RASSELAS AND RAIDS.

Dr. Johnson Proves Prophet of Man's Conquest of the Air.

A chapter in "Rasselas" shows that as early as 1758, the year the book was written by Dr. Samuel Johnson, the conquest of the air was agitating the minds of inventive human beings. Although living in the Happy Valley. Prince Rasselas was an unhappy man, for the king had forbidden him to leave the country, which was walled in by mountains, and had but one way of entrance and exit, and that was strictly guarded.

In casting about for a chance to escape the prince happened upon a man eminent for his knowledge of mechanics, who had contrived a wheel to suplearned that he had an idea in his day. head for a flying machine, and thought the apparatus might furnish the means of his getting over the mountains. To his objections, made for drawing the inventor on, that the air was made for birds and not men, he received the reply:

"So fishes have the water in which yet beasts can swim by nature and men by art. He that swims need not despair to fly; to swim is to fly in a grosser fluid, and to fly is to swim in a subtler. We are only to proportion our power of resistance to the different density of matter through which we are to pass. You will be necessarily upborne by the air if you can renew any impulse upon it faster than the air can recede from the pressure.

This is an actual description of the heavier-than-air machine that is now used. 160 years after that remarkable book was written. Rasselas was enthusiastic and urged the man to inetruct the world how to fly. But—"If men were all virtuous," returned the artist. "I should with great alacrity teach them to fly. But what would be the security of the good if he the bad could at pleasure invade them from the sky? Against an army sailing through the clouds neither walls. nor mountains, nor seas could afford any security. A flight of northern savages might hover in the wind and light at once with irresistible violence upon the capital of any fruitful region that was rolling under them."

This shows how accurately Dr. Johnson foresaw the present plight in England. But, as his story goes, the inventor built a machine for Prince Rasselas. It was not a success simply for the reason that a light motive power, like the explosive engine, was not created. When the artist tried it from a little premonitory, "he waived his pinions a while to gather air, then leaped from his stand, and in an instant dropped into the lake."-- Eastern Reference at a social session was made to the crispness of some brands of repartee, when Congressman Seward H. Williams, of Ohio, related an ancedote along that line.

When a young lawyer in a small Ohio town first opened business he took a room that had previously been occupied by a cobbler, and naturally he was more or less irritated over the fact that more people came to have their shoes half soled than for legal repairs.

Eliminating Poison Ivy.

The cheapest and most effective method of eliminating poison ivy, according to experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, is the simple one of rooting up the plants and destroying them. If the poison lvy is in large fields it may be necessary to plow and cultivate the land. Ivy on large trees, stone walks and buildings can be killed by arsenate of note, at the rate of two pounds to ten gallines of water. Two or three ap-plications are sufficient.

New Travelling Regulations

Persons Embarking at U. S. Scaports Must Procure Permission Before Leaving Canada.

NDER an order issued by the Secretary of State, Wasnington, effective November 11tn. 1918, ail persons going troin Canada to toreign destinations by way of United States seaports must procure permission for emparkation belue leaving Canada.

Such permission must be arranged for either by executing deciaration and procuring vise on passport betore one of the American Consuls in Canada, or by making formal application before any of the United States immigration officers located in Canada upon forms furnished by the said omcers.

In order to allow sufficient time for investigation, tra-smission of papers to Washington, etc., applications should be filed either with the Consul or the immigration Officer at least 17 days prior to the date of proposed departure. The State Department invites spacial attention of prospective travellers to the fact that unless they have obtained vise by an American Consul. the said Department must decide whether or not departure from an American port will be allowed, such decision being based upon the application submitted through the immigration officers Passengers are accordingly warned not to proceed to the port of embarkation until they are in pessession of either the Consular vise, or proper certificate from the U. S. Immigration authorities showing that permit for departure has been granted. The foregoing applies to all persons not citizens of the United States. and it is effective regarding all destinations, including Mexico, U. S. Insular possessions, etc., but not including Bermuda. United States citizens seeking to proceed to foreign points are required to have passports issued by the State Department, applications for same being obtainable from the various American Consuls.
