Notices

Next Sunday, the second Sunday in May is celebrated as "Mothers' Day." In all hearts who have known a mother's love, there is an altar, on which lay our offering of tender thought and fond memory, and we burn sweet incense of never fading devotion, before that sacred shrine. The flower chosen for mother's Day is, "The White Carnation," because it is thought to typify some of the virtues of motherhood. Its whiteness stands for "Purity," its form "Beauty," its fragrance "Love," and its lasting qualities "Fidelity."
