GOOD HEALTH IN WAR TIME

Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews, N.B.

St. Andrews-by-the-Sea on Passamaquoddy Bay, a strange combination of old Scotland with the intemperance of the Redskins! To the intemperate this hyphenated cognomen spells "Joyful Living." Bountiful Nature, supplemented by inventive man, provides pleasures in varied abundance for those who seek rest or amusement in Canada's most popular Atlantic resort.

In war time we all owe to our country the duty of making the greatest effort to enable her to emerge triumphant from the struggle. So now one of our first duties to Canada is to keep ourselves in the best possible physical and mental condition, for without healthy vigor we are unable to aid to the fullest in the prosecution of the war. Working throughout the year every day, and often at night, patriotic people are liable to find themselves under considerable nervous strain, and thinking the matter over they say: "I am too busy to take a holiday, though I know that is what I need." They continue to work, but with dwindling results. But if, instead of deciding on having to hold days they took a rest for a week, their health would undoubtedly be so improved that they would soon be able to make up for the time they were absent from work. Even engines made of steel cannot be kept functioning on the run, and what steel cannot do, flesh and blood cannot do. A healthy holiday in war time helps to win the war.

Canada is fortunate above all other countries in possessing, bracing health resorts by the seashore or in the hills and forests inland, or in the stupendous ranges of the Rockies. The Americans of the United States know this, and come here every summer in ever increasing numbers. Summer resorts, however, like prophets, are not always sufficiently recognized in their own country, and there are not a few who wonder why so many Philadelphians, and New Yorkers, and Bostonians should be so passionately devoted, for instance, to St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, in New Brunswick. Yet there is good reason for this. The blue waters of Passamaquoddy Bay offer splendid bathing and sea bathing, two sports indulged in to the full by many of the visitors. The country about St. Andrews-by-the-Sea is ribboned by charming walks and drives. A delightful bathing beach welcomes the swimmer at Katie's Cove, and there is a fine beach for all who have a mind for such.

One of the popular attractions is a Bowling Green. Enthusiastic bowlers, and interested spectators may be found upon it at all hours of the day or night. Being electrically lighted, the sport need not cease with the setting of the daylight.

Golf, however, is without doubt the game at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea. The links are famous far and wide. Either at one time or another, come all golf celebrities, for St. Andrew does not draw clientele from Canada alone. Every expert in golf knows that the Royal and Ancient Game can be enjoyed to perfection only on a seaside course, and the course at St. Andrews has this great advantage. It also has the advantage of a famous professional, John Peacock, who has so laid out the links that they are the most sporting of their kind in North America. Fortunately are they who have the opportunity to follow the little white ball over that wonderful course laid out on Joe's Point overlooking sparkling waters that lap their white sands and then slip back into the great sea to some day wash the sands of Arcady's France.

Canada First

For the three years previous to the war, viz: 1911, 1912, and 1913, the average crop averages of the most important agricultural nations of the world, excepting China, for which statistics are not available, are given in the following order: United States, Russia, India, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Argentina, France, Italy and Canada.

Those countries which has the greatest crop averages per capita were Argentina, Canada, the United States, the Russian Empire and France.

Based largely on Danish experiments and on estimates made in the United States Department of Agriculture, the following gives the relative percentages of food stuff produced from farm crops, per unit of population, in the leading agricultural countries of the world, the figures following the name of the country being the per cent. per capita of food materials from farm crops:

Canada 100, Argentina 90, United States 64, Australia 35, German Empire 30, Austria Hungary 29, France 25, Russian Empire 24, Italy 14, India 11, Great Britain and Ireland 8.

It will be seen that Canada produces, per capita, more food materials obtained from farm crops than any other of the principle countries of the world. Her farm production is high and her domestic consumption is low. This enables her to export a relatively large proportion of the essential food materials produced in the country. It is the surplus which counts.

The Canadian farmers form one of the greatest economic factors in the world's supply of food stuffs at the present time. Every effort should be made to produce and then to save.

The Western Fair

September 6th to 14th, 1918

The Western Fair Association of London, Ont., are in the forefront this year with advertising matter for their big Exhibition in September. Prize Lists, Hangers and Maps are being prepared and will soon be mailed throughout the country. The management have added $1,500.00 cash to the Prize List this year. This has been carefully distributed throughout the different departments and certainly makes the list very attractive from the Exhibitors' standpoint. The Live Stock Department should draw a large entry as the prizes are really worth while and a win at London's Exhibition means considerable. If you have not received a Prize List and would like one drop a post card to A. M. Hunt, Secretary, London, telling him the kind of entry form you require and it will be sent you at once.

The express companies operating in Canada intend making application to the railway board to approve of some changes in regard to the rules of packing as applied to shippers.

Chicago's Most Ancient Mystery

The vengeance in China who turns south to Angkor Wat, the great Hindu temple of East and West, the great mystery of the dragon blood, the mystery that wraps the Great Wall in North China, and his like an imperial mantle, a southern northern mystery that envelopes the Great Wall as if it were a man's blood, there is little chance left him but to follow its lure on and land still further to the north. From the Great Wall one can gaze far over this unknown land, and days but months by caravan—the great plain of Mongolia. Once yellow armies flooded across it as the sunning horsemen picks his way along the trail. Over all broods the utterly vanished—from the earth silence which marks the home of a people who are no more. In there no life now in that stillness which once beat so fiercely upon the civilization below that a barrier must be hurled against it over the mountain tops? What of these latter-day sons of Genghis Khan?

A Poisoned Sea

For the eighth time since 1844 fish have been killed along the west coast of Florida in an area of poisoned water. Not only the water, but the air has been charged with a suffocating gas, odorous but irritating to the air passages. The last mortality was reported in October, and November of 1916. The Bureau of Fisheries sent experts to the spot but they were obliged to admit, after a careful investigation, that the cause of the strange occurrence is a mystery. One explanation advanced is that earth-quakes along the coast, possibly due to West Indian hurricanes, released poisonous gases from the sea-bottom.—Popular Science Monthly.

Diplomatic

Wife—Percy, if a man were to sit on your hat, what would you say?
Husband—I should call him a con-founded silly ass.
Wife—Then don't sit on it any longer, there's a dear.

Three Horses Poisoned

Since, June 7.—Samuel Logan, a Windham Township farmer, living near Teeterville, had three horses poisoned in his pasture field. One was still alive when found in the morning, and was drenched with milk at once. The veterinary surgeon called pronounced it a case of strychnine poisoning. The third animal was alive at the last reports. Logan had been threatened, it is said. He was wrongfully accused of supplying the authorities with the names of delinquent members of class A, but admits openly that he voted for the Union government.

According to the reports submitted to the conference at Guelph there will be 14 circuits in the Hamilton conference this year owing to the lack of men.
