The County Council is paying an official visit to the Poor House in Dunnville to-day.

As a mass meeting of the Patriotic Committee held in Hagersville on Friday last, several women were struck off the list for misconduct during their husband's absence, and others will be struck off if they don't pay their just debts.

While engaged in milking a cow on Saturday Mrs. Thos. Guiler was knocked over and tramped on sustaining a severe cut in the face and being badly bruised about the shoulders. We are glad to report that the unfortunate woman is improving nicely.

While work in the basement of the local grist mill Mr. Alex Smith, the head miller was hit in the head by a pulley sustaining a severe scalp wound which necessitated five stitches. Mr. Smith is recovering nicely at the time of writing. According to eyewitnesses it was a miracle that Mr. Smith didn't lose his life.

A Hagersville resident visited Chief Clark of Dundas on Monday afternoon with a pathetic tale of remitting $17.50 to a Buffalo firm for shipment of liquor which had not come to hand. With the new legislation he did not anticipate receiving it, and asked the co-operation of the chief in receiving a refund on his money.

A fire at Port Maitland at 7 o'clock on Monday morning destroyed the large fish house, garage and ice house of Ed. Martin, proprietor of the Exchange hotel, together with his nets and a new automobile. The flames threatened to wipe out the pretty resort and terminal of the Dunnville branch of the T. H. & B. railway and a call was sent to Dunnville for assistance with their fire engine but the efforts of the local bucket brigade prevailed and the spread of the fire was stopped.

For making the remark that "We had just as well be under Prussian Rule as under Canadian" J. A. Cross, a farmer of Tutela Heights, near Brantford, was fined $500 and costs or six months in jail at Brantford yesterday. In giving judgement the magistrate remarked since the order-in-Council of April 16, such a remark could only be construed as detrimental to the cause of Canadians and the allies, and was the very thing it was desired to stop. When the life blood of Canadian young men and women was being poured out against the Prussians, such an expression of opinion was insulting, as well as traitorous, and the magistrate said as far as he was concerned it would be stopped in that district.

Miss Lennie Ineson, formerly of this place, who has been training for a nurse at the Hamilton city hospital, received her diploma from that institution on Thursday last. Her many friends will be glad to hear of her success.

Report of Gas

As indicated in last week's Advocate the committee appointed by commercial gas users waited upon the Minister of Forests and Mines on Tuesday of last week and have handed out the following report:

We were advised by the Minister that two inspectors were compiling a report on the whole gas field, and the report would be made on the case of each individual customer, showing the amount of gas they consumed and the use to which it is applied.

Upon receipt of this report he would reach a fair and equitable judgement as to the industries to which gas is essential and those which can properly be cut off, and advised your Committee to be prepared to make such adjustment as in the opinion of each industrial user is necessary and essential to conserve the gas.

We were assured that those industrial users that are co-operating along these lines, and make every effort in good faith to substitute some other fuel for gas where it can be replaced, will receive every consideration from the Department.

The Minister assured them that it was not the policy of the Department to do any injury to any industrial user.—Hamilton Advocate.

Orchard Cover Crop

(Experimental Farms Note)

The main uses of the cover crop in the orchard are: to hold the snow in winter, and thus afford greater protection to the roots of trees; to prevent the thawing and freezing of the ground; to lessen the depth to which the frost will go in the soil; to furnish vegetable matter in the soil for the purpose of obtaining humus and nitrogen; and to act as a catch crop in autumn to prevent the leaching of plant food made available during the summer.

The cover crop is also a means of reducing the moisture in the soil by transpiration, and thus aids in ripening the wood of fruit trees liable to be injured. Where the soil has been long cultivated, and needs additional plant food, especially nitrogen, leguminous plants, such as clovers and vetches which will take free nitrogen from the air, and thus add a large quantity of this useful and expensive fertilizer to the soil at slight cost, are usually best; while where the soil has not been long under cultivation and is well supplied with humus and nitrogen, a non-leguminous plant, such as rape or buckwheat may be better, as the holding of snow and the protection of the roots of the trees are then more important than adding fertility to the soil, especially where the snowfall is light.

In the colder parts of Canada, where there is usually plenty of moisture, in summer, it is better to sow seed for the cover crop in the first half of July or even in late June, rather than in the second half of July, as it is important to have the wood of trees thoroughly ripened before winter sets in, and by sowing the seed early the growth of the tree should be aided in ripening by the drying of the soil caused by the transpiration of moisture from the growing cover crop. In the dryer and milder parts of Canada it is not necessary to sow seed for the cover crop until about the middle of July, as the early ripening of the wood is not so important as the conserving of moisture in the soil by cultivation through the early part of the summer. No nurse crop is, as a rule, necessary. Some of the desirable characteristics of a good plant for cover crops are, first that it will germinate quickly and grow rapidly, so that weeds will be checked. It should be a strong grower, as there should be a dense cover to prevent the frost from penetrating deeply into the ground. It should stand fairly erect, so that it will hold the snow well in winter. It should also be a plant which can be easily handled in the orchard. In districts where there is danger of making the soil too dry by late growth, a cover crop should be chosen which will be killed by early frost, such as buckwheat. Some of the best plants for cover crops are: Mammoth Red Clover, Common Red Clover, Crimson Clover, Hairy Vetch, Buckwheat and Rape. The last has been found very useful on the prairies for holding snow. Where weeds are not liable to spread into adjacent areas and cause extra labour they make a fair cover crop if allowed to grow up after the end of June.

Officers and members of King Solomon Lodge, A.F. & A.M., No. 329, together with a large number of visiting brethren attended Divine service at the Jarvis Knox church on Sunday evening last at 8 o'clock.

By special permission from the Grand Lodge the local lodge was opened in the Music Hall about 7.30 o'clock. After the ceremony of opening was concluded the Most Worshipful the Grand Master was received and the Lodge adjourned for a period of two hours for the purpose of attending Divine Worship.

About 160 brethren marched to the church, the Master of Ceremonies being P. M. Bro. G. L. Miller. The Scripture Lesson was taken from Isaiah 55. The address was delivered by the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, Bro. William Hugh Wardrop, K.C., of Hamilton, and was introduced by Rev. A. W. Hare who said that the Grand Master typified the highest ideal of what Masonry stood for. The discourse was on "The Volume of the Sacred Law". Mild in delivery but so simple in language the Grand Master's talk gripped his listeners from beginning to end. The substance of his discourse was on what Masonry was founded, how in some sections it was misunderstood, what work it was doing and the influence it had on the lives of those who took its secrets to heart. The Grand Master's simple eloquence was such that time sped unnoticed and its conclusion arrived all too soon.

The choir deserves high credit for the rendition of their different selections.

At the closing of the adjourned lodge in the Music Hall a vote of thanks was tendered to the Grand Master by P.D.D. G.M. Bro. Wm. Jaques and seconded by Bro. Rev. A. W. Hare.

Visiting brethren were present from Port Dover, Simcoe, Waterford, Hagersville, Caledonia, Selkirk, Hamilton, Brantford and Paris.
