The September issue of Rod and Gun is full of good things, stories and articles instructive to the sportsmen whether he be fisher, dogman, or just plain out of doors man. Being the September number, "Wild Duck Shooting" by Bonycastle Dale very properly has the leading place in this issue, followed by a fishing story, "Belle of the Big Brule," by George Gilbert; another duck article "Inherited Instinct" by Edward T. Martin; "When the Goose Honks High" by R. Bolton; "Moonlight and Black Ducks" by F. V. Williams; "The Wild Pheasant on Vancouver Island"; "Three Important Wild Duck Foods"; "Billy Mink's Diary," continued, etc., etc. The illustrations throughout are good and include three full page ones of scenes at the recent Grand International trap shooting tournament held at St. Thomas and Gun magazine is published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont.

Indian Skeleton Found

A find that should prove of interest to those who are given to thinking of the past history of this country was made last week on the farm until recently owned by Leder Schayler, just east of No. 4, (Townsend) school house. The property belongs to Stanley Woolley, and his father, Watson Woolley of Simcoe, was last week engaged in plowing a field north of the house. In a sandy knoll his plow uncovered a skull, and he at once communicated with the authorities in Simcoe, Chief Canning, T. E. Langford, Isaac McInally, and John Davis went to the farm, and unearthed the remainder of skeleton. It proved to have been the bony frame work of a tall man, and judging from the that lying in the bones of one hand were five fins, it was thought that the skeleton was that of an Indian. Nothing in dictating the manner of his death, whether it was by violence or from natural causes, found. Of course it is impossible to say say how long the bones had lain there, but it is safe to venture the guess that a good many years have elapsed, and this makes it notable that his teeth were in excellent condition, all being found in their sockets, save the two front ones. One of these was later discovered. The field in which the find was made has been under cultivation for years, but it is probable that the action of the wind has cleared away the sand lying above the spot, and thus brought it nearer the surface.—Waterford Star.

Western Crop Damage Report

Greatly Magnified—Want 10000 Harvesters at once

Reports previously published regarding the damage of frost to the crops in Saskatchewan were unduly pessimistic. Frequent showers and favorable weather have changed the outlook and it is apparent that the great Province of Saskatchewan will have a normal crop. This is evidenced by Western demands for Farm Laborers as not less than 10,000 are required immediately for harvesting.

Every young man and those more mature, in every community in Ontario, including our own, should get away and can make this a great opportunity to serve the country in a practical way, and at the same time be of invaluable benefit to himself. It means an interesting, long distance journey at low fares, and a chance to see and study the immense new Country served by Canadian Northern, the People's Road.

Final excursions. By Canadian Northern rains leaving Toronto 10.00 P.M. August 28th, 30th, September 4th, 11th, Harvesters from outside points to use connecting trains to Toronto.
