remarks on the fighting qualities of the German, the Captain stated that the German troops they first tried issue with, were able and experienced men, totally different from the men they were facing when he left for home. Among the prisoners his command took all that time were boys 14 and 16 and men over 45 and 50 years, one stated his age as 72. As fighters they do not compare with the first army Germany put in the field.

Speaking of the Somme drive of last fall, Capt. Jackson said the advance was simply a fight for positions for high land where now the British have dry trenches and the

Nanticoke

Miss Lillian Ward returned home after spending six weeks with her sister in Buffalo. A pleasant social evening, under the League, was held last Tuesday evening. The "Lions" furnished the music, the "Greenies" the programme.

The Foresters held their annual Oyster Supper, Wednesday, January 17. Owing to the inclemency of the weather a number were unable to attend. Those who were present spent a very enjoyable evening.

Word came to Nanticoke from Prof. Ernie Peritt, one of Hamilton's Black's Rangers, that he received the box the ladies sent. He wished to thank the ladies for their trouble and expense.

It is very gratifying to know that any remembrance sent to our friends in uniform are perfectly received. They realize that they are not forgotten at home. It links them more closely to loved ones and their native land.

Mr. Hoover got in his ice supply last week. He says "It is the nicest ice he has had for some time."
