EGG FACTORY SECRETS

Furnish Reason for Scarcity of Eggs in Chinese Stores.

Imagine yourself residing in the province of Kiangsu, China. One morning you are out for your constitutional and feeling a bit curious to familiarize yourself with the interior of the Chinese "general store," you drop into one of those institutions. You must inquire for eggs, else the hypothesis is to no avail. You ask for a dozen fresh eggs. What? They haven't that many in stock? How surprising.

This is, of course, only a hypothesis, but there is no reason in the world why it might not happen in real life. As a matter of fact, the Chinese merchant who handles more than a dozen eggs at one time is a rare article. It isn't because he doesn't want to carry the eggs; the real reason is a much better one than that. He can't get them.

Should you wake up in China some morning and follow the above itinerary it is quite possible that you might see long lines of "coolies" joggling along the highway, balancing large wicker baskets on their heads. Once your curiosity gets the better of you, you stop one of them and ask what is in the basket. The answer will be "eggs," and if you press him for further information as to the number of eggs in the basket he might tell you anywhere from 500 to 800.

And now for the egg factory. If you have read this far and will consent for a moment to will absorb the knowledge of something which

The Nova Scotia "Lumber King," says: "I consider MINARD'S LINIMENT the best LINIMENT in use. I got my foot badly jammed lately. I bathed it with MINARD'S LINIMENT and it was as well as ever next day."

Many of the residents of China knew nothing about it. It is a fact that there are hundreds and thousands of persons born and brought up in a Chinese city, perhaps within a stone's throw of an egg factory, who are ignorant of the existence of the industry, let alone the factory.

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

The treatment of the whites is more involved and more interesting. They, like the yolks, are churned and put into large hogsheads, where they undergo the process of fermentation. The time occupied in this process varies from five days to two weeks, the fermentation proceeding more rapidly in warm weather. The fermentation causes the more volatile constituents of the albumens to rise to the surface, and the usable part of the albumens is therefore drawn off from the bottom of the hogshead. In appearance this portion is not unlike skimmed milk. This is then mixed with a small portion of ammonia and is poured into small pans which are very shallow in depth. The pans are taken to the evaporating room, where they are piled up in tiers of shelves reaching six or seven feet. The ammonia, of course, acts somewhat in the process of evaporation, but heat is also necessary. The method of supplying this heat is unique in its simplicity. Flues of brick wind their way through the evaporating room, and these are fired from the outside, causing the heat to circulate uniformly through the room.

Evaporation is accomplished very quickly.

Workmen are able to pass through the evaporating room, where the heat is such that they cannot remain there long. When the evaporation process is finished, the result is a pleasing product. Odorless and perfectly dry, it comes from the pans in crinkled sheets of a clear, transparent amber, that readily crumbles on being broken or handled. After being thoroughly cooled it is packed in air-tight tins and is ready for market.

That the business is a profitable one is shown by the fact that no less an authority than the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce lists the exportation of "egg products" from China to the amount of $1,203,943 for the eleven months ending in November, 1916. Compare these figures with the annual imports of these products into the United States for 1912—$43,000—and one will readily see the industry is a progressive one.—Exchange.

THE DEADLIEST POISON.

Curare, Whose Secret is Known Only to the Abors of India.

The cranks who not so long ago conspired to murder Premier Lloyd George were going to employ curare, the kind made by the Abor tribesmen of India, which is the deadliest poison known to man.

It is believed in London, where curare has been extensively studied, that its chief ingredients are snake venom and certain distillations from decayed corpses. It is asserted that the Abor tribesmen test the strength of curare by injecting a little into a vigorous tree. If all the leaves of the tree do not fall off within twenty-four hours the poison is considered inefficient.

FIFTEEN YEARS' USE OF BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Thousands of mothers keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house as long as there are little ones about, among them is Mrs. Marcel D. Le Blanc, Memramcook, West, N. B., who says:—"For the past fifteen years I have never been without Baby's Own Tablets. Whenever any of my children are illing the Tablets promptly relieve them. I have such faith in them that I never hesitate in recommending them to any of my friends who have little ones in the home." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

One Man's Prayer.

Ont. In Kansas there is a man named Homer McKee. He wrote a prayer, and it was printed in the State Board of Health Bulletin. The Bulletin falls to identify Mr. McKee further than to publish his name. Which is enough in a way, for the prayer speaks for the man. Here it is:

Teach me to live that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience, without a gun under my pillow, and unharmed by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain. Grant, I beseech thee, that I may earn my meat ticket on the square, and in doing thereof that I may not stick the gaff where it does not belong. Blind me to the faults of the other fellow, but reveal to me my own. Keep me young enough to laugh with the children, and to lose myself in their play. And then, when comes the smell of flowers, and the tread of soft steps, and the rushing of the bear's wheels in the gravel out in front of my place, make the ceremony short and the epilogue simple.

TREE TALK

About nine million acres out of a total of 210 million acres in Quebec Province are under agricultural development. The chief crop of the remaining 200 million acres is and will always be timber, for the reason that the soil is unfitted for tillage.

More than two-thirds of the technical foresters in Canada in 1914 have seen military service at the front. The enlistment of forest rangers has likewise been heavy.

In order to save for the Indians of Canada their large timber holdings against loss of forest fires, the Indian Department at Ottawa is obliging itself to plant and burn their "slash" after taking the logs out of the woods. The precaution will save numerous bad fires.

While Canada spends about four millions yearly in studying agricultural problems, only a trifling sum has been spent thus far on the study of forest problems. More than two-thirds of the whole of Canada is better adapted for tree growing than anything else, and will pay profits according to the scientific care bestowed on it.

Kerensky Fled, Issue

Petrograd again is in the hands of the Government, thrown out of power by the radicals, headed by Nikolai Premier Kerensky has fled; several of his Ministers placed under arrest, and the seat of the Government has been moved to the cruiser Aurora and the St. Paul fortress and capitulate to the revolution.

A Congress of the Workers' Delegates of all convened in Petrograd, and the questions of organization, peace and war, and of a constituent congress to confer with the United States and democratic world with a view to the initiation of negotiations for the purpose of stopping the bloodshed.

At yet the details of which followed the assembly by the radical movement, but it is known that the workers' movement is the only one that has not been fired shrapnel and against the Winter Palace hours, with the guns of the rear and machine guns. A Congress of the Workers' Delegates of all convened in Petrograd and the question of organization, peace and war, and of a constituent congress to confer with the United States and democratic world with a view to the initiation of negotiations for the purpose of stopping the bloodshed.

Government forces Winter Palace were captured early this morning by the fire of the cruiser Aurora of the St. Petersburg fortress across the Neva. This morning the Russian Battalion, which had been in the Winter Palace, surrendered. The workmen's and soldiers' gates are in complete city.

Premier Kerensky was killed at Luga, 52 miles from Petrograd. Late yesterday evening Government forces had entered the Winter Palace, which was besieged and a live-chine guns and rifles the Nicolai Bridge, which range, firing shrapnel and the guns of the St. Petersburg fortress owned by Kerensky.
