Among the contributors to this number are Bonny-castle Dale, H. C. Haddon, M. A. Shaw, Edward T. Martin, George R. Belton, Robert Page Lincoln, and many others. The usual departments are well maintained. Township council has prohibited dogs running at large. There have been cases of rabies among cattle in the township and there has been for some years sheep-worrying to such an extent that the dogs have nearly driven the sheep out of the county.

A fire occurred in town early on New Year's morning when the white house on the property of the late Henry Price was burned to the ground. The origin of the fire is unknown as the house had been vacant for some time. Luckily there was very little wind at the time and the flames were confined to one building. Hagersville News.

Soldiers' Letter

To the Editor:

Desiring to express our resentment toward the attitude taken by some to the return of Major J. P. Cowles from England before, apparently, as they think, he had done his bit, we beg leave to do so through the medium of your columns.

Major Cowles, in our estimation, is a man and soldier through and through. While serving as our major in the 114th Battalion, he was ever alert to the general welfare of his men, as well as being their personal friend. After being broken up and attached to Reserve Battalions in England, we learned our loss at not having one, who was interested in us, not only as a Company or Battalion, but individually. We make mention that we have heard boys of other units, who came under his command, speak highly of him.

We keenly regret that, on his return to the land which he manifestly loved, his home town failed to do him justice. We wish to discredit all inference that he, in any way, came short of serving his ability, seeing—

"His not to reason why, His but to do and die."

We indignantly resent the attitude shown toward him on his return. Had Brooks' Rangers been home, they would have rallied from all parts of the county to give him the welcome he was deserving of.

We are extremely sorry that Haldam cannot boast of more Mr. Cowles. Had all the eligibles been as prompt and as willing Conscriptors would have been unnecessary.

Thanking you for your favor, we remain

Old Resident Dies

One of the oldest residents of Jarvis passed away on Friday last in the person of Jabez M. Marr, who was in his 79th year.

Mr. Marr was born in the year 1840 coming to this country with his parents from Lankinsbury, England, while still a boy. Settling in the vicinity of Vant, near Toronto, he finally settled in Walpole where he spent the greater part of his life. Some fifty two years ago he was united in marriage to Elizabeth Tunstall of whom seven children were born.

Some twelve years ago, his health failing, he moved to Jarvis and for the past six years has been confined to his bed.

A kind husband and father his demise is deeply mourned by those who survive him.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, service and interment in the Methodist church, Jarvis.

Autos on River

Farmers are making use of the river for both runners and wheels. As there is no sleighing on the roads loads of all kinds are brought up and down the river on runners while the wheeling is excellent.

On New Years day two auto loads of the boys went down to Dunnville on the river. This is probably the first trip of this kind on the Grand—Advocate.

Poultry More Poultry and Eggs

"We are short of red meat. Our soldiers and our allies require more than ever before. We are advocating in every household, very hotel and restaurant in the country the substitution of poultry for red meat. Increased production of poultry can be effected much faster than beef, pork and mutton. While we want increase in all the latter, we must have a quick response in poultry and poultry products. There is a great waste of poultry feeds from every household and arm. It requires little labor. Cannot the poultry raisers of the country help us by providing the increased supply we need?"

These are the words of Herbert Hoover in an appeal directed to the American Poultry Association and producers of poultry and eggs in the United States. The words are just as applicable to Canadian Poultry Producers. More meat must be provided for the fighting men. Less of the meats that can be shipped must be eaten at home. Something less must be substituted for the red meat. Poultry and eggs make the best and cheapest substitute at the present time should be used more than they are for that purpose.

The prices asked for these are reasonable when compared with the prices of other meats. At present rates poultry, either fresh or stored, is one of the cheapest on the market. Though new-laid are high, the stored eggs are reasonable and quite palatable. Fresh poultry is selling on many markets at from 15c to 25c per lb., and good stored eggs from 40c to 50c per dozen. These prices are practically the same as before the war but when compared with the present price of other meats prove conclusively that they are no longer a luxury.

The prices of eggs and poultry were comparatively high, and consumers, to a certain extent, discontinued eating poultry produce, now, when the relative prices have changed, the impression remains that poultry and eggs are still a luxury. As a result the consumption of these is not as large as it usually is.

There are several good reasons why poultry and eggs should be used much more than they are as a substitute for beef and bacon; The soldiers and the Allies must have meat and we cannot send them poultry and eggs: We have a good supply of poultry products in Canada at present: They make a palatable and a cheap substitute for the red meat required by the soldiers: Poultry are more easily grown and can be produced in less time than other live stock: The young and old can supply all the labour necessary for this work.

Then let us be loyal as well as economical and eat that which we have and save for the soldiers and the Allies that which they must have.
